U. S. LOANS 'BUY' BEGGAR ROADS, SAYS COUZENS

Must Take Them Over or Lose Cash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—If the Reconstruction Finance corporation keeps on making railroad loans the government will presently find itself in possession of the "least desirable and the least profitable railroads," Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] today told the senate.

He made the prediction as part of a bitter attack on the corporation's recent $12,800,000 loan to the Missouri Pacific railroad, the securities for which, he complained, had then a market value of only $12,450,000.

"I have no knowledge," said Senator Couzens, "of congress having declared a policy of government ownership of railroads, and yet the loan to the Missouri Pacific and others that have been approved or are still pending clearly indicated to me that if loans are continued in the same manner as they have been in the past and those pending are approved many of these properties will revert to the government or the government will lose its investment.

Hints Loan Forced on I. C. C.

Primarily, Senator Couzens based his objection to the Missouri Pacific loan on the technique employed to obtain it. Reversing the usual order of procedure the corporation passed a resolution approving the loan and sent it to the interstate commerce commission for its "reluctant" O. K.

He further objected to the loan itself, particularly because $5,850,000 of it is to be passed on to J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, termed by him "not bankers, but merchants of money," as a 50 per cent repayment on loans. He finds no justification, he said, for using government funds to "bail out banks."

Another portion of the money loaned the Missouri Pacific, a sum of $2,150,000, is, he found, to be used to pay and discharge overdue vouchers for materials.

"I contend," he argued, "that when congress passed this legislation it was not their intention to pay running expenses and going charges of the railroad companies, but it was rather for the purpose of refunding or taking care of their outstanding obligations."

Loans Double Highest Estimate.

In spite of estimates by the bureau of finance of the interstate commerce commission that the maximum moneys asked for by the railroads up to May 1 would be betwee.. $85,000,000 and $156,000,000 Senator Couzens reported that the loans already applied for aggregate $354,844,.66. Of that aggregate, $72,000,000 is for "railroads known as the Van Sweringen lines."

The theory that weak railroads which are subordinates of strong roads would not ask loans because they would be cared for by their mother companies was exploded by the Michigan senator when he pointed out that application for $18,500,000 has been made by the Wabash railway, "which, the Pennsylvania railroad controls."

Since many of the railroads which have applied for loans "have not earned as much as 30 per cent of their operating expenses during 1931," and since the depression, which he anticipates will last two and a half or three more years will see "strong as well as weak roads applying for loans," Senator Couzens finds considerable flaw with the railroad loan system as now employed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, of which Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes is the head.

Borah and Robinson Object.

Congress, too, is partly to blame, the Michigan senator believes.

"I wish to say in that connection," he stated, "that I think congress was very negligent and careless in passing this provision. It certainly contains very much broader language than originally contemplated."

Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], who first brought up the Missouri Pacific loan in the senate several days ago, is expected to speak against it tomorrow or Friday.

And Senator Robinson [Dem., Ark.], leader of the minority forces which formed an emergency coalition with the Republicans to speed the bill through congress earlier this year, has already condemned the Missouri Pacific procedure as "worthy of consideration by us." He, too, is expected to make an attack on the "pressure" brought to bear by the corporation on the interstate commerce commission to obtain the "reluctant" O. K.

Cop Is Soundly Smacked, but Gets His Man

Policeman Donald F. Curran of the Aurora police force sauntered down one of that city's shadowed streets early yesterday morning. Policeman Curran was garbed in a woman's long cloak. A saucy bonnet sat upon his head. A woman's handbag swung from his fingers.

No common patrolman, content to swing a club and pound a pavement, this Policeman Curran. Gaelic wit and imagination are his, and in him burned a desire to do deeds that would shine in a prosaic world. Therefore the woman's apparel and the coy manner in which Policeman Curran strolled.

Goes After Purse Snatcher.

During the last month thirty purse snatchings have been committed in Aurora, all by the same man, according to the descriptions given by the victims. Police sought vainly to trap the thief. It was then that inspiration came to Policeman Curran. He would offer himself as a victim, capture the criminal, and win glory.

Long through the night Policeman Curran strolled, swinging the pocketbook invitingly. Then, as he passed a tree, he was suddenly leaped upon. The Curran heart beat with pride as its owner grappled with the assailant.

After a few moments, however, dismay seized Policeman Curran. The attacker was a huge man, so powerful that he was slowly subduing his victim. Policeman Curran raised his voice in a yell for assistance. Then horror was added to dismay. Policeman Curran felt the imprint of lips upon his cheek. He had been kissed.

Subdues His Opponent.

Rage gave Policeman Curran new strength. He seized the other man and dashed him to the ground. Policeman Frank Carroll, responding to the call for help, found Policeman Curran, his feminine clothing somewhat disarranged, sitting triumphantly upon the purse snatcher's head.

The prisoner was a deaf mute. He wrote his name as Lawrence Pannell, 40 years old, but refused to give any address. And he looked reproachfully at Policeman Curran.

EX-JUDGE'S SON ENDS LIFE AFTER TIFF WITH SISTER

Julius Gualano, 22 years old, son of former Municipal Judge Albert N. Gualano, 929 North Menard avenue, shot and killed himself last night after a quarrel with his sister, Ida, 20 years old.

The father told Austin police that his son had been in ill health and was extremely irritable. He and his sister were quarreling, Mr. Gualano said, and when told to stop it Julius drew a gun from his pocket and shot himself in the head.

MR. PONTELLO CHANGES LOOKS AND FOOLS COPS

A comparative Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde transformation served Mr. Michael Pontello with astounding success last night. Two men, one allegedly Mr. Pontello, held up Edward Jacobson, 2918 Roosevelt road, a Checker taxi driver, and took $3 and his vehicle. They next held up Frank Martinelli, druggist at 2064 Ogden avenue, and took $40. As they fled Martinelli fired several shots at them. Sergts. John Boland and George Link of the homicide squad nabbed Pontello as he was about to step into the stolen cab. Martinelli identified him as one of the two bandits.

Mr. Pontello wore a very springlike light topcoat. He was locked up at the detective bureau. Later Martinelli and Jacobson appeared to look him over.

Martinelli gazed studiously at Mr. Pontello. He shook his head. He had identified him before, but some strange change had occurred. Jacobson said the man didn't look like the robber. Sergts. Link and Boland now understood. Mr. Pontello was not wearing the topcoat. They ordered him to don it and he denied he had one. A search revealed he had torn the topcoat into hundreds of shreds, and had scattered them into adjoining cells. As he could not be identified without the coat, police admitted they could not charge him with robbery.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, March 30.—A lioness leaped from a cage of wild beasts which were performing for guests into the midst of the "Jungle Gala" dinner at the Restaurant des Ambassadeurs here last night, adding realism to the surroundings of 700 dinner guests.

Torn between exhibitions of bravery and terror, the assemblage of bluebloods of Europe, social personages of the United States, and other visitors experienced a scene of frenzy until the beast was subdued and forced back into the cage.

While the pandemonium was at its height Billy Arnold of Paterson, N. J., directed his orchestra to its loudest efforts to effect soothing moods both in the beast and the patrons.

Women Faint in Panic.

Guests dashed for the exits and in their haste gowns were torn, jewels were dropped, and tables were overturned. Screams pierced the air and women fainted.

Lord Louis Mountbatten and other men threw a ring of protection around the table at which Lady Mountbatten and Mrs. Harry Brown of Washington, D. C., were seated. Mme. Paul Dubonnet, the former Jean Nash, ran with Grand Duke Boris of Russia to the dance floor.

Lady Asquith and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Plaisance of Washington, D. C., refused to join the rush and remained with outward calm within a few feet of the beast. Mrs. Elbert Soper of Ottawa and Mrs. Woolley Hart lent their efforts to quieting the crowd. Their dresses were torn by others in flight.

Lion Hunter Is Present.

Lord Fermoy, the former Edmund Maurice Burke-Roche of New York, Sir Geoffrey Archer, former governor of the Sudan and a famous lion hunter; Worthington Hine of New York, Count Salm, former husband of Millicent Rogers, and others took stations near the exits and made way for women to leave first.

Lady Fermoy, Vera Lady Torrington and others of American and continental society were among the 700 in the scene of panic.

The lioness had broken a netting in a forceful leap to the top of its cage. Poised there momentarily, it jumped to the floor. Working quickly while the panic was at its height, trainers cast spotlights into the eyes of the lioness and succeeded in casting a rope about its neck. Then, with streams of water from fire hose, they drove it back into its cage.

SHIPBUILDER REVEALS FLIGHT IN BABY SEARCH

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., shipbuilder, who is seeking to recover the Lindbergh baby, revealed today that his mysterious week-end flight on which he is supposed to have made contact with an agent of the kidnapers, took him to the Philadelphia navy yard.

He refused to say where else he had gone or whether he had made a visit last Saturday to the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J., where his associate, the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock, called on Monday with supposedly valuable information, after flying from Norfolk to the navy yard.

Admiral Talks in Riddles.

The third member of the Norfolk group of intermediaries, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, assumed the rôle of spokesman. He explained that he feared his silence of the last few days might be interpreted to mean that he had lost faith in the ultimate success of the negotiations.

He contributed little new information on either the status of the intermediaries or the progress of their work. By his cryptic statements he managed to keep the whole affair as mysterious as ever.

"If there is failure in the negotiations," he said, "the kidnapers and they alone will know the reason why. Others may guess."

"Hard to Reach Lindy."

The admiral refused to elucidate the meaning of his words. Despite the assertion of the police that Col. Lindbergh regarded the activities of the Norfolk men as "of no specific importance in the investigation," Admiral Burrage said the famous aviator was the fourth member of their group.

It was possible, the admiral admitted, that he and his associates had been misled by imposters, but he did not regard it as likely. He would continue to have confidence in the authenticity of the criminals' agent, he said, until the latter did something to convince him that it was misplaced.

"These things take time," he said. "Communication between the kidnapers and Col. Lindbergh is difficult. Even we have difficulty in communicating with Lindbergh.

Colonel Still Confident.

"I am satisfied in my own mind that we are on the right track and dealing with the abductors of the Lindbergh baby. I believe if the negotiations are not checked or blocked by some unforeseen happenings they will result in the recovery of the child and it will soon be back with its parents."

Mr. Curtis had not made any contact with a "go-between" for the kidnapers since Sunday, the day Mr. Curtis returned from his air trip, the admiral said, and, asked if any arrangements had been made with Col. Lindbergh for the payment of a ransom, he replied, "No."

At the same time it became known that while Col. Lindbergh is taking the optimistic reports from Norfolk with more than a grain of salt, he remains confident that his missing son will be restored to him. He was in communication with the kidnapers before the Norfolk group entered the case, it was hinted.

Capone Motive Bobs Up Again.

Other negotiators apparently have left the field to the three men from Norfolk. Col. Schwarzkopf revealed tonight that neither Morris Rossner, Irving Bitz, or "Salvi" Spitale, private agents, had been at the Lindbergh home for some time.

In the midst of the mass of contradictionary reports and rumors, the old story that the baby was kidnaped to bring about the release of Al Capone cropped up again in the form of a statement of a Negro ex-convict. A dispatch from St. Louis, Mo., said the former convict asserted he overheard a dying Chicago gangsten in an Illinois prison declare that the real motive for the crime was to bring pressure on federal authorities to release Capone.

Search Hills Near Estate.

As the search entered the fifth week, with the baby still missing, authorities showed an increasing interest in the residents of the countryside near the aviator's estate. Department of justice agents made their appearance there Tuesday and today squads of immigration inspectors were at work, supposedly rounding up deportable aliens but actually, it was said, seeking clews to the kidnapers.

Divorce Bares Royal Envoy's Family Scandal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 30.—Behind closed doors, Margaret Ross today secured a divorce from Donald G. Ross and the rumored scandal which has been whispered in Ontario for months was out.

WILLIAM D. ROSS.

The blond young matron, who, as the daughter-in-law of William D. Ross, representative of King George V. of England in Ontario, had traveled in the highest social circles since her marriage, charged adultery and was granted an unconditional divorce by Justice Jeffrey. There was no defense. No details of the charges were heard.

Lieutenant Governor Resigns.

Chorley Park, million dollar government house of Ontario, has stood empty since last November because of rumors that all was not well in the private life of the Ross family. The lieutenant governor asked and received a leave of absence. When this expired he suddenly resigned, leaving the province without a representative of the king for the first time in history. The Ross family moved from the vice regal palace at once.

Rumors of a pending divorce continued, but it was not until today, when the divorce hearing came up without warning in the little town of Brampton, with no reporters present, that the gossip of months was supported.

It was said in high circles tonight that Lieut. Gov. Ross resigned hurriedly so as to avoid dragging an office directly connected with royalty into scandal, even though it was his son and not himself who was involved.

Job Hard to Fill.

Largely because of gossip, the government has found it difficult to appoint a successor to the office, which carries a salary of $25,000 and a million dollar official residence, but which entails a personal expenditure of many thousands to keep up.

The Ontario legislature opened without a lieutenant governor and closed yesterday without one for the first time in history. The chief justice of the province fulfilled the functions, reading the speech from the throne, but the ceremony lost its pomp without the gold brocade of the Windsor uniform which always adorns the representative of the king here.

May Abolish Position.

And now it looks as if the divorce of the son of the lieutenant governor may lead to the abolition of the post, which is largely ornamental. A session of the legislature having been completed without the old time pomp, agitation has been started to abolish the post and save money.

In addition to the salary paid the lieutenant governor, the province maintains the aid de camps, footmen, and butlers which go with the establishment. Altogether at least $50,000 a year could be saved if the job was abolished.

SPINACH! FOOD FOR RABBITS, DOCTOR ASSERTS

Omaha, Neb., March 30—(AP)—Dr. Walter C. Alvarez of Rochester, Minn., here to address the Missouri Valley Medical society, today described spinach as "rabbit food," and attributed much of the indigestion prevalent to the "craze" for eating it and kindred roughage.

"The roughage diet is all right for those who have the digestion of an ostrich," said Dr. Alvarez. "It sometimes cures them of indigestion, but it often causes sensitive persons a lot of trouble."

HIGH SCHEDULE IS ACCEPTED BY A DOCILE HOUSE

Postage Rate Raised to Three Cents.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—An acquiescent house of representatives wrote into the new tax bill today provisions which, it is estimated, will raise 293 million 500 thousand dollars in additional revenue.

With but an hour's debate the first class postage rate was raised from 2 to 3 cents, the increase to be in effect until July 1, 1934.

Without so much as a peep of protest, the ways and means committee's original proposal to boost the income tax rate on corporations from the present 12 per cent to 13 per cent was lifted another one-half of 1 per cent and the rate fixed at 13½ per cent.

A penalty of 1½ per cent was voted on consolidated returns of affiliated corporations, making the total rate for such returns 15 per cent. There was warm debate on that proposal, but the opposition to the committee recommendation of 1½ per cent was not directed in favor of the corporations.

La Guardia Subsides.

Instead, a large group of representatives wanted to outlaw consolidated returns entirely, on the ground that they permitted holding companies and their subsidiaries, chain organizations and newspaper strings to evade taxation through wash sales, the spreading out of deficits and high powered bookkeeping.

It took Speaker Garner's eloquence to turn the tide in favor of the committee amendment, which Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee termed a fair compromise calculated to test out the evasion theory.

The speaker and the chairman found a somewhat unexpected advocate of the more moderate course in Representative La Guardia of New York, leader of the radical bloc. Announcing himself satisfied with the defeat of the sales tax and the inclusion of a stock transfer tax among the proposed committee amendments to the bill, Mr. La Guardia said that from now on he was ready to support the committee program.

Repeal Net Loss Provision.

Then the house turned to the repeal of the net loss provision and again without opposition revoked the present right of taxpayers to carry a deficit sustained in one year over to the next year—and if the deficit is large enough over to the second subsequent year—as a deduction from the profits of these years. The repeal is to apply to the years 1931, 1932, and 1933.

Nor was there any protest at starting to levy the surtax at $6,000 instead of $10,000, nor to reducing the corporation exemption from $2,000 to $1,000.

As a finishing touch for the day in building up the imposts on big business, a tax of 10 cents per 100 on capital stock and bond issues was voted.

Provisions as Adopted.

The provisions adopted today and the revenues expected from them were as follows:

First class postage, increase	$135,000,000
Surtax limit lowered to $6,000	7,000,000
Reduction of corporation exemption	6,000,000
Repeal of net loss provision [1931-1933]	20,000,000
Penalty of 1½ per cent on consolidated returns	18,000,000
Increase of corporation rate to 13¾ per cent	5,000,000
Admission tax on admissions of 46 cents and over [1 cent on each 10 cents or fraction, to end July 1, 1934]	40,000,000
Telegraph, telephone, cable and radio messages [5 cents on charges between 30 and 49 cents, 10 cents on charges 50 cents and over, press dispatches exempt]	33,000,000
Excise tax on mechanical refrigerators [5 per cent]	4,500,000
Excise tax on soft drinks [1921 rates restored]	11,000,000
Safe deposit box rentals [10 per cent]	1,000,000
Capital stock and bond issues [10 cents per $100, to end July 1, 1934]	13,000,000
Total	$293,500,000

The house reached and closed the debate, but did not vote on the projected tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent on all stock transfers, a tax which is expected to bring in 75 million dollars. Again there was a move to boost the rates higher. Representative McClintic [Dem., Okla.] wanted a rate of ½ of 1 per cent. He was assured that the working of the tax would, in effect, impose this higher rate on short sales. And again Representative La Guardia stepped forward in the rôle of moderator. The Oklahoma congressman withdrew his amendment. The vote on the committee proposal will come tomorrow.

Garner Makes Appeal.

Speaker Garner's appeal for moderation came following lengthy attacks on the ways of corporation combines, chains, and holding companies. It began to appear that the right to make consolidated returns might be wiped out entirely through an amendment offered by Representative Cannon [Dem., Mo.].

"In my opinion," said Mr. Garner, "there is no defense for consolidated returns. It is not fair to give corporations made up of multiple organizations an advantage over an individual business. But for the present, I believe, it is wiser to accept the compromise proposition, giving such corporations the choice between making individual returns or of paying a higher rate.

"It will furnish a test period. If a large proportion of corporations choose to make consolidated returns, despite the higher rate, then we shall know they are getting an unfair advantage."

Mr. Cannon withdrew his repeal amendment, but substituted one to provide a 2½ per cent penalty. This was defeated, 200 to 133.

Beer vs. Coca Cola.

It took beer and Representative Schafer [Rep., Wis.] to furnish the authentic sound and fury of the day. Once more Mr. Schafer roared anathema at the committee's tax on malt sirup and wort. The tax, said he, would serve the "wildcat, alley, Al Capone racketeer" brewer of beer. And he flung at Mr. Crisp of Georgia and other members from the "Coca Cola" state a proposal to tax that beverage on a par with malt sirups.

"I won't object," said Mr. Crisp wearily, when Mr. Schafer wanted to talk longer, "if the gentleman will stop talking about Al Capone."

"I won't stop talking about the facts," the huge Mr. Schafer's answer boomed back.

But the Coca Cola tax was defeated.

"Perhaps," came the sly suggestion from Representative Oliver [Dem., N. Y.], "the increase will be made popular if President Hoover's picture is put on the new three cent stamp."

Expect Some Savings.

During the discussion of the postage increase it was announced that administrative and legislative changes in the postal laws would result in $32,500,000 in additional revenue.

The ways and means committee is, of course, also counting on a saving in government expenditures much larger than that originally estimated. This saving must be realized if the budget balancing is to be accomplished. The expected economies in government costs were explained today as follows:

Cuts to date, 118 millions; cut in the war department, 30 millions; cuts in other appropriation bills, 30 millions, and federal pay cuts 70 millions, making a total of 245 millions, the joker being that some 70 millions may have to be appropriated in a deficiency bill next December.

Revenues from items approved.	$ 743,500,000
Revenues from items pending.	253,000,000
Postal changes and economies	277,500,000

$680,572 in Income Taxes Collected on March 28

Washington, D. C., March 30.—(AP)—Income tax collections for March 28 were $680,572, compared with $1,624,446 for the similar day of last year. The day's receipts brought the total for the month to $191,304,729, against $330,741,438 last year.

Income tax collections for the fiscal year since last July 1 amounted to $849,426,071, compared with $1,502,172,462 last year. On March 28 the government had a deficit of $1,852,343,161.

OFFICIALS DIFFER ON HOPE OF U. S. AID FOR BANKS

Nelson Is Doubtful on Carlstrom Ruling.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom and State Auditor Oscar Nelson were at variance yesterday regarding the borrowing of funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation by receivers of closed state banks. Attorney General Carlstrom issued an opinion that the receivers could do so legally. Mr. Nelson said the matter is still one to be settled by the government.

The Carlstrom opinion was given to attorneys of the St. Louis, Mo., office of the finance corporation, which was created by act of congress and which was given $200,000,000 to be loaned to closed banks. It stated that the Illinois yanking laws place no bar in the way of the receivers taking advantage of the opportunity to borrow from the government.

Tells of Trips to Capital.

Mr. Nelson, who has supervision over closed banks, issued a statement saying he had neither asked for nor received the opinion.

"I have made two trips to Washington to discuss with officers of the Reconstruction Finance corporation plans for obtaining funds for depositors of closed Illinois state banks without sacrificing the assets of these banks," Mr. Nelson said. "I am hopeful that such plans will be worked out in the near future.

"The opinion of the attorney general is of no effect until it is accepted or rejected by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The corporation has the sole power to determine what loans it will make and upon what terms. The opinion is in no way binding on the federal officials."

Statement by Reynolds.

George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, said:

"I am not prepared to say that plans of the Reconstruction Finance corporation are broad enough to help out banks in this area which are now closed. I see a good many complications to the situation, but I believe if some plan could be worked out to extend loans to closed banks on sound collateral a lot of good could be accomplished. Whether the finance corporation is prepared to make such loans I am not able to say."

DIES WHILE AT WORK.

Jake Bozich, 48 years old, 3223 South Lawndale avenue, died of heart disease yesterday as he was working in the new city water tunnel under construction at Lake street and Central Park avenue.

START POLICE BUREAU TO CUT AUTO ACCIDENTS

The police motor vehicle accident prevention and investigation department was organized yesterday, when 36 men reported to Maj. John Bauder, drillmaster, for special instruction in first aid and in the observation of causes of accidents. The department was created recently by the action of the council committee on public safety.

Two automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 263. The victims:

Edward Johnson, 56 years old, 4318 Parker avenue, died in the Belmont hospital of injuries which he incurred on Saturday when he was struck by an automobile at Diversey parkway and Kildare avenue.

Owen Conlon, 22 years old, 7402 South Racine avenue. Died in the county hospital as a result of injuries suffered on March 20, when he was struck by a hit-and-run motorist.

Mrs. Rose Schaedel, 38 years old, of Chicago was killed yesterday and Mrs. T. Lord, also of Chicago, was injured when their car ran off the highway three miles southeast of Goshen, Ind. Mrs. Schaedel's daughter, 3 years old, escaped injury. Mrs. Schaedel and Mrs. Lord were returning from Cleveland.

PERSIA EXECUTES 3 RED AGITATORS; SIX FACE DEATH

BY H. BASIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, March 30.—Widespread communist activity throughout Persia, but particularly among young, poorly paid government clerks, has again been brought into the limelight by a series of arrests. Three persons have already faced a firing squad and it is reported that six more will be sent to a similar fate by a military court.

Several arrests have been made in the south, where soviet activity conflicts with British interests. Communist propagandists are more active than ever, and generally where arrests have been made the accused have been exposed as paid agents of soviet Russia.

The arrests were made on the report of the shah's secret agents, who are becoming more numerous. The force is composed of Persians and various minority races. Both sexes are impressed into service as spies.

The propagandists invariably take an anti-monarchical line. Many of those apprehended were mentioned in the famous exposé of Agabakoff, renegade head of the soviet secret service in Persia who wrote a book uncovering Russian activities in the country after his flight to Paris.

He was supposedly attached to the soviet diplomatic mission to the Persian court, and large sums of money passed through his hands for distribution among those in the pay of the bolsheviks.

Police have made it a rule to place under investigation all younger men in the government ministries who live above the incomes they receive for their work.

AUTO INDUSTRY LAUNCHES FIGHT ON EXCISE TAX

Would Block Prosperity's Return, Claim.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—[Special.]—The automobile industry today presented a united front in a sharp protest against the proposed 3 per cent automobile excise tax which passed the house of representatives Tuesday.

The move was assailed as inconsistent and discriminatory, and will tend to nullify the millions of dollars spent by manufacturers on new products in an effort to lead the country back to prosperity, according to leaders in the industry. Under the tax car buyers would be required to pay a total of at least $57,000,000.

Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Car company and also president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, declared the opposition to the tax will be based on the fact the automobile industry is doing more "to break the buying deadlock" than any other American industry, by spending many millions to bring out new models, which are the best automobile values ever offered. The industry feels, he said, that when congress aims a blow at the automobile industry is it aiming a blow at business recovery.

Serious Setback, He Claims.

"We were given every assurance that no additional tax would be unloaded on the automobile industry," Mr. Macauley continued. "It never occurred to any of us that there was additional threat of a general excise on cars.

"The action of the house constitutes a serious wet blanket on our business, in the face of our efforts to help restore prosperity. We have brought out a wonderful array of cars—sparkling values—to attempt to break the buying deadlock.

"The excise tax suggested could not help but blanket the hopes of the industry."

How It Will Affect Buyers.

A 3 per cent tax as voted by the house of representative would increase costs to buyers as follows:

Ford [model A], $14.70; Plymouth, $14.85; Willys six, $15.45; Chevrolet, $16.35; Rockne "65," $17.55; Devaux, $20.55; De Soto, $20.85; Pontiac, $20.85; Essex, $21.15; Willys Knight, $22.35; Nash six, $23.31; Dodge six, $25.35; Pontiac eight, $25.36; Oldsmobile six, $26.25; Auburn eight, $29.85; Chrysler six, $26.85; Studebaker six, $27.45; Nash eight, $28.95; Oldsmobile eight, $29.25; Buick "50," $29.85; Hupmobile "218," $29.85; Hudson, $30.75; Graham eight, $31.35; Studebaker eight, $31.50; Dodge eight, $34.35; Nash eight, $38.10; Chrysler eight, $44.25; Packard light eight, $52.50; Buick "90," $53.55; La Salle, $74.85; Cadillac eight, $86.35; Lincoln eight, $93; Cadillac twelve, $107.85; Packard twelve, $112.35; Lincoln Twelve, $132, and Cadillac sixteen, $137.85.

W. C. T. U. CHEERS CUSTER IN 'HOW DRY I AM' TALK

Candidate Tells Women He Thinks of Posterity.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was cheered at the regional conference of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in the Morrison hotel yesterday.

Mr. Custer appeared at the invitation of Mrs. Ada Reed Ferguson, president of the W. C. T. U. of Illinois, and addressed the meeting shortly before noon. His talk was punctuated with bursts of applause that reached the proportions of an ovation when Custer made this statement:

"I want to hand down to my grandchildren a record of which I am not ashamed. I have always stood by prohibition and I always expect to."

Mrs. Ferguson Explains.

At the luncheon meeting that followed Mrs. Ferguson, told the W. C. T. U. members and interviewers why she had invited Custer to the conference.

"I wanted to ask Mr. Custer if he had made those statements on modification at Belleville, so I went to call on him here at the hotel," she said. "I found him a very simple, gentlemanly man, and he didn't frighten me in the least.

"I told him: 'Mr. Custer, there's just one question I want to ask you before I take you down to that meeting. Did you make those assertions at Belleville?' Mr. Custer replied 'Absolutely not. I wasn't even in Belleville.' So I brought him down to the meeting."

Safford Speaks for Custer.

Dr. George B. Safford, superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league, a principal speaker at the luncheon, urged the members of the W. C. T. U. to get Custer "across for governor" and to reëlect State Senator James J. Barbour. Barbour was also a speaker.

"We are facing a critical fight in Illinois," Dr. Safford declared. "If we win this primary—if Custer goes across for governor [here the women applauded vigorously] and if Senator Barbour is reëlected [more applause] and if we go down the list of primary candidates like that, the election is going to be a turning point, and a reaction to the big swing over to the wet candidates the last time.

"The Anti-Saloon league is sitting up nights and working days to make prohibition succeed. By God's help we will make it a success."

Suhr Also Is Applauded.

Following Dr. Safford, Mrs. Ferguson introduced Benjamin H. Suhr, candidate for state representative from the Sixth district. She referred to him as "the one dry among the 13 running in the Sixth district."

"It takes courage to come out on a dry platform," Suhr told the women, who answered him with applause. "I want you all to know where I stand. I stand for the strict enforcement of all laws."

Senator Barbour added his campaign speech to the others, declaring: "They can wipe out the eighteenth amendment if they want to, and make all the efforts they can to bring liquor back, but as long as I'm in office I'll support the constitution of the United States."

Says His Record Is Clean.

"I've tried to live up to the oath of office for 16 years," he went on. "My record is clean. I've been trying to carry out the principles of my New England ancestors and my father, who was a clergyman.

"I hope I'll win, but in any event I'll carry with me as a roll of honor the tremendous vote of the conscientious citizens of Evanston and Rogers Park, where I have lived for 40 years."

The political theme was continued in the speech of Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., who indorsed the candidacy of President Hoover.

"I firmly believe," Mrs. Boole told her listeners, "that if we can elect a dry President, a dry Vice President and dry congressmen this year we will have stemmed the tide of opposition.

Gives Praise for Hoover.

"If any other man had been President during the present depression, Mr. Hoover would have been the man sent for to save the country. We need a man for President whose brains are free from the fumes of alcohol, and the same is true for governors and senators."

In a reminiscent mood Mrs. Boole discussed Mr. Hoover's election.

"Don't you remember, ladies," she said, "how you heard over the radio that the votes were coming in for Smith, and we were despairing? Then suddenly the tide turned to Hoover and in a short time the New York papers conceded the election. Weren't you all thrilled by it? And how the women of the Orient were watching for the results of that election, praying for the success of prohibition here?"

Mrs. Boole then told of the progress that has been made in 25 recent regional W. C. T. U. meetings over the United States in which plans were laid to elect dry delegates to the national conventions and to put dry planks in the platforms of both major parties.

Assail Business Board.

In the morning session the conference adopted a report attacking the recent action of the Chicago Association of Commerce in voting for modification of the Volstead act to permit 2¾ per cent beer. The report denied that restoration of the breweries would aid business and declared that "even imperfectly enforced prohibition" had decreased drunkenness and poverty.

Adoption of the report followed the charge made on Tuesday by Alonzo B. Wilson, director of the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation, that the 6,500 members of the Association of Commerce had not been consulted on the modification resolution. Wilson had declared that the vote on the resolution had been engineered by a former lawyer for beer interests in a closed meeting of the association's executive committee which was attended by only 16 of the 39 members.

Rossetter Spikes Charge.

In reply to this charge George W. Rossetter, president of the Association of Commerce, said yesterday in an interview:

"The resolution was adopted at a regular meeting of the executive committee at which all members had an opportunity to be present. Under the by-laws of the association eleven members constitute a quorum and the same by-laws delegate to the executive committee the determination of all matters of policy.

"The question of adopting the resolution had been discussed at the previous regular meeting. Any members with objections to the resolution had plenty of time to state their protests if they wished to. The talk of 'closed doors' and secrecy at the meeting is absurd."

S. Side Bars Lower Beer Price to 15c; First Cut in Dry Era

Citizens with a thirst may now walk into certain south side saloons and buy a stein or a high shell glass of real beer for 15 cents, it was revealed yesterday. The standard price for years has been 25 cents.

This is the first downward break in beer prices since the advent of prohibition and, according to those claiming to know, presages a drop throughout the city. The depression is blamed. Men out of work no longer patronize the bars and those still employed hesitate to pay the standard two bits a drink.

Thus far the 15 cent beer may be had in the stockyards and other isolated districts, investigation revealed last night. The speakeasies of the north side, the west side, and a great section of the south side retain the 25 cent a stein rate. The Capone syndicate is primarily responsible for the price maintenance, it is said, aided by its only competitor, the Edward [Spike] and Charles O'Donnell forces.

Saloonkeepers Balk at Price.

However, many saloonkeepers are reported to be balking. Closer to the customer, they have told the syndicate that their business hangs in the balance, that beer prices must be altered to meet changing conditions. Apparently their warnings have had some effect, for last month Joe Fusco, Capone boss, held a parley with lieutenants and discussed the question of lowering prices.

The syndicate decided to keep up prices for the time being, charging $55 to the saloonkeeper for each barrel. At the same time the syndicate, despite the fact its chief, Al Capone, is in jail, continued its work of extension. Already, a survey has shown the syndicate controls all but the Gresham area, which is directed by the O'Donnels.

Despite the syndicate's refusal to lower prices, dozens of saloonkeepers on the south side went ahead. Some journeyed to Blue Island and to Joliet and bought beer for $35 a barrel. Steins and glasses at 15 cents resulted. Other saloonkeepers brewed their own, and also cut the standard rate. The consequence was that syndicate men retaliated by heaving with stones and bricks through the offending saloon keepers' windows.

Trouble in Yards District.

Most of this trouble occurred in the Stockyards district where seventy-five saloons are in operation. Some disturbance also occurred in the New City area, which has 261 saloons, and in the Gresham district, which has nearly 300.

Investigators said last night that general price cutting is confined to the zones not securely in the control of Capone. They said that Frank McErlane is no longer Capone's foe, but an agent in the Englewood district, and purchases beer from him wholesale for $30 a barrel. He sells it for $55, which includes overhead expenses.

Old time saloon keepers who were seen last night expressed the hope the 15 cent price would prevail. It will mean more business, they said. Besides, they complained, the $55 rate per barrel is too high. Before prohibition, they recalled, they paid from $3.50 to $7 a barrel for average beer, and $4 to $12 for the best. And then a glass cost only 5 cents. Today the average stein—8 ounces—runs 496 to a barrel, bringing in $124, which, without protection, would mean 50 per cent profit.

SUE KENILWORTH FOR $250,000 IN DANCE HALL FIRE

The fire which destroyed the Miralago dance hall on Sheridan road in "No Man's Land," the unincorporated strip of territory just north of Wilmette, last March 8, had an aftermath in the Superior court yesterday in two damage suits totaling $250,000 against the village of Kenilworth. The suits were brought by the Miralago corporation and by the Foreman State Trust and Savings bank as trustee for the corporation.

Last fall the water contract between the property owners and the village of Wilmette lapsed and some of the owners made contracts with Kenilworth. The territory has no water supply of its own. At the time of the fire policemen refused to allow the fighters to open Kenilworth mains until too late to save the dance hall.

TWO RUM SHIPS, $175,000 CARGO, 13 MEN SEIZED

New London, Conn., March 30.—[Special.]—Two rum running boats, heavily laden with liquor, were seized close to the Rhode Island shore by coast guard patrol ships and brought to headquarters at State pier here early today.

One of the vessels was a British liquor supply boat already libeled for forfeiture and the other a Boston yacht which during world war time did duty as a navy submarine chaser. The cargoes of liquor are valued at more than $175,000.

The British vessel is the Game Cock of Bridgetown, Barrados; the Boston boat is the 247. Eight men, the entire crew of the Game Cock, were arrested, as were five men found aboard the 247.

The man took the girl to the first district police station, where she refused to talk, but at the juvenile detention home she gave her name and address.

LIGHTNING KILLS BRITISH DISTILLER AND HIS CADDIE

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 30. — Felix J. Kelly, 67, director of Booths Distilleries, Ltd., and one of the best known men in the British liquor trade, was killed by lightning with his 15 year old caddie, James Miles, today on the Maidenhead golf course.

With his opponent, Gilbert H. Edwards, a prominent merchant, Kelly and Miles were crouching from a sudden storm under a big red umbrella on the seventeeth tee. Kelly was still holding the umbrella aloft in his lifeless hands when friends rushed across the course, after a blinding flash, which tore the victim's clothes, but left scarcely a mark on the ground.

Edwards was slightly burned on the face. He had no recollection of the incident.

GAS OVERCOMES THREE DRIVING POLITICAL FLOAT

Three men were overcome by carbon monoxide gas while participating in a parade for Emil C. Rose, Forest Park, candidate for state auditor, in Forest Park last night. One of the men, Andrew H. Dressel, former president of the defunct West Central State bank and banker for Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, was taken to the Frances Willard hospital after Forest Park firemen had partially revived him.

The others overcome are Abe Randall, 32 years old, 1856 Kominskey avenue, and Frank W. Johnson, 44 years old, 7039 Overhill avenue. They were riding in an automobile bungalow in the political parade, which stopped for traffic on Ferdinand avenue. When the parade started again the bungalow car was stalled and onlookers opened it to find the three occupants overcome.

Dressel, who is 54 years old, lives at 115 Parkside avenue, Austin. He has been in the real estate insurance business at 203 South Dearborn street since the failure of his bank.

Actual pain is nothing compared with hurt pride

It is hideously embarrassing to lose even one tooth—one tooth in front. You stop in the middle of a sentence, in the midst of a smile, to cover up the ugly gap with a wavering, nervous hand. Much, much, MUCH worse than any pain you could have suffered when that tooth was pulled!

You should be more afraid to stay away from your dentist than to see him. Only a dentist can diagnose pyorrhea—and half the adult teeth lost are taken by this one gum disease. The trouble with pyorrhea is that it may be undermining your teeth for many years before you realize it.

Four out of five people past the age of forty have pyorrhea, so you can't "fool around" about it. You simply must have professional dental advice about twice a year and when you take up seriously the home treatment of your teeth, it will pay to use a toothpaste invented by a dentist. Dr. R. J. Forhan devoted a lifetime to pyorrhea treatment. His professional formula is used by thousands of dentists and his home formula is embodied in Forhan's Toothpaste. It's the finest toothpaste with an extra-protection feature. Don't let pyorrhea get started. Use prevention. Use Forhan's. It's never too early to start the children on Forhan's, the double-duty toothpaste, at all drug stores.

5 MORE WOMEN CANDIDATES GIVE CAMPAIGN VIEWS

Four on Side of Wets; Mrs. Ickes Is Dry.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Women have contributed nothing outstanding, either individually or collectively, since they won the franchise, declared Mrs. George E. Brennan yesteray. Mrs. Brennan, who lives at 3150 Sheridan road, is the unopposed candidate for alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention from the Ninth district. She is the widow of the Democratic leader.

However, Mrs. Brennan believes women are about to assume more influence in politics, because wives and mothers throughout the country are aroused over prohibition. It is her hope, she said, that the Democratic party will adopt a wet plank, and she will be happy to vote for a wet candidate. The unemployment and economic situation cannot be separated from prohibition, Mrs. Brennan said, pointing out that not only breweries but 22 allied industries would be affected by repeal of the dry law.

Mrs. Ickes Is a Dry.

Of five women running for political offices who were interviewed yesterday, only one of them declared she was a dry. She is Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes of Hubbard Woods, state representative from the Seventh district.

Mrs. Ickes is opposed in her candidacy for renomination on the Republican ticket by thirteen men. The Seventh is the so-called "shoestring" district, extending around Chicago from Barrington on the north to Chicago Heights on the south. Active in politics since Bull Moose days, Mrs. Ickes has found time to rear four children. She has two grandchildren.

"I've never been a feminist," she said. "The sex element just doesn't enter into state politics. Ability is all that counts, I think, and although there's a difference in men's and women's minds it is only in approach—ours are more detailed. That's from centuries of housework."

They All Hate Housework.

All the women interviewed said they hated cooking and housework. Mrs. Rena Elrod, 4852 Pensacola avenue, former member of the legislature, again a candidate for Republican nomination in the 25th district, said she did all her own housework, including washing and ironing, "but not because I want to." Women "are having a decided effect for cleaner politics, for honesty," Mrs. Elrod said.

Mrs. Marguerite P. Wolf, 209 Lake Shore drive, vice president of the Illinois Women's Republican club, mother of three children, is a candidate for alternate delegate to the Republican national convention from the 9th district. She is opposed by two men. Mrs. Wolf stated she is for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Mrs. Vera Ulrey Clark, 1637 Estes avenue, active in women's club work in Rogers Park, is a wet candidate for the Republican nomination for state representative from the 6th district.

3 HOUR SESSIONS ANNOUNCED FOR FORTESCUE TRIAL

HONOLULU, March 30.—(AP)—Court sessions of but three hours' duration daily were announced today for the trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two sailors, E. J. Lord and A. O. Jones, charged with the second degree murder of Joseph Kahahawai, alleged attacker of Lieut. Massie's wife.

Circuit Judge Charles R. Davis said he planned to hold morning sessions only, beginning at 9 o'clock, in consideration of the recent illness of Clarence Darrow, 75 year old Chicago attorney, who will represent the defense. The trial is set for next Monday.

Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley said Eddie Ulii, Hawaiian youth who witnessed the abduction of Kahahawai from in front of the Judiciary building in Honolulu on Jan. 8, the day he was killed, would be the first prosecution witness.

SNOW CAMPAIGN FOR WET PLANK SWEEPS WARDS

Committeeman Aspirants Pledge Their Aid.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Candidates for Republican ward committeemen began to respond yesterday to the call of the "Snow uprisers" for the election of a compact fighting group of delegates to the Republican national convention pledged to an anti-prohibition, anti-government in business, anti-Hoover platform.

Precinct captains, party workers and others who are being urged by the fifteen candidates for national delegates who signed the Snow call to stand up the ward committeemen, especially those who are wets in wet wards but are supporting dry candidates, and to insist on a declaration whether they will appoint wet delegates to the Republican state convention April 22, began to show results.

Letters from a number of ward committeeman candidates were received at the headquarters of B. W. Snow, Republican county chairman, pledging support to the movement.

Conroyd Joins the Drive.

As an example, Walter E. Conroyd, a Carlstrom supporter who is running in the 50th ward against Committeeman Louis Nettelhorst, secretary of Lincoln park and a Custer supporter, wrote:

"I am most heartily in accord with your views, Mr. Snow. I will help smoke out the wet drinking, dry voting politicians. Let all ward candidates be forced to tell the world where they stand, and no straddling allowed."

John T. Dempsey, committeeman of the 33d ward, who is supporting Custer and is a candidate for Appellate court clerk, one of the younger element on the committee, wrote to Mr. Snow:

"The program for selecting delegates to the state convention who will vote for a platform against governmental interference in business meets my approval. If I am reëlected ward committeeman the delegates I appoint to the state convention will be pledged to this program, and will help choose delegates at large from Illinois to the Republican national convention who will advocate similar planks in the national program."

Vavrik Pledges Himself.

"If I am elected ward committeeman I will appoint delegates to the state convention who will stand for a program to repeal the 18th amendment, reduce costs of government, and remove government competition with private business. I will also only support candidates for delegates to the national congrention who are pledged not to nominate any candidate for President who does not willingly stand on this platform."

Meanwhile responses are coming from downstate, too, from liberals who report they are getting ready to put on record the county leaders who will pick delegates to the state convention. Some of the candidates for state office, too, are following the lead of Edward J. Brundage, candidate for governor, in applauding the Snow movement.

Edward Goetz, candidate for reëlection as Republican state committeeman in the 7th district, wrote: "I will stand for repeal of the Illinois prohibition enforcement law and other prohibition legislation at the state and national conventions."

Widow of Manufacturer Wins Property Suit

MRS. MERCEDES PEINE.

MRS. PEINE IS VICTOR IN SUIT OVER FURNITURE

Mrs. Mercedes Peine, 4300 Sheridan road, widow of Adolphus G. Peine, clothing manufacturer, won from Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor yesterday a modification of the Probate court order which directed her to divide with her stepchildren—Mrs. Edward J. Lehmann Jr., 3000 Sheridan road, and Jack Ross Peine of New York—the valuable furniture which was part of her husband's estate.

Mr. Peine, who died in 1929, directed in his will that his widow receive $350,000 and that the remainder of his estate be divided equally among his two children by his first marriage and Patricia, his daughter by his second marriage. Mrs. Peine, the former Countess Siuchninska of Russia, claimed the furniture, valued at $20,000, however, asserting that it was given to her by her husband during their marriage.

Mrs. Lehmann obtained an order in the Probate court a year ago, directing that the furniture be divided into thirds, she to receive choice of the first third, her stepmother second choice, and her brother the remainder.

Mrs. Peine appealed to the Circuit court. Yesterday Judge Taylor ordered her attorney, Leslie Donahue, to draft an order giving to Mrs. Peine all of the furniture which was in the Peine home at 3700 Sheridan road at the time of Mr. Peine's death. The remainder of the furniture, which is in a storage warehouse, will be distributed according to the Probate court order.

Woman Wears Male Attire, but for a Reason

Chicago avenue police were puzzled early this morning when they arrested Miss Olga Wallenkoppe, 28 years old, of 3350 Adams street, for speeding 55 miles an hour in North La Salle street. She was wearing a brown derby hat, black and white checked trousers, and a blue sweater decorated with skull and cross-bones. Miss Wallenkoppe explained she was on her way home from the third annual minstrel show at the Illinois Women's Athletic club. She was a member of the cast. Miss Wallenkoppe will appear in Speeders' court today.

Italian Budget Shows Deficit of $80,000,000

ROME, March 30.—(AP)—A deficit of $80,000,000 for the fiscal year 1932-'33 was indicated in the budget estimates presented today to the chamber of deputies. Receipts were estimated at $1,010,000,000 and expenditures at $1,090,000,000.

FORMER U. OF S. C. ATHLETE HELD IN BANK RAID PLOT

Abilene, Tex., March 30.—(AP)—Four young men were arrested here tonight after police discovered a 45 foot tunnel under a building adjoining the Citizens' National bank.

One of those held was Rupert Black, 2v, of Abilene, football letter man at the University of Southern California in 1930.

Black and R. A. Rice were arrested in an unoccupied concrete structure near the bank building. The tunnel ran to within eight feet of the bank building.

GETS 2½ YEARS IN U. S. CELL.

Frank Muscia, 30 years old, 4146 North Bernard street, was sentenced yesterday in federal court to serve 2½ years at Leavenworth on charges of passing a $50 money order stolen in a post office robbery several months ago.

WOMAN IS SHOT, LEFT IN COTTAGE; SEEK CHICAGOAN

Detectives early this morning were seeking Charles Rogers, 36 years old, described as a radio engineer, for the shooting yesterday of Laura Tally, 24 years old, of Racine, Wis., in a cottage on Root river, not far from the Wisconsin city.

Miss Tally was shot five times. One bullet struck near the brain and surgeons at St. Luke's hospital at Racine expressed doubts this morning that she would survive. She named Rogers as her assailant and said he lived at the Coronado hotel, 1061 Rosemont avenue. At the hotel it was said that a Charles Rogers lives there, but has been out of town for several days.

Miss Tally was found in the cottage last night by Lester Long, 30, of Racine, who owns the place. He told the sheriff that he, another woman, Miss Tally, and Rogers had held a party in the cottage. He departed during the day for work. On returning he found Miss Tally wounded.

Long told deputy sheriffs that his sister was a former wife of Rogers. He said Rogers had told him he had divorced her. Long has not seen his sister for nine months, he said.

KIDNAP ALARM UPSETS FAMILY IN HYDE PARK

What was at first thought to be an attempt to kidnap the 2 year old daughter of Arthur J. Baer, 5543 Hyde Park boulevard, a vice president of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, was finally believed by police last night to have been an unsuccessful effort of prowlers to enter the Baer home.

A maid in the home went into the room where the baby, Betty Helen was asleep and heard a rustling of the locked screen over the rear window. She said she heard a man say, "This must be the baby's room." She screamed. Two men fled and the maid carried the child to another room.

Mr. Baer and his wife, who had been in the parlor of their first floor apartment, rushed into the baby's room. Not finding her there they thought she had been kidnaped and called the Hyde Park police. Later, however, Mr. Baer said he was convinced the men were prowlers.

HORNER ASSAILS DOWNSTATE TAX PLEDGE OF IGOE

Carlstrom Talks in G.O.P. Campaign.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Interrupting his final week of downstate touring for one day, Judge Henry Horner came back to Chicago yesterday and took the center of the state political stage. At a luncheon of Democratic workers at the Hotel Sherman he said that if he is elected governor he will strive for the establishment of better understanding between Chicago and the rest of the state.

"Illinois," he said, "again can be a great federation of citizenship on grounds of a common understanding. It has been surprising to see the welcome with which this thought is received downstate and I know that you of Chicago would be glad to see the time when bitter factional differences are eliminated."

On the Republican side, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, speaking at the Apollo theater, in his second noon meeting in the loop in as many days, was the headliner. Attention was attracted to this meeting also by the introduction of the candidate by B. W. Snow, chairman of the Republican county central committee.

Deals with Igoe Candidacy.

In his talk to the public office holders, district and ward leaders of his party, Judge Horner again devoted considerable time to discussing—without mentioning his name—the candidacy of Michael L. Igoe.

"It seems to me," he said, "that it takes a lot of self-confidence for a man to become a candidate for the biggest office in the state when he has been denied the indorsement of his own county. He prides himself that he is national committeeman and yet he was chosen for that office by the very state central committee he is now seeking to destroy. Who made him minority leader at Springfield if not this same organization he now condemns?

"I fear that the unfortunate boy has been misadvised, for he has been telling the people downstate that he favors reducing their taxes by raising the taxes in Cook county. He is telling them that he is downstate in spirit and will protect downstate from Cook county.

"As for me, I would not offer to sacrifice my city and my county for all the governorships in all the nation."

Then Judge Horner told how, during his downstate travels, he has sought to effect a better understanding between the big city and the rest of the state.

Cermak Talks in Own Ward.

At a night meeting in his own ward [the 22d] Mayor Cermak also referred to Igoe's campaign discussion of the subject of taxes.

"I don't think he knows what he is doing," said the mayor, "for he is telling the voters that the tax bills they are receiving now are the result of the adoption of the Kelly plan. And you know that these are the 1930 tax bills for expenses incurred under my Republican predecessor. You know they are based on assessments levied a year before the Kelly plan was adopted, and you are not fooled by his statements."

In his evening speeches Igoe commented on the amount of attention he is receiving from Judge Horner and his supporters.

"They started out to ignore Igoe," he said, "but now, in panic, because of unmistakable signs that free Democrats in every one of the 102 counties are overwhelmingly for Igoe, they talk about nothing else but Igoe. They thrum upon one string, that Igoe refused to bend the knee before the all-highest in the city hall."

Snow Talks for Carlstrom.

County Chairman Snow, in introducing Carlstrom as a candidate for governor at a crowded meeting in the Apollo theater, told why he is supporting Carlstrom's candidacy.

"In these times when our national taxes have risen from three billions of dollars to 14½ billions, I know of no public officer, either in the nation or state, whose record for economy is as satisfactory as is Carlstrom's," Mr. Snow said. "It is the performance of Mr. Carlstrom in his present office that gives us assurance he will do the same in the office of governor of Illinois.

"On the question of repeal of the prohibition laws he recognizes the right of the people to the carrying out of their wishes as expressed by their votes. No problem in America today is more important than prohibition, which has caused the doubling of taxes for its enforcement, while the profits of the liquor traffic go to the criminal element.

Cites Record As Vote Getter.

"On the issues of this campaign Oscar Carlstrom rings true. He has led the ticket in every campaign in which he has been a candidate, thereby demonstrating that he is a great vote getter. We need him in the fall as the Republican nominee for governor in order to lead the party to victory over the Democrats who, just recently in Washington, demonstrated that they can always be trusted to do the wrong thing at the right time."

Figures cited by Snow were to the effect that in 1928 Carlstrom polled 1,709,348 votes, defeating his opponent by 511,000 votes, that he polled 357,533 votes more than Small and 113,940 more than Senator Otis F. Glenn. He carried Cook county by 228,000 votes in the primary, and in the fall he was elected by 526,000 votes.

Carlstrom Recalls His Service.

Commenting on those figures, Attorney General Carlstrom said he had tried to deserve the confidence thus placed in him. He reviewed the accomplishments of his office, the voluntary reductions in his appropriations, and the service given the public.

He spent four years on the state tax commission, Mr. Carlstrom said, and this experience will aid him in helping the taxpayers out of the morass they are now in, he asserted. He reiterated his stand against prohibition and promised he would not use the power of the office to perpetuate himself or his friends in office through assessing jobholders or using them as campaigners.

Brundage Answers Custer.

Edward J. Brundage, Republican governorship candidate, issued a statement in reply to one by Omer Custer, who charged that Brundage's assertion of racketeerism in the Custer camp were "demagoguery."

"You cannot dispose of Frank J. Loesch and his revelations of the political conditions in Chicago by calling him a demagogue," said Brundage. "Col. Robert Isham Randolph also knows of the political alliance with criminals and has warned the public. I presume Mr. Custer considers him another demagogue.

"Remember, Mr. Custer, what you said the other night when you mentioned racketeers. You said you are for the men who are for you."

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 9 p. m. March 30 to noon March 31:

Chicago-Cincinnati—Mostly overcast, preceded by rain over the south portion, probably becoming clear over extreme north; fresh to strong northwest winds, preceded by strong southwest winds and gales over extreme south.

Chicago-Detroit-Cleveland—Mostly overcast, possibly some rain over extreme east, probably becoming clear over extreme west; fresh to strong northwest winds, preceded by strong westerly winds and gales over extreme east.

Chicago-Kansas City—Varying cloudiness, but on the whole clear to scattered or broken; fresh north to northwest winds at low levels, strong higher.

Route forecasts for 12 hours ending at noon:

Evansville-Atlanta—Rain, with local thunderstorms; fresh southerly winds, shifting to northwest near Evansville, probably to Atlanta by noon Thursday up to 1,000 feet, and southwest gale at 5,000 feet, shifting to northwest and diminishing, Evansville to Nashville, at 5,000 feet.

Cleveland-New York—Rain over entire route Thursday forenoon; slight risk of scattered thunderstorms; fresh to strong southwest shifting to northwest winds near Cleveland and fresh southerly near New York up to 1,000 feet, and southwest gale at 5,000 feet, shifting to northwest near Cleveland and diminishing Thursday forenoon.

COURTNEY VOWS WAR ON GANGS, SPEEDY TRIALS

Attacks Republicans as "Catering to Crime."

State Senator Thomas J. Courtney hammered home a doctrine of "backbone in the state's attorney's office" in his campaign speeches last night. His principal plea for the Democratic nomination was given in Mayor Cermak's home ward, the 22d, at a meeting at 2345 South Kedzie avenue.

The pledge that he would refuse all aid or contact with gangsters, "before and after election," and his promise that criminal trials would be fair, but speedy, if he is elected, were Courtney's main points. He also made charges against Republicans "who cater to hoodlums."

Raps "Catering to Hoodlums."

"Within the next ten days," he advised, "keep your eyes on the Republican candidates for state's attorney. The action of these candidates in catering to the hoodlum vote is a disgrace to Chicago. They are making gangdom powerful. The more powerful criminals become, the harder they are to drive out.

"I say that it is impossible to cater to the underworld and then turn your back upon it. I'd rather be defeated than to go into office with any hoodlum support. I hope every one of them is against me, for I'm surely against them.

"What we need in the office I seek, and what the Republican candidates cannot give you, is backbone, determination and courage. I believe my six year record in the state senate will present proof that I can render that service.

Promises Speedy Trials.

"If a state's attorney can compel respect for his office from the criminally inclined, he has performed one of his chief duties. That can be done only by swift and speedy action in all criminal matters, for the gangster always craves delay.

"Accused persons will know, if I assume the office of state's attorney, that the only thing they can expect is a fair but speedy trial."

James C. Denvir, Courtney's campaign manager, expanded upon the candidate's stand in a statement issued yesterday.

"From the time Senator Courtney served notice on the gangsters and hoodlums that he wanted none of their help, his campaign committee has been deluged with congratulations and offers of support from many elements that seldom are interested in a primary contest. 'Prosecution' and not 'persecution' will characterize Senator Courtney's régime if he is elected to office."

Leap Year Doesn't Mean a Thing in This Town

Orleans, Mass., March 30.—(AP)—This is leap year, but not a single marriage application has been filed here in 1932.

POLITICAL NOTES

Edward J. Brundage will go to Freeport today, where he will be the guest of honor at a luncheon with Charles W. Middlekauff, special assistant attorney general, as chairman.

David H. Jackson, candidate for auditor, wrote one of his opponents, State Senator Harry G. Wright, yesterday calling on him to return to the state the money received for his expense account after the $25,000 legislative junket to Europe last summer. "You ate up from $3,000 to $5,000 of the taxpayers' money," asserted the letter.

Mayor Cermak and Judge Henry Horner will be guests of honor at the Southmoor hotel Saturday night. The affair is given by the Barnet Hodes Seventh Ward club.

Fannie M. Brooks, president of the Illinois State Nurses' association, has notified Michael L. Igoe that the organization has indorsed him for governor.

The Daily Maroon reported yesterday that, although two of them are Republicans and cannot vote for him in the primary, all the eleven members of the University of Chicago law school, headed by Dean Harry A. Bigelow, favor Judge Henry A. Horner for governor.

F. B. Ernst and C. B. Hopkins announced yesterday that the Voters' Nonpartisan association will have 1,000 watchers in the "bad spots" on primary day.

B. W. Snow, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, has issued an indorsement praising Judge Robert E. Gentzel, candidate for attorney general.

Republican candidates have been invited to attend a political rally at the Hamilton club Saturday evening under the direction of the Woman's Republican club.

The Illinois Young People's Democratic league has been organized, with Floyd M. Kenlay, son-in-law of Mayor Cermak, as president. The other officers include Joseph Serhant, George Ross, Ralph O'Farrell, Manuel E. Cowan, and Thomas O'Connell.

D. F. KELLY IS GIVEN MEDAL FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

Award of the gold medal of the Benjamin H. Rosenthal Foundation to D. F. Kelly was announced yesterday by Mr. Rosenthal. The medal is awarded annually for outstanding public service. Mr. Kelly was cited in the award for his work during the early part of last year for unemployment relief; for his efforts, still continuing, as head of a committee selling tax warrants to relieve the local governments' financial distress; and for his efforts on behalf of the bill bearing his name which reorganized the assessment system in Cook county.

SWANSON LEADS DENEENITES INTO LOOP TOMORROW

Plan Daily Meetings for Rest of Campaign.

The Deneen candidates on county and state tickets plan to start their invasion of the loop tomorrow and will continue daily meetings until the primary, one week from Tuesday. William Busse, county commissioner and chairman of the national Republican group [the Deneen faction] made this announcement yesterday.

JOHN E. NORTHUP.

State's Attorney Swanson will be the principal speaker at the first of the rallies tomorrow noon at the Apollo theater. The 22 other candidates indorsed by the party will be present there and at the nine other daily meetings in the loop scheduled for the duration of the campaign.

Full Slate Selected.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, Republican candidate for attorney general, and Mr. Swanson headline the ticket but a full slate of candidates for the court clerkships, the sanitary district, coroner, county commissioner, and associate justices of the Municipal court has also been selected.

Mr. Swanson's organization, the Business Men's Nonpartisan league took another fling at Judge Michael Feinberg [Crowe-Harding candidate for state's attorney] yesterday, referring to Feinberg's alleged statement that a ten per cent payment to depositors of the defunct Elmwood Park State bank would be made.

Called Publicity Attempt.

"So notices of bank deposit payments are now being made by a press agent in the judicial chambers—even when such payment has not been approved by the state auditor," said J. F. Cornelius, president of the league.

"Judge Feinberg's attempt for favorable publicity in connection with this bank case failed," he said. "Here is a bank with only $67,000 in cash against deposit liabilities of $580,000 and two suits of $50,000 each pending against the bank, as well as the claim of a downtown bank against the Elmwood State for an unsatisfied loan of $56,000.

"Judge Feinberg now says that he did not issue such an order—that his press bureau gave it out from his chambers—and adds that what he had really done was to urge the depositors of the bank to file their claims. Whatever Feinberg did do, it is an interesting commentary on the situation—a judge's press agent giving out such information from the judge's chambers."

Charges Hypocrisy.

In turn Judge Feinberg charged State's Attorney Swanson with "rank hypocrisy" in labeling the 1927 Republican judiciary convention as "highly improper."

"If the convention was improper the public should know that Mr. Swanson was nominated for judge at the same convention along with myself," said Feinberg. "He accepted the nomination. If it was not properly held, if there was anything illegal about it, why did he accept the nomination?

"Judge Swanson was anxious to have the nomination of this convention and was anxious to be elected on the same ticket with me. The issue he raises is false and reeks with hypocrisy. The charge reflects upon the honorable and respected judges who were named in the same convention. The state's attorney owes each a public apology."

Zionist Leader to Come to Chicago Tomorrow

Nahum Sokolow, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and the World Zionist organization, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow on the Century for conferences with the midwestern committee of the American Palestine campaign. Sokolow will be met by a committee of 22 Chicago Jews, headed by Bernard Horwich. An all day conference on the Palestine movement will be held in the Congress hotel on Sunday.

MAINE PLEDGES ITS 12 VOTES TO GOV. ROOSEVELT

Portland, Me., March 30.—[Special.]—Maine's twelve votes in the forthcoming Democratic national convention were pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York by the state convention here today. The delegation was instructed to vote as a unit.

The convention adopted a plank demanding submission of the question of repeal of the 18th amendment. The plank calls for a referendum either by direct vote or in special conventions.

All citizens of all parties are called upon in the plank to support Democratic officials and candidates pledged to support the test on prohibition repeal.

The resolution to "instruct" Maine's delegation for Roosevelt carried by a vote of 256 to 245 after a spirited fight on the floor of the convention. The question was originally declared on a standing vote, but this was challenged and a roll call ordered.

State leaders of the party have stoutly opposed the proposal to instruct the delegation from the first, but Roosevelt sentiment at today's gathering proved too strong to overcome. Just before the resolution was put today Judge Joseph F. Connolly of Portland, who is standing for the nomination for congress on a wet platform, warned the convention that a decision to instruct would alienate many party workers and might seriously affect the party's showing at the election.

Senator Clarence C. Dill of Washington, the convention's "keynoter," declared in his opening address that the one great issue of the campaign would be that of prosperity. He attacked the Hoover administration for its failure to adopt measures to cope with the depression.

CORONER FREES DRY SLAYER OF UNARMED MAN

Prosecutor Puts Future Action Up to Citizens.

Prescott, Ariz., March 30.—[Special.]—Twenty-four hours after the death of Andrew L. Carnley, alleged still operator, shot in the back by a shotgun armed dry agent as he held his hands aloft in surrender, a coroner's jury this evening perfunctorily disposed of the inquest without recommendation. The county prosecutor, intimating the slayer would not be prosecuted, announced the case seemed "to be a closed issue."

However, sentiment crystallized into action among leading citizens here. The Mohave County Service Men's club completed plans for a demonstration at Carnley's funeral, and filed protests with Sheriff Ernest Graham charging that federal agents in the county were making dry raids on the strength of fake warrants. Also, it was asserted that Louis M. Taylor, the dry agent who killed Carnley, fired needlessly.

Action "Up to Citizens."

"I have no intention of filing charges against Taylor," admitted Charles P. Elmer, the county prosecuting attorney, tonight. "Of course, if some reputable citizen does so, the case will be prosecuted for all it's worth. For one thing, I have nothing on which to build a case, at least until Carnley's partner is caught."

Carnley's partner, Ross Sullivan, 35 years old, is being sought. He escaped when Carnley was fatally wounded by Taylor.

"There is very little likelihood of a grand jury investigation, either," continued Prosecutor Elmer. "It appears the case has become a closed issue. Feeling here ran high until the inquest, but seems to have quieted down. Half of the people feel the dry agents were justified."

Shot as He Raised Arms.

The shooting over which Mohave county is stirred occurred March 23. Deputy Sheriff Jim Shaw and Federal Operatives Taylor and Henry B. Hayes routed Carnley and Sullivan from a still on the Bill Williams river. When an order was called to Sullivan to surrender, Carnley arose from a clump of bushes. He raised his arms in surrender. Upon seing him, it is charged, Taylor fired. Shortly after he was shot, and just before he died, Carnley insisted that neither he nor Sullivan was armed. Taylor, however, asserted he shot in self defense. Carnley died yesterday.

John H. Udall, prohibition administrator of Phoenix, announced he would conduct an inquiry. At the same time he described Taylor as "a level headed fellow."

Bay St. Louis, Miss., March 30.—(AP)—Zeno Hoda, charged with murder of Robert M. Buck, federal prohibition agent, in a raid on a whisky distillery on the night of Feb. 1 last, was acquitted tonight by a jury which deliberated 15 minutes. Hoda testified he fired on the raiders but did not know they were officers.

Sergt. Gallman Retires After 30 Years in Army

Master Sergeant Albert Gallman, U. S. army, retired after thirty years' service yesterday after reviewing 350 cadets of the R. O. T. C. at Tilden High school, where he has been an instructor for seven years. He saw service in China, Mexico, and France. He resides at 1126 East 47th street. The cadets were also reviewed by Maj. Frank L. Beals, in charge of R. O. T. C. work in Chicago, and Albert W. Evans, principal of the school.

CHINESE CAPTURE NUNGAN; STORM DRIVES JAPS BACK

Revolt Against Tokio in Manchuria Grows.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

DAIREN, Manchuria, March 30.—Word was received here today that Chinese troops opposed to the puppet government set up by Japan in Manchuria, have captured Nungan, 33 miles north of Changchun, the new capital, and have been stoutly reinforced, so that they now number more than 8,000.

Japanese airplanes sent to bomb the Chinese forces have returned to Changchun. They were unable to function in a swirling snowstorm.

Japanese at Mukden say that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, who was deposed by Japan as governor of Manchuria, is personally inspiring various outbreaks against the new régime. They assert that he instigated the attack yesterday on the Mukden arsenal, in which 20 Chinese and one Japanese were killed, and they also say that he is flooding the provinces with forged bank notes in an attempt to upset the Manchurian finances.

Japan Sends Orders to Shanghai.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, March 31.—[Thursday.]—The Japanese government is now prepared for the breakdown of the Sino-Japanese peace negotiations at Shanghai. Lieut. Gen. Sadao Araki, minister of war, said today that the Japanese army will not advance further in the Shanghai district unless attacked.

The war office sent fresh instructions last night to Gen. Tashiro, Japanese military attaché at Shanghai, to govern Japan's actions at the peace negotiations today. The nature of the new instructions is being kept secret by officials, but, according to Japanese newspapers, Japan refuses to abandon the Chapei-Woosung line, which she holds to be the minimum necessary for the large number of Japanese men and horses in the Shanghai area.

The new instructions, however, are said to accept everything else, including prohibition of air scouting.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, March 30.—The prospects for a definite and early rupture of the Sino-Japanese peace negotiations became greater today when subcommittees considering military problems were unable to make substantial progress at two long meetings.

The Japanese continued to refuse to fix a time limit for withdrawal of their troops. For this reason the Chinese refused to sign an agreement, saying that if the withdrawal were left to Japan's discretion, the Shanghai area might remain occupied for many years.

The Japanese tonight charged that the Chinese had begun skirmishes at three front line points.

A significant political development is the fact that the great majority of Chinese language newspapers in Shanghai are sharply criticizing the Kuomintang party, strongly condemning its record and its failure to carry out its promises.

Nanking Greets League Envoys.

NANKING, March 30.—(AP)—The commissioners sent by the league of nations to investigate the Sino-Japanese dispute were formally welcomed to the capital tonight by Chiang Kai-shek, China's dictator, and Mme. Chiang.

A typically Chinese atmosphere, with burning incense, brilliant red tapestries and dragon-shaped candles, pervaded the hall where the reception was held.

A distinctly American note was introduced, however, when energetic American movie cameramen turned powerful spotlights on Gen. Chiang when he arose to deliver a brief address of welcome.

Asks Square Deal.

Chiang told the commissioners, who are headed by the earl of Lytton, that he greeted them with mixed feelings of happiness and sorrow in China's grave national crisis. He expressed the hope that the commission would present accurate reports of political and social conditions, which would contribute greatly to the league's solution of the far eastern impasse.

Replying for the commissioners, the earl of Lytton said the occasion would stand out in their memories as permitting them the privilege of meeting the Chinese leader who was known the world over as a great soldier.

A feature of the entertainment was music from a 700 year old harp.

Gen. Chiang appeared in a smart military uniform. Mme. Chiang wore a black gown.

135 PRISONERS MAKE PLEA FOR KEEPING JAIL SCHOOL OPEN

A petition to keep the county jail school open during the summer was presented to Warden David Moneypenny by youthful inmates yesterday. The plea was signed by 135 youths between the ages of 17 and 20 years. Closing the school has been threatened by the school board because of decreased revenues.

GIRL IN TRIAL OF PASTOR TELLS OF MANY LOVES

Defense Paints Her as "Gold Digger."

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 30.—The Rev. Harold Davidson, rector of Stiffkey, who is on trial in the Norwich diocesan court on charges of immoral relations with women and of molesting young girls, appeared in a different character today when Barbara Harris, pretty 18 year old girl whom the rector is accused of having tried to seduce, confessed that she had been the mistress of an Indian policeman. Defense counsel strove to prove that she was a scheming "gold digger."

R. F. Levy, chief counsel for the preacher, burrowed into the girl's life in the streets of London and before he had finished drew comments from the magistrates that she was "capable of associating only with people who in her opinion were capable of providing money, clothes, and trips to theaters."

Admits Many Loves.

During cross-examination Levy sought to prove that the girl had repeatedly hunted out the rector, who is the father of five children, in order to obtain his help in a search for jobs. One time, Levy brought out, she had received the preacher in pajamas in a room she shared with an Indian policeman who had been sent to London to guard delegates to the round table conference. Levy charged the girl with association with men from whom she had accepted money. The girl admitted that she had had relations with too many men of various races to remember.

During cross-examination the chancellor of the court remarked:

"It dawned on me long ago that this girl is of a sort which, if she can get anything from anybody, she does."

Prominent Woman Involved.

Levy brought out that the Rev. Mr. Davidson introduced Miss Harris to numerous people, including a "Lady Somebody," who was unidentified, but in each case, according to the girl's admissions, the new friends refused to see her again because of her objectionable character. She also admitted that while she used the rector's room he was free to come and go at any time because there was no lock or bolt on the door.

The girl admitted writing to Davidson at interims during her escapades in the hope that he would find a job for her. She said he was "kind and useful." The defense also sought to prove that the rector attempted to throw homelike influences around the girl rather than leave her to homes or institutions which he opposed. It was also brought out that the rector, who usually wore street clothes, donned his clerical collar and visited a strong arm performer who had threatened to give the girl a black eye, and prevented his doing so.

DESPONDENT, HANGS SELF.

Despondent because he had been out of work for more than a year, August Larson, 65 years old, 5127 Wentworth avenue, hanged himself yesterday morning.

Let these
NEW LOW PRICES
answer the question:

INNER TUBES

Now as low as 91¢
Speedways—for tire sizes 4.40-20, 4.50-20 and 4.75-20

"What's the best tire to buy today"?

The best tire, without regard to price, is a Goodyear. Don't take our word for it. Take the public's. The public says Goodyears are best—by a lead of more than 2 to 1 over any other tire.

And when you read these prices, you find that the best costs no more to buy.

Now you can get ready for spring and summer driving by getting rid of tire troubles. No one can afford to risk skids, delays or blowouts—no one needs to use tires that have run past the danger point—when new rubber sells at such prices as you see here.

Look them over and ask yourself this easy question: "Why be satisfied with a second-choice tire when first-choice costs no more!"

190,000 FARMERS FILE FOR SHARES IN "BOOB" LOANS

Pleas Reach Washington in Deluge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Thousands of applications for the so-called "boob" crop loans to farmers poured into the department of agriculture today as that huge paternalistic organization expanded its facilities in anticipation of handling a $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 loan business during the next three months.

Up to the close of business last night 190,000 farmers located in all sections of the country had filed applications for a share of the $50,000,000 fund allocated by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the department of agriculture for crop loans to farmers unable to make loans through regular business channels.

Officials estimated tonight that applications will run into the millions before the 1932 crops are in the ground.

$400 Maximum Loan.

The authority for the loans is given in section 2 of the act creating the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The secretary of agriculture is authorized to make loans to farmers in the several states for crop production in 1932, where he shall find that an emergency exists as a result of which farmers are unable to obtain loans from any other source.

Un to date $8,000,000 of the first $50,000,000 made available by the corporation has been loaned to 61,362 farmers, an average of $133 per loan. Loans are limited to a maximum of $400 each by department of agriculture regulations.

Beyond disclosing that regulations governing the issue of the new loans have been issued, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today had no addition to make to his outburst of yesterday when he shocked official Washington with an assertion that as a loan agent "his department was the prize boob in the history of finance."

Associates of the secretary stated that the cabinet member's remarks of yesterday had been prompted by dissatisfaction over the action of congress in converting his department into a lending agency under conditions which made it impossible to negotiate loans on a business basis.

Can't Collect Debts.

Department of agriculture officials backed up the secretary's statement with figures disclosing that during the years the department has engaged in making loans it has thus far collected but 40.3 per cent of the principal loaned. Out of $68,939,707 loaned under nine emergency bills, $41,000,000 of principal and interest remains unpaid.

Under the law directing the finance corporation to turn 10 per cent of its available loaning capital over to the department of agriculture the secretary is required to make loans, secured only by first liens on crops, to all worthy farmers asking for them, department officials see little likelihood that their collection record will be improved by this year's business.

Indications today were that further clashes between Secretary Hyde and members of congress will come shortly when resolutions increasing the immediately available loan fund of the department of agriculture are debated. Congress voted the loans under conditions designed to make it possible for any farmer to obtain a loan. The funds were turned over to the department because the finance corporation was not empowered to make loans on the thin security that could be accepted by the agricultural department.

From comments made by congressmen during the time the reconstruction bill was up for action it was apparent many expected that Secretary Hyde would make comparatively large loans to farmers. The agriculture secretary, however, took the position that the loans will defeat their purpose by stimulating bigger crop surpluses, thus while going ahead with plans to make the loans he has worked up regulations which hold individual loans down to $400.

Seven Regional Offices.

In order to administer the loans seven regional headquarters have been set up. All applications will go first to these regional headquarters and then to Washington for action.

To obtain a loan each individual must give an absolute first lien on all the crops growing or to be grown in 1932. Also he has to fill out a large application blank noting all encumbrances against his farm if an owner, the number of acres for which seed and fertilizer are required and the amount desired for feed.

The farmer's credit may be no good at his bank but if the committee gives him a good moral character the loan will be granted. The loan is sent out in installments as needed by the farmer. It is due for payment Nov. 30, 1932.

Branch offices are located at Minneapolis, Minn., where Illinois farmers have to apply for loans, Washington, D. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Dallas, Tex.; Spokane, Wash.; Salt Lake City, Utah, and St. Louis, Mo.

Collections Make Poor Showing.

The loans made by the department to farmers since the first seed loans in 1921, together with the percentage of the total collected up to Dec. 31, are as follows:

Authorization.	Amount loaned.	Pecentage collected.
Act of March 3, 1921..	$ 2,000,000	64
Act of March 20, 1922..	1,480,000	77
Act of April 26, 1924..	413,983	66
Act of Feb. 28, 1927..	244,204	44
Act of Feb. 25, 1929..	5,758,650	53
Act of March 3, 1930..	5,348,856	69.8
Act of Dec. 20, 1930..	30,023,946	37.6
Act of Feb. 23, 1931..	1,872,432	27.7

The interest rate on loans through the Reconstruction Finance corporation is 5½ per cent.

Opera Star Wishes to Marry, but Awaits Appearance of "Right Man"

Three portraits of Rosa Ponselle, star of Metropolitan opera in New York, who has been swamped with letters from men with matrimonial leanings since she told a reporter recently she would "like a nice husband." However, at her home in New Haven, Conn., she stated yesterday that she is waiting for the right man to come along.

GRETA NISSEN AND WELDON HEYOURN OF FILMS ARE MARRIED

JUANA, Mexico, March 30.—(AP)—Greta Nissen and Weldon Heyourn film players, flew here from Hollywood and were married late today in a civil ceremony read by Judge Ricardo Gibert of the Mexican civil court, in the bridal suite at a popular bar and hotel. Neither had been married previously.

The couple was accompanied by Col. Wyatt G. Franks, army officer of Washington, D. C., father of the bridegroom. After a wedding dinner they returned to Hollywood by plane.

The bride, a native of Oslo, Norway, gave her name as Gretchen Ruzt at the marriage license bureau.

Miss Nissen, who went to Hollywood from the New York stage to become a star in the days of silent pictures, recently returned to filmland to play in talkies.

Deluged with Mail

New Haven, Conn., March 30.—[Special.]—Not so long ago, Rosa Ponselle, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, confided to a reporter that she would not object to marrying—if the right man came along.

What she said found its way into print throughout the country. The only specification mentioned was that the husband-to-be must be the "right man."

From that time on Uncle Sam's postoffice did a rushing business. From every section of the country dozens of "right men" sent letters offering to sacrifice themselves to matrimonial bonds. The letters came from cities, from villages, from the rural fireside—and, Miss Ponselle fears, from asylums. She saw another reporter today as she eyed dismally a huge stack of mail.

"All from men willing to marry me," she said. "Please say that I'm not advertising for a husband."

DIAMOND MINES CLOSED TO HALT DROP IN PRICES

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

JOHANNESBURG, March 30.—The great De Beers mines at Kimberley will be closed tomorrow and with this the main diamond industry of South Africa will come to a standstill. More than 2,500 white workers and thousands of natives will be thrown out of employment. With rough diamonds worth $75,200,000 at current exchange in the hands of the Diamond corporation, the sales agency and producers, the mine owners decided to shut down to prevent a further lowering of diamond prices.

'MODERN MARCO POLO' UNFOLDS ASIA MYSTERIES

Dr. Sven Hedin Addresses Orientalists.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

His forty-two years of Asiatic exploration were reviewed yesterday by Dr. Sven Hedin.

DR. SVEN HEDIN. [Acme Photo.]

Dr. Hedin, acknowledged to be the foremost authority on central Asia, is the guest of the American Oriental society meeting at the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Hedin, who has been described as a modern Marco Polo, told the story of his explorations yesterday in the oak paneled reception room of the home of Vincent Bendix, the former Potter Palmer mansion on Lake Shore drive. As he talked he gazed through the afternoon drizzle to where a gray sky melted into the lake.

In appearance Dr. Hedin belies his romantic tales. His close cut hair, spare mustache, and glasses suggest a doctor who has never strayed from his hearth. His manner, too, is prosaic. To him exploring is a business. He has been taken prisoner by armed bandits, faced starvation, taken the disguise of a pilgrim to gain entrance into forbidden holy places, battled blinding blizzards, and braved intense heat.

Decides on Career at 15 Years.

"I became an explorer through no accident," he said. "At the age of 15 I dedicated myself to exploring when the bark Vega returned to Stockholm with the polar explorer Nordenskold, who had been believed lost. I made up my mind I would reach the pole. At 20 I went to the east as tutor for a younger boy. I have been there often since."

Dr. Hedin told of having the choice of battling a hurricane in a small collapsible canoe or going ashore to face a pack of wolves on a lake high in Tibet in 1920.

"Two natives were in the canoe with me," he said. "The wolves were on the shore. And we could see the storm coming up from the other side of the lake. It was a big moment, I'll tell you."

He Chooses the Storm.

The explorer paused in his narrative to place a cigaret in his holder. He tossed a match into the grate of a marble fireplace and continued:

"I chose to face the storm. After hours of struggling we landed on the other side of the lake away from the wolves. But after all a man goes through these things for more than the excitement in it. I can tell you of that.

"One night after weeks of travel through the desert—weeks of blazing sun and thirst during which I had left one after another of my companions dead on the sands—a servant and I came on a pool of water. I was near exhaustion, but with the subconscious instinct of the explorer I felt my pulse and counted it. Then I drank the water and again took my pulse. You see, with us the taking of records becomes second nature."

"Most Important Discovery."

Dr. Hedin was more enthusiastic concerning his discoveries than he had been on his adventures. He told of crossing the Gobi desert on a trail taken by Marco Polo in 1274 and coming upon the lost city of Lou-lan. Here he found what he considers his most important discovery, the first writing on paper.

The paper is a fragment of a letter written by Chang Ch'Ou, a mandarin of the Han dynasty, to a friend about 150 A. D. In it he complains of his imprisonment by the king because of a pearl which the king coveted. He says the king has refused to believe the pearl has been lost. The truth of his protest is questioned by the fact that he asks his friend to carry to the king the story that it has been stolen by an enemy so that the enemy will be killed.

The 100 scholars attending the three day meeting of the American Oriental society took a morning off from their discussions of cities of thousands of years ago to tour Chicago.

In the evening the members of the society attended a banquet in the Hotel Windermere East.

Red Cross Holds Annual Meeting

16,000 VETERANS GIVEN RED CROSS AID DURING 1931

Chicago Chapter Has Annual Meeting.

More than 16,000 disabled veterans and their families in the Chicago area were aided during 1931 by the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. This announcement was made yesterday by James T. Nicholson, manager of the chapter, at the annual meeting in the Congress hotel.

The report reveals that material relief was given to 4,426 cases at a cost of $101,910. The chapter was able to secure for veterans and dependent families of veterans claim settlements totaling $284,484.

List Services Rendered.

A variety of service was listed in the report, including the obtaining of custodial affidavits, marriage, birth, death, and divorce records for dependency evidence; aiding in family problems, such as behavior, delinquency, and unemployment; assisting stranded tubercular, neuro-psychiatric, and seriously ill world war veterans. Other help included nursing service, home hygiene, and care of the sick, first aid, and volunteer service.

The Junior Red Cross, an activity sponsored by the Chicago chapter in 603 schools, has a membership of more than 500,000. This organization made more than 13,000 favors to cheer inmates of veterans' hospitals, 1,700 garments, provided food for needy families, transcribed 23,431 pages of Braille for the blind, and dispatched gifts to children in other countries.

Drought Relief in 23 States.

In discussing the nation-wide program of the last year, Mr. Nicholson said:

"Nationally the society has been confronted with problems equal to none since the world war. Outstanding among its achievements was the drought relief work in 23 states, for which 5 million dollars was appropriated from our national treasury. A total of 10½ million dollars more was contributed in cash, and another one million dollars in 'kind.'"

Mr. Nicholson said that of the 40 million bushels of wheat made available by congress from government owned stores applications for 681,670 barrels of flour that will aid 831,334 families, and 49,324 tons of live stock feed that will help 36,136 families have been approved.

James B. Forgan Jr., chairman of the Red Cross in this district, who presided, was reelected, as were the other officers. There were awards of medals, badges, certificates, and a general reception and tea. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham were co-chairmen in charge of the meeting.

U. S. TO DROP CASE AGAINST E. V. MALTBY, RURAL GRAIN CO. HEAD

Orders were received yesterday from the United States attorney general's office in Washington directing the dismissal of criminal charges against Ernest V. Maltby, vice president and manager of the defunct Rural Grain company, 141 West Jackson boulevard.

Maltby was arrested last October on charges of violating the grain futures act, after being sought throughout the United States by department of justice agents for more than 14 months. He disappeared from his office in June, 1930, shortly after federal authorities began an investigation of his operations in the grain market.

The investigation resulted in an information being filed against him charging that he bought and sold grain without recording the transactions. Maltby was arrested in Seattle, Wash., disguised in a heavy beard, and brought back to Chicago for trial. The search, it was estimated, cost the government approximately $20,000.

Assistant United States District Attorney Benjamin Landis, who has been in charge of the case, said he would go before Federal Judge John Barnes today and ask for a dismissal. He said that the Washington order, signed by John Lord O'Brian, assistant to the United States attorney general, stated that the case was being dropped because government officials feel the evidence is too weak to warrant trial. Maltby is at liberty in bonds of $5,000.

CHICAGO TARGET OF SEAWAY FOE IN CANADA SENATE

Demands U.S. Guarantee on Lake Diversion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 30.—Senator Pierre Casgrain, Quebec Liberal, a relentless opponent of the impending Canadian-American St. Lawrence seaway treaty, spent an hour in the senate today reaffirming his previously submitted contention that Canada ought not to proceed with the project until Canada assures herself that Chicago is living up to its treaty obligations in respect of water diversion from Lake Michigan.

Casgrain, who previously had said Canada ought to appeal to King George in England to protect its water interests, protested against the reproof of Arthur Meighen, Conservative senate leader, that Casgrain was "laboring under a succession of misapprehensions" in regard to his treaty suppositions. True, he said, Mr. Meighen's stand was based on the view of a "great galaxy of engineers"; still he, Casgrain, preferred his own opinion.

Quotes President Roosevelt.

Warning Canadians against further treaties with the United States, Casgrain said he himself, on one occasion, had had an interview with President Roosevelt, who, he declared, had said that the St. Lawrence was the United States' outlet to the sea and the Hudson bay was Canada's outlet. The senator said he entered into an argument with the late President over the issue.

Quebec province, he said, wanted "to live on her own side of the fence and let the United States do the same. Quebec wants to be friendly with her neighbors and the best way to do that is to stay at home and let them do the same."

Casgrain said it might be well to inquire into diversions other than that of Chicago. The late Senator Medill McCormick of Chicago, he said, had admitted that the diversion was not merely a sewage project but a link in the canal system. Chicago and Illinois have spent $130,000,000 on the canal system, he said, and Canada would never get back the water which was being taken from the lakes.

Mexican Indian Finds Age Old Wealth in Grave on His Farm

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, March 30. — For fifteen years Sidonio Moreno, a member of the Mixtecan tribe of Indians, plowed around a grave on his farm out of respect for the dead. Nothing was sowed over it and nothing was allowed to grow on it, such was his Indian superstition.

At length the fame of the ancient wealth and jewels discovered in a tomb at Monte Alban penetrated the retirement and solitude of Moreno at his home near Texmilincan, state of Guerrero. He thought of the revered grave of his ancestors. The spirit of the present day took possession of him and he decided to do a little exploring on his own account.

Opens the Grave.

With the help of his foreman and several peons the grave, which was covered with stone slabs, was opened. Inside was a vast chamber, similar in dimensions to that found at Monte Alban, and in this was a second stone tomb. This was opened and found to contain a wealth of gold and silver gems, carved emeralds, mother of pearl, crystal, jade, and turquoise.

In the outer tomb were implements of the household, anciently used by women. There was an elaborate gold collar and a chest ornament done in intricate golden figures, flanked by statues of the famous god, Quetzalcoatl. A third magnificent gold piece was a royal crown.

These discoveries have led archeologists to believe that the tomb is that of a Mixtec princess. It may be, however, the tomb of an ancient priestess. Whatever it is, this discovery of a magnificent Mixtec tomb in the far off Guerrero home of the Mixticans has strengthened the belief of Alfonso Caso, discoverer of the tomb of Monte Alban, that the finds there are those of the Mixticans.

Museum Notified.

Moreno wrote to the Mexican national museum of his find, but little credence was placed in his report because of the splendor of the objects he said he found. He was requested to furnish photographs. Moreno, fearing to keep the objects in his possession, sent them to the museum before he received the letter.

Enrique Juan Palacios, expert of the museum, after a careful study pronounced Moreno's find of great importance, in some respects equal, if not superior, to that in Monte Alban.

SEARS PAINT goes around the World WITH THE DOLLAR STEAMSHIP LINES

This is the S. S. President Hoover—Newest and Greatest Dollar Liner

Dollar Line ships sail with clock-like regularity on a world-wide schedule every two weeks. They carry the American flag to the far corners of the world.

Sailing from New York, they call at Havana on the Caribbean Sea, traverse the Panama Canal, and emerge on the Pacific Ocean to stop at San Francisco—thence across the Pacific to Honolulu and on to Japan.

Dollar Line vessels are at home in Shanghai, in Hongkong—outpost of the British Empire in the Far East—and in Manila, where the American flag flies.

They stop at Singapore in the blazing tropics, cross the Red Sea, where the sun sears and burns, drop anchor in ancient Alexandria in Egypt, and tie up to docks that lie in the shadows of Italy's eternally smoking Vesuvius.

Dollar Liners sailing around the world meet every climate and every weather. They encounter the cold of the north and the heat of the south, the never ceasing motion of wind and waves—the constant actions of sun and rain.

Their equipment must be and is of the best.

Therefore, The Dollar Line Uses SEROCO PAINT, Made By SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., On Their 'Round-the-World Ships

SEROCO PAINT resists the constant pounding of the waves, and acid action of salt sea water and wind—the searching rays of the scorching sun. It protects, under the most difficult conditions, property of the greatest value.

SEROCO PAINT protects because it is made of the best and purest ingredients that money can buy, mixed in proportions learned from long study in the laboratory and long use in the field.

You, too, may have the benefit of the high protective qualities of SEROCO PAINT for use on your own property.

It is available in a wide range of colors, mixed and ready to apply—a paint for every purpose—backed with the broadest guarantee ever written on paint—and priced low because millions of gallons of SEROCO PAINT are sold every year.

Springtime is painting time. Come in and talk over your paint problems with us—solve them at low cost and with complete satisfaction by using SEROCO PAINT.

Master Mixed House Paint Is One of the Great Family of SEROCO PAINTS

Master Mixed recognizes no superior in paints—it is equal in quality with the best. So good—every can carries the formula plainly printed on the label. Master Mixed is backed by the strongest guaranty written—yet the saving is up to $1 a gallon.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A DEMOCRATIC BOOST FOR THE SECOND TERM.

Mr. Hearst's comments upon the congressional scene of the last week can be ascribed to natural and altogether human emotions. Mr. Hearst says that the Democratic party in the hour of its opportunity used some magic known to fools and fanatics to convert itself into a jackass rabbit, to bolt its sensible leadership, to restore the Republican party in the eyes of the people, and to make Mr. Hoover appear as the savior of the country.

This required some doing, and the insurgent Democrats must not be granted all of the responsibility. Mr. Snell, the Republican leader in the house, had almost as many rabbit hoofprints on the seat of his trousers as the Democratic leaders, Mr. Garner, Mr. Crisp, and Mr. Rainey, had on theirs. But Mr. Hearst's emotion arises from the Democratic situation, because there he had Mr. Garner as a candidate for President and the sales tax as a paramount issue. Opportunity waited for the fanfare of trumpets announcing that the Democrats were sitting pretty on top of what had been the Republican party.

Mr. Hearst observed, when the dust began to settle after the runaway, that his presidential candidate was prostrate and his paramount issue was poisont. His comments were congenial to the occasion. The Democrats went popeyed with demagogic sound and fury, destroyed their party's control of the house, shook the country's credit, described themselves as irresponsible, and gave the nation pause for the thought, in a campaign year, that possibly the risks involved in a Democratic administration at Washington might be too great to be assumed.

Unquestionably the Democrats in a week have done Mr. Hoover more good than his Republican friends have been able to do him in a year. They have made his second term seem much more reasonable in his prospects than it was before. Their behavior was more convincing than Republican arguments.

They had their opportunity and used it to blow up. Now that their unruly boys are winded Mr. Garner has made some show of restoring order, but the juvenile demonstration has made its effect. Mr. Hoover and the Republican management have been given a chance they had no reason to expect. The second term may largely depend on how Mr. Hoover makes use of the unexpected.

SHOOTING 'EM DOWN.

Reports from Bessarabia relate that hundreds of Moldavian peasants, men, women and children, have been shot by soviet border guards when they tried to escape across the frontier by crossing the Dniester river. The soviet government blows hot and cold alternately on the project of reducing all agricultural regions to the commune and extinguishing all private ownership, but the peasant proprietors in the Ukraine were given the hot application. Consequently thousands of them, many of the Rumanian race, tried to escape into Rumania with such belongings as they could carry.

Expatriation is not permitted victims of Russian communism. The soviets decree submission and the penalty for an attempt to escape from the dictatorship of the proletariat, even with the sacrifice of all worldly goods, is death, generally from the guns of the frontier guards. Although many are killed some succeed in flight. There are many wounded in the Bessarabian hospitals.

The doctrines expressed in the decrees and orders executed upon the refugees from Red government seem to have high rating among the proponents of communist government in Washington. When expropriation of private possessions for government purposes has proceeded further the Canadian and Mexican hospitals and barracks may find a problem in the American refugees.

CARLSTROM INDICTS PROHIBITION.

One of the best and most forceful speeches yet delivered on the evils of the prohibition régime was that of Attorney General Carlstrom in opening his Cook county campaign Saturday night. As the highest law officer of the state, Mr. Carlstrom summarized impressively the sinister growth of organized lawlessness under prohibition as well as the social effects upon the youth which prohibition was supposed to protect from the temptations of alcohol.

"Bootlegger, hijacker, gangster, a piratical lot, produce the racketeer," he declared. "The power, the money, the influence, acquaintanceship, and the immunity from the law led to the bootlegger becoming a racketeer. The 'muscle men' forced their way into unions. Using firearms instead of muscle, they prey on legitimate business men. From the working class they take their tribute.

"Bootlegger, hijacker, gangster, racketeer, muscle man. Fine neighbors we have after twelve years of prohibition.

"Then, when the workers had little money with which to feed the rapacious gangsters who grew into a national menace, what happened? Kidnaping became prevalent. It became so profitable, so generally unpunishable, that finally gangdom is guilty of the most fiendish outraging of an American home—the seizure of the 20 month old son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh."

Mr. Carlstrom favors resubmission of the whole prohibition question to the states through state conventions and "the relaxation by amendment of the 18th amendment to allow each state to adopt by referendum liquor control laws adequately safeguarded by restrictions which would prevent opening of the floodgate through the open saloon." He favors light wines and beer, and believes that with the legalization of the sale of beer "a great impetus to the economic life of the country will be launched."

UNCLE SAM, HUMORIST.

A reader has been kind enough to forward a copy of farmers' bulletin No. 1553 of the United States department of agriculture. The bulletin is a brochure of 22 pages entitled "Planning and Recording Family Expenditures." It is an admirable compendium of information on how to make both ends meet.

"First," says this invaluable guide, "fill in for each month and for the year the estimated income from all sources. It is safer to underestimate than to overestimate the amount. . . . Total the expenditures for each month and for the year. Compare these totals with those for estimated income and if they do not agree revise the plan."

Unfortunately, the value of this advice is likely to be discounted somewhat by the reader whose eye lights on the remark on page 1 that the chief exemplar of the method is the United States government. By careful budgeting the government is enabled "to avoid or at least to lessen the bad effect of business catastrophes," and to "provide for periods of depression." Or so, at least, the author says.

If the individual families of the United States followed the example of their central government they would on Jan. 1 look about to discover all the things they could possibly desire in a year, contract to buy them [including two limousines for each member of the family except baby, who must get along with one] and then try to find some means of borrowing the money to pay for the purchases.

Until the government learns to keep its expenses within its income the distribution of the farmers' bulletin No. 1553 should be discontinued. Some of the recipients might laugh themselves into a doctor's bill for which no provision had been made.

IN A LULL OF OTHER BUSINESS.

A Washington dispatch reports that three Republican leaders in the senate have promised Senator Hawes that they would assist him to have his bill on the Philippines brought up under a unanimous consent agreement during a lull in other business. Two of the leaders referred to are Bingham and Vandenberg, whose judgment in such matters we are not predisposed to disregard. Nevertheless, we do not think so difficult and momentous a problem as the readjustment of our relations, much less the fixation of our policy toward the islands, should be dealt with in a lull of other business or, in fact, during this troubled session of congress. Perhaps the condition imposed, unanimous consent, will prevent, and we hope it will.

The authorship or sponsorship of the bill, that of Senator Hawes, is anything but reassuring, and we are not impressed by the opinion he declares his committee holds, that a condition of uncertainty exists which calls for a decision on the part of congress. It is true there is a condition of uncertainty, gravely injurious to the interests of the islands, both Filipino interests and American interests. But it is an uncertainty of long standing and does not justify the adoption of a new régime at a time when congress and the nation are preoccupied with even more critical and important problems. The bill is said to provide for "optional independence" following a fifteen year program of preparation. That such a régime will do away with uncertainty in any favorable sense seems to us improbable. If it implies any certainty, it is a certainty of continued responsibility for the United States with diminishing power to control the course of events.

We heartily favor a thorough consideration of our Philippine relations and commitments, but neither congress nor the nation is prepared to give it at this time. A bill passed in present circumstances will be the result of special pressure from special interests, with the broader interests of the United States and of the Philippine peoples without clear and forceful representation.

Editorial of the Day

[Atlanta, Ga., Journal.]

Political adventures to relieve economic ills are usually vain and hurtful. Witness the farm board's fling in price pegging and attempts to control cotton acreage by law. No little of the depression now upon us is chargeable to excesses of government, which have not only interfered with the normal functioning of business but have added enormously to the burdens of the people. Instead of protecting life and property and leaving the citizen's due freedom undisturbed, the national administration has become a meddler, an inquisitor, an insatiable tax gatherer and prodigal spender. And too frequently state and local administrations have followed its example. A harking back to true democracy must be the first step in a return to real prosperity.

"The mainspring of business," writes Edward A. Harriman in the current number of State Government, "is the expectation of profit. That expectation can be restored only by increasing the price of the product or reducing the cost of producing it. To the extent that a legislature is willing and able to reduce the burden imposed upon industry by crime in its three forms—official corruption, racketeering, and general lawlessness—and by waste and extravagance in public affairs, it can reduce the cost of government and thereby restore that expectation of profit which will induce business to go ahead and increase its employment of labor."

That applies to all branches of government from bureaucracy ridden Washington to the municipality where ward politics refuses to keep expenditures within a reasonable income and resists every effort to save the taxpayers' money. It is not surprising that this, the most extravagant era of government, is also the most lawless; for a political régime which is engrossed in getting and spending and in weaving legislative webs around the affairs of honest people can have little energy left for curbing crime.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By W. M.

THE ARCHAEOLOGISTS' CONVENTION IN 15032.

"Noted archæologists meet in Chicago and tell how past ages have yielded up their secrets."—The Trib.

Out of centuries blurred in the pages of history archæologists from all over the world held their 15032 convention yesterday. The diggers in the past were chiefly concerned in the discoveries resulting from the recent excavations made at the spot where once stood one of the greatest cities of the ancients, known as Sheekarger of Shikkaggar.

Prof. Xuraxa displayed several of the more important finds, which awakened great interest among his brother archæologists. He showed a quaint room which must have been a popular gathering place of the ancients and probably served both as an eating place and a room where intoxicating liquors were drunk. The peculiar feature of the room is that the door is of very heavy wood reinforced with iron and made to withstand heavy battering. There is also a little window out of which the doorman could look at those applying for admission, and let them in or compel them to stay out as he desired. There is also a sort of narrow passageway which was concealed behind a wall and doubtless used for escape. Prof. Xuraxa explains the room was what the ancients called a "squeak with ease" room, as indicating that at one time in the history of Sheekarger it was surrounded by wild tribes of red aborigines, who now and then swooped down upon the city, massacring all the inhabitants they could find. Hence the dwellers of the city had their "squeak with ease" places well fortified.

Prof. Xuraxa said that from the hieroglyphic pieces of writing found in the city, which he has almost succeeded in deciphering, the inhabitants of this ancient city, buried so many thousands of years, must have spent most of their time paying their taxes or trying to raise money with which to pay them.

"From what I have been able to learn thus far," said Prof. Xuraxa, "the people in Sheekarger were part of a vast tribe that inhabited the entire country between the two oceans and were governed by head men, who lived in the chief city, called Sloshingdon. A chosen body called Kongress kept continually in session making new taxing laws. The taxes became heavier and heavier, until finally the ancient Sheekargoans paid a tax on everything, not only on every piece of property they owned, including their shirts, but also for the privilege of walking on the sidewalk, crossing the street, and for such things as getting their hair cut or taking their regular Saturday night bath.

"The people became finally divided into two classes, the taxpayers and the tax collectors. For a time the division was equal, but as Kongress became more insistent for additional taxation all the people became tax collectors, and, as there was no one left to collect taxes from, they starved to death and their civilization became extinct."

RED CANDIDATE.

High in our elm tree a cardinal sits,
Making his treetop visit,
And this is his query before he flits,
"Who-IS-it, who-IS-it, who-IS-it?"
Then he answers himself from a neighboring tree,
"Whittlesey, whittlesey, whittles-see-ee!"

Now who IS Whittlesey? What is his virtue?
A friend of birds, who never will hurt you?
Does he brush the snow from his window sill
Is his dog a pal? Does he keep no cat?
Tell me, is Whittlesey just like that?

Are these the reasons, oh Cardinal-coat,
Why Whittlesey gets the Redbird vote?
Well, a fellow like that gets MY vote, too,
But how to find him* what shall I do?
The answer resounds from the topmost tree,
"Seek, seek Whittlesey, whittle-see!"
Then your campaign slogan rings loud and clear,
"Seed-wheat-Whittlesey! Cheer, cheer, cheer!"

ANCHUSA.

*No Whittlesey need apply for my vote unless he can show a Redbird affidavit, signed with a triangular footmark, proving he has complied with all Redbird conditions.

WELL, WE'RE GETTING ON. The W. C. T. U. girls of Philadelphia have approved the undraped statue of Diana that used to roost on Madison Square Garden in New York, and DI will do her stuff after this in Fairmount park. When the W. C. T. U. approves an unblushing and undressed hussy like that there Diana, then there is hope that some day they'll let us drink a glass of beer without sending us down, down, down to a dungeon cell.

AND NOW THE GIRLS are wearing detachable eyelashes. And when we were a small boy we used to be told when we did anything especially silly, "You'd better watch out or the fool killer will get you." Wonder what's become of that feller, anyhow?

"BELLE BAKER Sings for Radio on Train Traveling Between Washington and Baltimore." But which way was the train headed? Anybody would sing with sheer joy if the train was speeding towards Washington, but how could anybody burst forth in song if they knew that in a few minutes they were going to Baltimore.

NO CRAPE!

She loved him much—he broke her heart.
Her friend talked some and sympathized.
She laughed and said: Who gives a damn?
I'll have my heart revulcanized!"

FIRST AID FOR FRACTURES.

THE American College of Surgeons undertakes to standardize surgical methods whenever that is possible. The advantage of this undertaking is the decrease in the use of poor methods and poor surgery generally. It has a great tendency to stop surgeons from doing the right thing in the wrong way, and from doing the wrong thing. The disadvantage lies in a proneness to stop progress. Whenever anything is standardized further improvement is may come to a halt. Since nothing is perfect, the accepted way may be considerably different from the ultimate perfect.

The so-called standard methods are agreed on by committees appointed by the college. They are composed of men of wide experience. These men meet, discuss methods and experience, weigh evidence, discriminate between procedures, and, finally, make their recommendations. It is proper for the leaders to weigh the possibility that the achievement of the ultimate is hampered by the adoption of standards, by causing a changing something to set. On the other hand, the people with immediate problems, calling for an immediate service, are lucky in having standard procedures and in finding surgeons who will use them.

One of the subjects on which the college issues a report of standard procedures is fractures of bones. This is entitled, "The Principles and Outline of Fracture Treatment." The public is especially interested in that part of this report which deals with first aid in fracture cases.

The first and probably the most important bit of standardized advice is: When a fractured bone is reasonably suspected, splint it immediately. Except in the greatest emergency, such as removal from a burning building, the injured part should be splinted before there is any moving of the injured person, or much shifting of his position. Anybody can do the needed splinting. Any stiff material or object will answer the purpose—a walking cane, crutch, umbrella, board, piece of iron or leather, or even heavy cardboard. Any string or cloth will serve to tie the injured part to the protecting object. One should always act on reasonable suspicion. To await proof of fracture is unwise.

Whenever possible it is better to begin applying traction before removal, and as a part of the first aid treatment. This can be done with one of the Thomas splints. Pull is made by bandages fastened around the ankle, wrist, or other part, so as not to bind, and then passing over the crossbar of the splint. By using a nail to twist these bandages, a fair amount of traction can be made. The iron rods of the splint hold the limb in position and lessen the cutting effects of the jagged ends of the broken bone.

HE MUST HELP HIMSELF.

W. H. writes: We have seen several statements in newspapers recently that alcoholism is a disease and that it can be cured. We would like to have your advice on this question, without the knowledge of a friend and his family. This man, of middle age, is habitually addicted to the drinking of strong liquor, consuming a pint or more each day. He has a fine family and home and an excellent position, all of which he will lose unless his drinking can be stopped. Any information as to a cure or a curbing of this desire for liquor will be appreciated.

REPLY.

You will not accomplish anything worth while unless you have the coöperation of the drinker. Physicians can give him medicine that will cause him to vomit when he drinks. This will take away his appetite for a few days only. They can give him other medicines to eliminate the drug and "clean out the liver," as some say. That, too, has a temporary good effect. They can give other medicines to soothe and quiet while the man is climbing into a seat on the water wagon. But they cannot help much in making him stick to the seat. That requires coöperation, training, character, and, in many cases, religion.

SPLIT FINGER NAILS.

M. C. writes: 1. What causes my nails to split down to the cuticle?

2. My hands are very dry. Do they need oil?

REPLY.

1. Exposure to dry air is the most frequent cause. Working in grease, oil, dirt, and in soapy water or other chemicals are important causes.

2. Probably.

CAUSE OF SEED WARTS.

H. L. E. writes: What causes big seed warts to come on the head?

REPLY.

Warts have different causes. Many people think seed warts are due to bacteria. That variety of wart is somewhat contagious.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

DUE TO MALICIOUS DESTRUCTION.

Chicago, March 20.—[Friend of the People.]—For the past month almost every night the street lamps on Drummond place have been out. The proximity of several factories makes this situation one of great concern to every one in the block. Can you inform me why this street has been singled out for the purpose of saving on electricity? If there is a mechanical defect in the circuit, why not have some men put to work to restore the much needed illumination?

G. J.

It has been physically impossible for the department to keep these lights in service due to the malicious breakage of equipment on this particular street. However, necessary repairs will be made and the lights will again be in operation in the next day or two.

W. A. JACKSON,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

DEFAULTED BONDS.

Chicago, March 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am the holder of a $1,000 real estate first mortgage bond in default. I have been solicited by a bond owners' protective committee to deposit this bond with them for mutual benefit. 1. If I should refuse [knowing that a majority are deposited] could the committee, by majority rule, wipe out the value or the partial value of this bond by court action? 2. Could the committee effectively petition for court action when a majority of bonds are not deposited with them? 3. Could the committee proceed with any court action without personal service or notification to me? 4. What means could be taken to compel the committee to divulge names and addresses of other bond owners? 5. Would it be legal for me to file a notice in the recorder's office of Cook county that I am the owner and holder of the bond mentioned? 6. Would the fact that this particular property is registered under the Torrens system bar such notice? 7. I am not in possession of the Torrens certificate. E. A. M.

1. No, in the sense that you would share in the proceeds of the foreclosure sale. You would not share in possible profits that they might make on a subsequent resale of the building.

2. Presumably the trust indenture specifies what percentage must join in order to foreclose.

3. Yes, it seems probable that they do not have the address of all the bondholders.

4. They are under no legal obligation to give you this information.

5. Yes, but they are not obliged to search for such recorded notice.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

CHEFOO, Nov. 23.—Dispatches have been received here saying the Japanese captured Port Arthur on Nov. 21 after eighteen hours' fighting. The second Japanese army under command of Field Marshal Count Oyama, minister of war, consisted of about 30,000 men. It was divided into two detachments, one of which, aided by the Japanese fleet, operated against Talienwan while the other directed its movements against Kinchow, some nine miles north of Port Arthur. Both places were captured, after which the combined force marched on Port Arthur and took it.

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—It is learned the Japanese government has sent its reply to the note of United States Minister Dun asking whether a tender by the President of the United States of his good offices in the interest of restoring peace in the east would be agreeable to Japan. The ministry gave the matter consideration for several days and finally stated to Mr. Dun that, although the friendly sentiments which prompted the offer were deeply appreciated, the success of the Japanese arms had been such that China should approach Japan directly on the subject.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Japanese legation has received a dispatch which says: "The portion of the army under Marshal Yamagata attacked Hsiu Yen, where the enemy's force is reported to be 20,000, on Nov. 18, and succeeded in taking the place in three hours. The enemy fled in a northwest direction. Five cannons were captured."

MARCH 31, 1904.

LONDON.—The Nagasaki correspondent of the Express says the Japanese government is determined to succeed in blocking Port Arthur. It holds 28 old steamers ready for Admiral Togo's orders. They are stripped of everything except the machinery necessary for their navigation and will be dispatched six at a time to be sunk in the harbor. With the Port Arthur fleet bottled up Togo will be free to turn his attention to either Newchwang or to Vladivostok. A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Shanhaikwan says the Japanese expect to capture Newchwang from the land side within a week.

BUTTE, Mont.—F. A. Heinze, the copper magnate, and two of his mining superintendents were found guilty of contempt of the United States court for willfully violating three mining injunctions on the Michael Davitt and other mines. The injunctions were issued several years ago and Judge Beatty, who tried the cases, fined Heinze $20,000 and his superintendents $1,000 each. He directed that the fines be paid in court by 11 o'clock on the morning of March 31 or that the defendants be committed to jail at Helena.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Richard Strauss, the German composer, arrived in Chicago and for nearly three hours rehearsed the Chicago orchestra on the program of his own works which he is to direct at the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon and Saturday evening.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 31, 1916.

SAN ANTONIO.—Latest reports received here are confirmatory of the announcement that Francisco Villa's attack on the Mexican garrison at Guerrero, beginning on March 27, resulted in the killing of all the men in the garrison, numbering 172. Gen. Funston has unofficial information to this effect. At the head of a considerable force Villa was reported to be on the San Geronimo ranch or the Quemada ranch, and troops of both the United States and Mexico were believed to be closing in on him.

EL PASO.—Communication by rail and wire between Gen. Pershing's new base at Madera, Chihuahua, and his advance forces pursuing Villa was cut today, presumably by Villistas, who destroyed trackage and cut wires south of Madera. The exact location has not been determined. No supplies can be shipped or troops be moved by rail south of Madera until the break is repaired.

LEWES, Del.—A tall young German, giving his name as Ernest Schiller, is in the lockup here, charged with piracy for having captured a British ship with a crew of fifty-six men single handed on the high sea. Schiller stowed away on the British steamship Matopho in Hoboken. After the ship had cleared Sandy Hook lightship he made his way to the cabin of the captain and at the point of two revolvers, took charge of the vessel. He kept the captain prisoner in his cabin and proceeded to the wireless station, which he smashed. That he finally was captured and his plans frustrated, Schiller blames on four comrades in Hoboken who backed out and left him alone. He had ordered the ship headed back toward the Delaware coast and his capture was effected by the hoisting of a flag signaling the name of the vessel and saying "piracy." Capt. A. W. Conwell of the pilot boat Philadelphia saw the signals and in turn signaled to shore. Two coast guard vessels immediately started out and captured Schiller.

WASHINGTON.—A report current here states that Germany will abandon its U-boat war and accept President Wilson's interpretation of international law.

BANK FAILURES.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—A recent report from Washington shows a decrease in bank failures from 292 in January to 72 in February, which is good. But we read that in Canada, lying right alongside of us for 3,000 miles, there has not been a bank failure for years. Any system that can show such results should be studied by us and copied. INQUIRER.

FOR A SHORTER WORKING WEEK.

Chicago, March 21.—Your paper has done wonderfully and your editorial articles the last few months are right to the point; they show a personal feeling identical to those of us who are out of work. This feeling is very dangerous. We are all ready for any sacrifice, as we have nothing more to lose, and all we need is something to start the fireworks.

The business men or employers have it in their power, with very little cost to themselves, to prevent the coming catastrophe. By agreeing between themselves to reduce the working time of all of their employés, allowing them to earn only the money required for their current needs, and reëmploying workers with the required experience to bring the working force back to normal, this can be accomplished. This will stop hoarding and start buying; the present employed have just about ceased normal buying but the unemployed will buy if they can get a dollar to buy with.

A careful study of the three day week would show the great advantages of it to every one and is the logical remedy to take care of surplus labor created by our modern conditions.

THE TRIBUNE files in the years 1915 and 1916 will show that Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison predicted that in not more than ten years (from that time) labor must shorten its working week to three or not more than four days. If Henry Ford would incorporate this idea in his present plans to employ 100,000 people by summer he would succeed in raising the depression he predicted. AL KRAUSE.

A VOLSTEAD MORATORIUM.

Chicago, March 28.—Now that the moratorium idea seems to be a popular one, why not arrange a moratorium on the Volstead and enforcement laws for a period of one year? If the drys are really sincere they should be willing to give this a trial, in view of the growing sentiment against these laws; then if after one year of beer and wine, and regulated distilleries of whisky, with the revenue derived from them applied to the expenses of the government, it should be apparent that conditions would not improve from what they now are—that is, socially, morally, financially, and every other way—let the Volstead and enforcement acts again be put in force with teeth that would really mean something, and dry the country up for good.

There may not be a precedent for suspending an amendment to the constitution, but there is always a way to do things extraordinary, and especially at a time like this when the whole structure of government seems to be tottering.

RUDY BUT NOT MRS. MOONEY.

Madison, Wis., March 26.—Why does THE TRIBUNE fail to comment editorially when the Rudy Vallees are received at the White House and old lady Mooney is not? How about an editorial on what the reception to Mrs. Mooney would have been had Al Smith been in Hoover's place?

EXPENSES.

Midlothian, Ill., March 24.—Why, O, why, cannot such expense items as telephone, electricity, gas, fuels, rent, payments on homes, etc., be reduced 10, 25 or 50 per cent just as salaries are being reduced all over?

FLORENCE A. TANNER.

Westmont, Ill., March 24.—The camel has come on evil days. At one time his masters had been gentle and loving and cared for him tenderly, and he grew and waxed strong, and he labored cheerfully for his masters and brought them great wealth and happiness. And as his fame grew it reached the ears of the king, and the king called his counselors and to them said, "This camel hath brought much comfort and prosperity to those his masters, and is much beloved by them. Therefore, be it decreed that this camel be presented to all my people, that they likewise shall be comforted." And this was made into a law of the land. And the camel labored mightily for his many masters, but the labor was so great that he grew thin and feeble, and at this time a great famine fell on the land, and many disorders. And many of the king's people said, Is this the beast our lord the king said would bring us comfort and prosperity? Lo, his knees scarce bear his trembling body. And they blamed the camel for their misfortunes. And they said, "Return this camel to his first masters, and give us in his place the wild jackass, whose strength is great, and we will help us bear our burdens." R. W. SHEA WIN.

THE NEGRO FAMILY IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 23.—Whoever reviewed "The Negro Family in Chicago," by E. Franklin Frazier [University of Chicago Press], on Feb. 27, 1932, either maliciously intended to deceive the readers of THE TRIBUNE or did not read any part of the book or was too feeble minded to understand the subject matter.

This entirely erroneous review states that Dr. Frazier holds that "slavery was better than urban life for the Negro." On the contrary, Dr. Frazier has repeatedly shown in his book that the crises through which the Negro has passed during emancipation and northward migrations have became opportunities for the more energetic and intelligent Negroes to escape from the condition of the masses and to improve their economic as well as their cultural status. Moreover, the author has shown that the urban environment furnishes a favorable situation for the Negro to improve his economic and general social status.

Furthermore, the economic status of the Negro was irrelevant to the subject of his book, which was concerned chiefly with the question of family disorganization among Negroes. M. J. BYRD.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTION.

Chicago, March 25.—Why is it that the White Sox ball park as well as the Cubs do not install a few drinking fountains so that the people that spend money to go to see the teams play could at least have one of the cheapest things of all, a drink of water? The fact is, so that the patron will be forced to buy soda or near beer and, if he has not the price, necessarily must endure the thirst. A BASEBALL FAN.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE.

Chicago, March 28.—My husband is a city employé and has had a cut in salary. I am not complaining about that as every one has received a cut, but we can't even get our salary when due because the city has not got it to pay out. I signed a lease before we got the cut and since then I have fallen behind in my rent four months. I have spoken to the agent and asked him to reduce my rent or give me a cheaper flat, and he said he would take it up with the landlord.

Last Monday I received a five day notice and as I had never received one before I called on several real estate men. I was informed the owner of the building and also the manager of the building have their taxes under protest. They don't pay their taxes; we don't get our salary; but they want their rent. TENANT.

BUT DON'T BUY ANY LOW-PRICED CAR UNTIL YOU'VE DRIVEN THE NEW PLYMOUTH WITH FLOATING POWER"

"It is my opinion that any new car without Patented Floating Power is obsolete."

A Statement by Walter P. Chrysler

THOUSANDS of people have been waiting expectantly until today before buying a new car. I hope that you are one of them.

Now that the new low-priced cars are here (including the new Plymouth which will be shown on Saturday) I urge you to carefully compare values.

This is the time for you to "shop" and buy wisely. Don't make a deposit on any automobile until you've actually had a demonstration.

It is my opinion that the automobile industry as a whole has never offered such values to the public.

In the new Plymouth we have achieved more than I had ever dared to hope for. If you had told me two years ago that such a big, powerful, beautiful automobile could be sold at the astonishing prices we will announce on Saturday . . . I'd have said it was absolutely impossible.

I have spent my life building fine cars. But no achievement in my career has given me the deep-down satisfaction that I derive from the value you get in this 1932 Plymouth. To me, its outstanding feature is Floating Power. We already know how the public feels about this. Last summer it was news, but today it is an established engineering achievement.

It is my opinion, and I think that of leading engineering authorities, that any new car without Floating Power is obsolete. Drive a Plymouth with Patented Floating Power, and note its utter lack of vibration . . . then drive a car with old-fashioned engine mountings and you will understand what I mean. There's absolutely no comparison.

We have made the Plymouth a much larger automobile. It is a BIG car. We have increased its power, lengthened the wheelbase and greatly improved its beauty.

In my opinion you will find the new Plymouth the easiest riding car you have ever driven. Yet with all these improvements we have been able to lower prices.

Again let me urge you, go and see the new Plymouth with Floating Power on Saturday. Be sure to look at all THREE low-priced cars and don't buy any until you do. That is the way to get the most for your money.

WAGE PACT ENDS TODAY; ILLINOIS MINES TO CLOSE

30 Day Suspension to Tie Up State Fields.

The existing contract between the Illinois Coal Operators' association and the Illinois district of the United Mine Workers expires at midnight tonight with a shutdown of all mines in the state a probability.

JOSEPH D. ZOOK.

Doubt that a tentative wage scale could be formulated today was expressed last night by Joseph D. Zook, president of the operators' association. The consensus of the operators is that a 30 day shutdown, not to be considered as a lockout or a strike, would be ordered.

Begin Closing Today.

Reports from downstate last night stated that preparations are being made for several of the mines to suspend operations this afternoon. Mines in Fulton county have been operating 24 hours a day during the past week in preparation for the expected shut down.

"A statement will be issued this afternoon," Mr. Zook said, "in which we will outline our future action. Our program will be governed by whether the subcommittee makes a report to the scale committee today."

The drafting of a tentative wage scale for a new contract is now in the hands of a subcommittee of two operators and two union representatives. Even if this subcommittee should reach an agreement this morning and makes an acceptable report to the general scale committee during the day, it was stated that a new contract could not be signed within the time limit. The union officials, led by John Walker, district president, are not empowered to sign for the union.

Vote Will Take Week.

Following acceptance of a tentative scale by the conference the contract must be referred to a referendum vote of the union membership. According to union officials a week would be needed for this.

Indications are that a referendum vote would turn down any contract providing for a reduction of wages. The operators have presented figures to show that without a wage reduction the Illinois field cannot hope to compete with foreign fields.

Due to the illness of Walker the subcommittee did not meet yesterday but will reconvene this morning. One union official, speaking informally, said, "the committee tomorrow morning will probably just shake hands and call it a day."

Union leaders proceeded yesterday to formulate their program in the light of no agreement today. The district policy committee passed a resolution that any mine that wished to continue tentatively under the existing contract may do so.

Call Strike of 25,000.

Columbus, O., March 30.—(AP)—A strike of all coal miners not under contract in Ohio and the West Virginia panhandle, effective April 1, was called by representatives of the United Mine Workers of America at a meeting here tonight.

Lee Hall, president of District 6, United Mine Workers, said the call would be answered by approximately 25,000 miners, including 12,000 already idle as a result of a wage dispute.

The union chiefs announced their decision after the mine owners had ignored an invitation to attend a joint conference here today, called to settle the present strike which had its inception in the Hocking valley field where the operators put into effect a reduced wage scale of $3 a day for laborers and 38 cents a ton for loaders.

ALL OF BERLIN'S 8,350 TAXICABS PUT ON HALF TIME

BERLIN, March 30.—(AP)—Only half of Berlin's 8,350 taxicabs may cruise the city's streets on the same day under regulations intended to remedy the drivers' economic plight and at the same time relieve the traffic congestion.

Taxis bearing odd numbered license plates are permitted to work from one midnight to the next, then must rest while the taxis bearing even numbered licenses work for 24 hours.

Because of general conditions taxi revenues have fallen considerably. The average income per cab is estimated at 700 marks [about $165] a month. The Berlin taxicabs haul an average of 200,000 persons a day.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

NEW FORD EIGHT TO SELL AT $460 F. O. B. DETROIT

Price of 4 Cylinder Car $50 Lower.

BY HAL FOUST.

The prices on the new Fords were announced last night as the opening shot in a battle to revive the automobile business. The eight cylinder cars will have a base price of $460 F. O. B. Detroit, while the new and improved four cylinder cars will sell for $50 less.

The new four cylinder Fords will cost $40 less than the old models, while the eight cylinder machines will be priced approximately $10 higher than the old fours. The prices were announced by W. K. Edmunds, general manager of the Chicago branch. He said that the new cars will be on display at dealer show rooms today.

"We will add 2,000 men to the pay rolls of the Chicago plant in the next thirty days, so that deliveries can be started promptly," he said. "Former employé only are being hired.

Other Companies Active.

General Motors and the Chrysler corporations will also plunge into activity this week-end. Chrysler is to announce the new Plymouth, and General Motors on Saturday noon will open an exhibition in the Merchandise Mart, Wells street and the river.

"The next week or two," said R. G. Tiffany, president of the Chicago Auto Trade association and chairman of the General Motors show, "will determine the future of America's largest maunfacturing industry, furnishing jobs to a tenth of the nation's gainfully employed.

"With this crisis, the industry is not sitting idly waiting for a change in the times. Everybody is fighting. The manufacturers have invested tens of millions in putting out new cars. General Motors alone is spending $2,000,000 on its special exhibition in Chicago and fifty-four other cities. It demonstrates courageous and aggressive leadership in battling the depression.

Expect Market Indications.

"With the new cars on the market, there is no longer an excuse for delaying the purchase of a new car. We'll know within a week or so whether the future will be better or worse than the last few months.

"Mayor Cermak, realizing the economic significance of the automobile campaign, will deliver an address opening the General Motors show on Saturday. Bus companies, air lines and railroads will have excursions. Eight well known orchestras have been engaged for the week. A Chevrolet and other prizes will be given away. We expect attendance to exceed 100,000."

ACT TO RESTRICT BILLBOARDS ON ROADS TO FAIR

Fox Valley Federation to Fight Unsightliness.

The Fox Valley federation, at a meeting in Geneva yesterday afternoon, took steps to protect the highways radiating west from Chicago from being cluttered with billboards and irresponsible roadside venders during the World's Fair next year. At the meeting were leading citizens of Geneva, Aurora, St. Charles, Elgin, Batavia, and Wheaton.

The federation decided to exert its influence in behalf of three measures to save the landscape from defilement and guard visitors against fly-by-night peddlers.

Seek Aid of Governor.

Gov. Emmerson will be asked to include in a new call for the special session of the legislature a county zoning bill, permitting the counties to regulate through ordinances the use of private property abutting highways. Billboards, gasoline stations, and hot dog stands would be barred from certain areas just as they are restricted by city zoning ordinances.

A second activity of the federation will be to appeal to the highway department to be more strict in issuing permits for private driveways off highway rights of way. This would reduce the number of barbecue and other vending stands along the roads to the World's Fair.

The third plan decided on is to seek voluntary agreements of property owners not to lease their land for billboards or undesirable roadside merchandising. E. A. Keplar, secretary of the federation, said that many property owners have already signed such agreements.

Urges Protection of Visitors.

The meeting received a telegram from Lester Norris of St. Charles, president of the federation, who is in California. He said the World's Fair visitors must be protected against "selfish interests of those who may seek to soak them instead of providing for their welfare."

Benjamin P. Alschuler of Aurora, who presided, predicted that approximately 15,000 motorists en route to and from the fair will pass through the Fox river valley daily during the exhibition, spending approximately $1,000,000 in the area.

ALTERS PLEA FOR DIVORCE FROM FOLLIES GIRL

A tentative arrangement by which George M. Wattles, district manager of a coal company, will get a divorce from Mrs. Tyral Wattles, former Follies beauty, on grounds of desertion, was made yesterday after a two hour conference in the chambers of Judge Craig Hood of the Circuit court.

Wattles testified on Tuesday in his suit for divorce, charging his wife with adultery and cruelty. He asserted that she threatened his life, and carried on an affair with Pedro Mendez, a 190 pound Spanish teacher. Wattles weighs 140 pounds.

A property settlement was discussed at the attorneys' conference yesterday with Judge Hood, and at its close the judge announced that Wattles would amend his bill to charge desertion and would present further evidence within three days for a ruling on the decree.

Mrs. Wattles then took the witness stand. Questioned by Attorney Ben Davis, she made a blanket denial of all the charges which her husband and detectives had made against her.

CITY EMPLOYE ENDS LIFE UNDER WACKER DRIVE

Mannassa Hecht, 51 years old, of 8824 Michigan avenue, shot and killed himself last night on the lower level of Wacker drive, 100 feet east of the La Salle street bridge. Records list a man of that name as a clerk in the city water bureau.

In the victim's pockets, detectives found a note addressed to his wife, Bertha, and signed Manny. The note stated that "our vault is 5630, and all information is there." There was some mention of canceled checks, and a closed bank account, and a request for forgiveness. "It is best for all," concluded the message. On the man's vest was pinned a star issued by the water bureau of the department of public works.

CHIEF OF POLAND ASSUMES POWER OF DICTATORSHIP

President and Aids to Rule by Decree.

WARSAW, March 30.—(AP)—Government by presidential decree was inaugurated in Poland today at a conference between President Ignace Moscicki and all of the nation's premiers since Marshal Joseph Pilsudski came into power.

The sejm [parliament] made rule by decree possible before it adjourned two weeks ago when it passed a measure empowering the president to issue administrative decrees during parliamentary recesses.

Cannot Inaugurate Taxation.

The former premiers and the present premier, Alexander Prystor, met with the president at his nearby summer home to advise him in governmental matters. Similar sessions will be held each month.

Those attending included Prof. Casimir Bartel, Col. Walery Slawek and Casimir Switalski.

The recent parliamentary decree bill permits the president also to issue decrees concerning unification of laws and regulation of economic and financial affairs. Matters concerning foreign loans, monetary affairs or taxation are excluded from the president's new powers.

Law Good for Three Years.

The law covers a period of three years, and decrees on economic and financial affairs may be issued only during the present recess of the sejm, which lasts until October.

At the time the measure was passed the opposition declared that the bill, which was inspired by the government, destroyed parliamentary government.

LOCK MONGOVEN IN CELL TILL HE FINDS BONDSMAN

Leo Mongoven, gangster and public enemy, who had been reported dead, surrendered yesterday at the Criminal court building on an old charge of carrying concealed weapons and was locked up in the county jail. He spent several hours in a cell until a $10,000 bond was arranged and he was freed.

The trip to jail took the gangster by surprise. Accompanied by his attorney, Milton Smith, and a representative of the Public Indemnity company, a bonding concern, Mongoven appeared before Judge John Prystalski hoping to be freed at once.

Judge Prystalski refused to sign the $10,000 bond presented by the indemnity concern. "I ordered an investigation of this company several weeks ago," said the judge, "and I want to be sure the bond is all right."

Judge Prystalski said the indemnity company had not paid the $10,000 bond which was forfeited by Ernest Levy, convicted of the $100,000 jewel robbery in the home of Lawrence J. Stern, wealthy Glencoe resident.

The bonding company is incorporated in New Jersey. It was pointed out that since the passage of the professional bond law, the Public Indemnity company has obtained acceptance of more than $400,000 worth of bonds on behalf of defendants in criminal cases.

After Judge Prystalski's action and Mongoven had gone to jail, James Alex, 2604 Wentworth avenue, a restaurant owner, appeared to scehdule property on the gangster's bond. The bond department of the state's attorney's office found that the property was clear and Judge Prystalski then agreed to sign the bond.

The gun toting charge is almost two years old. Mongoven is alleged to have tried to use a gun to force officials of the Madison-Kedzie Trust and Savings bank to pay him $5,000 for bonds worth half that much.

Railroad Matron Retires Today at the Age of 70

Mrs. Mary Lyons, 70 years old, will spend her last day in the nursery at the North Western station today before retiring from the service of the Chicago and North Western railroad. Starting to work for the railroad as a matron in the old Wells street passenger station in 1896, Mrs. Lyons is one of the few women to reach the age of retirement with the road. She lives at 4828 North Karlov avenue.

MILK DEALERS PREPARE WAGE PACT DEMANDS

Chicago milk distributors met behind closed doors at the La Salle hotel yesterday to prepare demands they will make of the milk wagon drivers and inside dairy workers when negotiations for a new wage agreement for the Chicago area are opened in the next few days.

John Laue, president of Union Dairy company and chairman of the Chicago Milk Dealers' association, stated that his organization of smaller milk companies would join the large dairy company officials in the conference with union leaders. Robert Fitchie, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, will head the committee of drivers and dairy plant operators.

The negotiations will center about demands of the dealers for reduced wage scales, it was intimated, as the five-year contract between dealers and the unions expires April 30.

SCHUMANN-HEINK ILL AT HOSPITAL IN STEVENS POINT

Stevens Point, Wis., March 30.—[Special.]—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, grand opera contralto, who came here today to visit her granddaughter, arrived suffering with bronchitis and laryngitis and was immediately taken to St. Michael's hospital.

Her physician, Dr. Erick Wisiol tonight said her condition was such that it was necessary to guard against pneumonia and that she would be unable to keep an engagement in St. Louis next week. She probably will be unable to leave the hospital for a week, he said.

The grand opera singer, who is 70 years old, came alone to visit Mrs. Ferdinand Hirzy, her granddaughter, and Mr. Hirzy, a jeweler here. Mr. Hirzy also is a patient at the hospital, recovering from an operation.

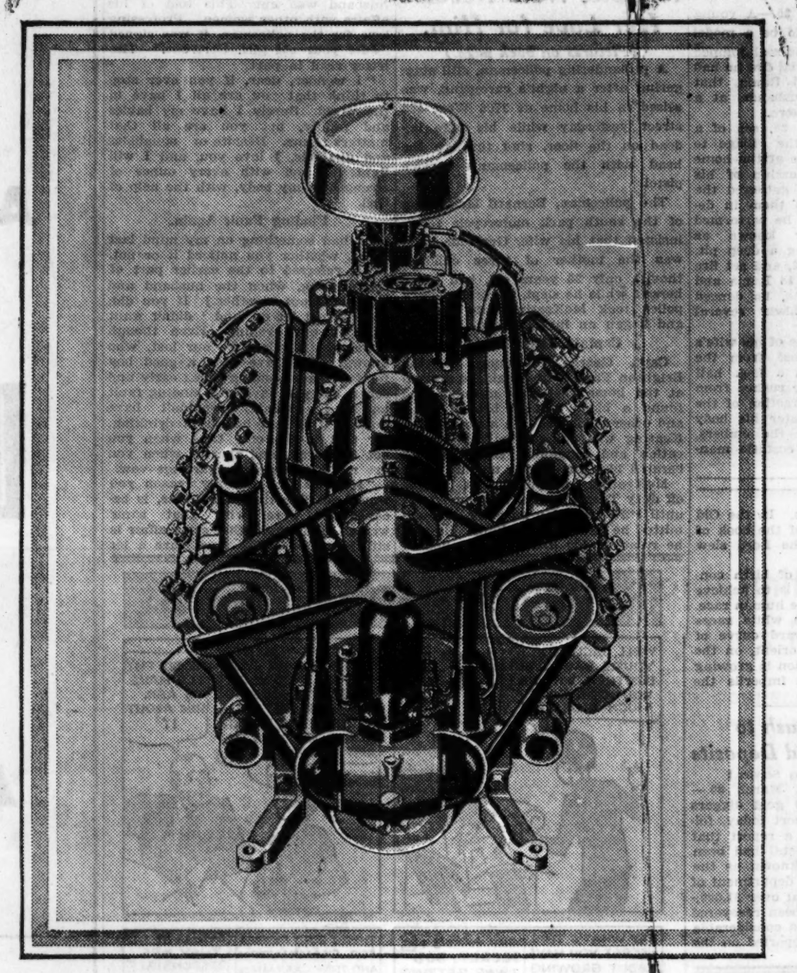
The New Ford V-8 Cylinder



THE INTRODUCTION of the New Ford Eight marks one of the most important events in the history of the automobile. To millions of motorists it brings a wholly new standard of value in a low-price car.

When you see the New Ford Eight and drive it, you will realize that it is the complete answer to your motoring needs. Here are beauty and safety and comfort. Here are exceptional speed and acceleration, the smooth-flowing power of an eight-cylinder engine, reliability and economy. Here are silent second speed and silent synchronized gear shifting. Here, in a word, is all you desire in a motor car at an unusually low price.

The beautiful New Ford V-8 is now on display in this city. There is also an improved Ford four-cylinder 50-horse-power engine operating with new smoothness. It is available in the same fourteen body types as the V-8.

HOPE FOR SCHOOL AND CITY PAYDAY BEFORE WEEK-END

Mayor Hopes to Market More Warrants.

Prospects were bright yesterday for city and school employés to get another two weeks' pay sometime this week, probably on Friday or Saturday. Officials would make no positive statements on the matter, however.

Attorneys for the school board after a conference with City Controller Szymcak stated that they hoped to get funds for school salaries from the city probably tomorrow. If the funds are forthcoming, the pay rolls to be met will be those for the first half of January, Attorney Thomas V. Sullivan said.

Must Sell Warrants.

To make the pay rolls possible, Mayor Cermak will have to succeed in his negotiations to sell another batch of 1930 tax warrants, now held by the city, to loop banks. He has been optimistic regarding such a sale for several days, and has urged school teachers not to take part in the proposed parade in the loop on April 9, being organized by the Chicago Teachers' federation. He said such a demonstration would interfere with plans for getting money from the banks.

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday approved the recommendation of Master in Chancery John C. Lewe that the school board be permitted to exchange small denomination tax warrants for the $8,960,955 worth of script which it issued last summer.

Interest Not Decided.

An important phase of the exchange, the matter of interest on the scrip, was not covered in Judge Finnegan's order, and is to be the subject of further hearings before the master in chancery. The scrip, which at present is practically nonnegotiable, was issued to bear interest at 6 per cent. The question to be decided is whether the tax warrants, when exchanged for it, shall bear interest from the date when the holders received their scrip, or from the date on which the scrip was exchanged for warrants.

The master in chancery, in his hearings on the subject, will also take into consideration the question of whether teachers who refused to accept the scrip for their unpaid salaries shall receive interest on the back salaries.

County Workers Paid.

County employés yesterday received their pay checks for the last half of November. In addition, mothers' pension checks for the last half of December were mailed out and December jurors were paid for their services. About $500,000 was paid out for these obligations, the money being made available through the purchase by banks of $450,000 in 1931 tax anticipation warrants and through county fee revenue.

SIX DIE, 40 HURT IN FIRE STARTED BY FILM BLAST

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

ZAGREB, Jugo-Slavia, March 30.—Six persons were killed and forty were severely injured when an apartment house was destroyed by a fire caused by a film explosion in the offices of the Star Film company late last night.

On the second floor of the building, which was one of the largest in Zagreb, the manager and two employés of the company were developing films that had just been made by the German actor, Willy Forst. Suddenly the negatives caught fire and the flames spread so rapidly that the panic stricken occupants of the laboratory fled to the street without having time to spread the alarm.

A few minutes after the fire started 100 rolls of films exploded, blowing out the walls and floor of the second story. The wall of a coffee house on the lower floor of the building fell in, crushing several patrons. Many of the occupants of the apartments jumped to the street, breaking their legs, arms, or necks.

BIRTH CONTROL IS DEBATED BY RABBI AND JUDGE

Foe Calls it Contrary to Divine Law.

Superior Judge John P. McGoorty, the father of eight children, and Rabbi Louis L. Mann, father of two, debated the moral, economic, and social aspects of birth control last night before an audience of 400 at the Washington boulevard temple. Dr. Mann, an officer of the Birth Control League of America, defended the practice.

"Let me define birth control," Dr. Mann began. "It does not mean race suicide, nor abortion, nor companionate marriage, nor sex promiscuity. It does not necessarily mean small families. It does mean that each couple shall have the number of children they desire. It means that children shall come into the world by choice, not by chance.

Cites Tuberculosis Figures.

"Statistics prove that in nine out of ten cases of tuberculosis the victim was the fourth, fifth, or sixth child born in a family. These were children of the poor, born into families where the father could neither provide proper food or shelter.

"Such conditions work an equal hardship on the mother. I have found in New England cemeteries the grave of some Puritan father surrounded by the graves of twelve to twenty children. Among those graves were those of two, three or four wives, mothers who died prematurely under the strain of bearing too many children."

Five Clinics Here.

More children remain alive with birth control than without it, the rabbi asserted. Eighty-five per cent of the married couples of this country practice it, he declared. He added that Chicago has five birth control clinics and promised to furnish the addresses of the clinics to any one in the audience asking for them.

"There is nothing against birth control morally," the rabbi maintained. "Neither the Old nor the New Testament says anything against it."

Judge McGoorty challenged the accuracy of the rabbi's statistics. He declared birth control was contrary to the laws of nature and hence contrary also to divine law.

Says Idea Is Not New.

"The idea of birth control is not new," the judge asserted, "although its proponents have lately sought to give it some new twists. In the Old Testament, chapter 38 of the book of Isaiah, we read that the Lord slew Onan for practicing it.

"The ultimate effect of birth control, as statistics show, is to achieve the gradual decline of the human race. Everywhere among the white races now there is a downward curve of the birth rate. In the orient, on the other hand, the population is growing rapidly. Birth control imperils the white race."

BRAHMIN LEAPS INTO FIRE HE BUILT FOR RAMA, HUSBAND GOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KUMBAKONAM, Madras Presidency, India, March 30.—A young Brahmin who wanted to be a model husband, in an excess of zeal jumped to his death in a sacrificial fire he had prepared for the god Rama, that model for all Hindu husbands, at a village 16 miles from here.

Rangaswami Iyengar, 28, son of a local official, went to the village to visit his 12 year old wife at the home of her parents. In worship of his favorite god, Rama, he gathered the villagers and instructed them in devotional dancing. Then he performed a sacrificial ceremony known as "vana yagam." He dug a deep pit, filled it with much wood, and set fire to it. Chanting hymns to Rama and shouting the god's name, he danced around the roaring blaze several times.

After going to the home of his wife's parents he suddenly rose from the evening meal and with a look half troubled and half fanatic rushed from the house and in the direction of the glowing pit. A little later his body was found roasting on the embers, his hands folded in an ecstatic manner.

4,000 Chileans Rush to New Found Gold Deposits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, March 30.—Two shiploads of 4,000 gold diggers and washers left this port today, following confirmation of a report that large deposits of the metal had been found near Andacollo, known as the "sacred village," in the department of Coquimbo. Ore valued at over $1,000,000 is claimed to have been recovered in less than a week, and considerable contraband activity is reported on the Andean frontier.

CAROUSING COP QUIZZED AFTER WIFE IS SLAIN

Pathetic Note Reveals Her Love for Him.

A philandering policeman, still staggering after a night's carousing, was seized in his home at 2706 West 43d street yesterday while his wife lay dead on the floor, shot through the head with the policeman's service pistol.

The policeman, Bernard McKeating of the south park motorcycle force, insisted that his wife, Gertrude, who was the mother of three children though only 23 years old, had killed herself while he slept. Brighton Park police took McKeating into custody and began an investigation.

Captain Visits Home.

Capt. George O'Connor of the Brighton Park station said he arrived at the home yesterday morning and found a blood stained broken chair and other evidences of a struggle. McKeating was staggering from intoxication and mumbling that his wife berated him for staying out all night.

McKeating told police that he was off duty Tuesday night and stayed out until 9:30 yesterday morning. He admitted he had been drinking. He said he removed his gun from its holster and placed it in a bureau drawer when his wife began to nag him. Just as he was going to sleep, he said, he heard a shot and got up, to find his wife on the floor, dead.

Find Wife's Letter.

In McKeating's pocket the police found a letter written by his wife during the night, apparently while her husband was out. This told of his affairs with other women. Professing love for the policeman, it was signed "Just your old girl, Gertrude." The letter read in part:

"I wonder, dear, if you ever stop to think that you are all I have in the world. Surely I have my babies and family, but you are all that matters to me. Despite our squabbles and quarrels, I love you, and I will fight for you with every ounce of strength in my body, with the help of God.

Finding Fault Again.

"I had something on my mind last night, whether you noticed it or not. [This referred to the earlier part of the evening, when the husband and wife were out together.] If you did, you did not let on, and I didn't want to spoil our evening. Even though I thought it might be our last, who knows? You have been a good boy for four days, coming home early and sober, but you have been finding fault again. I probably wouldn't have noticed it if you had been drinking, for that is the only time when you act that way, and that is when you are not keeping your marriage vow.

"Now, daddy, the only reason you would act like that, I suppose, is because you were with that same woman, and maybe that same affair is still going on. You must care a lot for her or you would not leave me home on your day off and go out with her."

The policeman is 28 years old and his three children are Bernard Jr., 5 years old; Eileen, 3, and Marlene, 1½.

KINLEY ASSAILS COMMUNISM AS FOE OF LIBERTY

Champaign, Ill., March 30.—[Special.]—Dr. David Kinley, president emeritus of the University of Illinois, assailed communism at a public forum meeting here tonight. He spoke on "Economic Reform or Revolution." He declared there is no such right as unlimited freedom of speech and a community has as much right to protect itself against violent overthrow and destructive attacks as it has to quarantine against smallpox.

DR. DAVID KINLEY. [Moffett Photo.]

"Many causes are given for the present depression," Dr. Kinley said, "too much tariff, too much government interference, overproduction, under consumption, and so on. There is a certain truth in all of them, but the main cause is the contraction of credit and therefore of buying power caused by the breakdown of confidence."

The Butterfly—What It Means to Mrs. Baur

Tells Symbolism of Her Interesting Hobby.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

SINCE Mrs. Jacob Baur assumed the presidency of the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago three years ago there has been more than one suspicion that the butterfly might displace the elephant as the insignia of the Grand Old Party. The cause of these suspicions—Mrs. Baur's well known penchant for the lovely winged creatures.

From the little metal moth on the bell that announces callers at 1511 Astor street to the wing shaped ash tray in the topmost chamber, it is butterflies, butterflies everywhere—but all of them scattered so unobtrusively, so casually and unexpectedly. This is the delightful part of Mrs. Baur's hobby. The gay little insects never announce themselves. Instead, a guest has the fun of discovering them one after the other worked in the design of a needlepoint chair or an oriental carpet, engraved in the metal of a picture frame, or molded into the handles of a set of demi-tasse cups. Again they may be the background for monograms in linen hand towels, the ornament on Mrs. Baur's hat or slippers, or the pattern for the lining of her wrap.

Tells Symbolism of Butterfly.

The inspiration for this hobby will probably always remain a mystery, for Mrs. Baur declines to tell the story. "When there's something secret about a hobby it's so much more fun," she says. But the beginning must date back at least a few decades, for in Mrs. Baur's boudoir there is a portrait of her mother wearing a tiny butterfly ornament in her hair. The hobby, an inheritance, perhaps!

The symbolism of the butterfly Mrs. Baur gladly explains, for this to her is the important reason for pursuing the unusual interest. "There are three stages in the life of a butterfly—the caterpillar, the chrysalis, and the insect itself," Mrs. Baur points out. "We are the caterpillars crawling about the earth, the chrysalis is death, and the butterfly immortality. So you see my conception of the butterfly is quite a serious one, very different from a light minded idea that has to do with coquetry and frivolity."

This is the same interpretation the Greeks gave to the little moth, for they used the one word, "psyche," for both butterfly and soul. To them the delicate insect was the symbol of the soul, and often in their pictures death was shown in the image of a butterfly flitting from the dead man's lips—the soul leaving the body. As Mrs. Baur pointed out, the appropriateness of this conception is found in the life history of the butterfly whose emergence from an apparent death suggests strikingly the immortality of the soul.

Superstition May Be Source of Name.

Grimm of the famous "Tales" has endeavored to prove that the name "butterfly" as well as "milkthief," both of which in his time were applied to what scientists call by the noisier name of "lepidoptera," arose from an old superstition that elves and fairies used to disguise themselves as butterflies in order to steal milk and butter. It is more probable that the legend is the result rather than the cause—just one of the attempts to explain an otherwise inexplicable name.

A modern entomologist suggests a simpler derivation, however, for the term "butterfly." He attributes it to the jargon that was once used among English schoolboys by transposing the first letters of words. For instance, "spring day" became "ding spray," and the little moth, that was commonly called "flutter by," was easily transposed into "butterfly." How long ago this happened or whether the word forms at that time made the change possible are investigations that remain for some interested student to make.

Great Power of Flight.

While on the subject of butterflies, a little more curious information! Do you know that the largest butterfly, measuring from eight to ten inches across the wings, is found only in British New Guinea and that specimens are worth from $100 upward. The story goes that the naturalist who discovered it in the top of a tree brought it down with a shotgun, and was so impressed with the remaining fragments that he fitted out an expedition to hunt these butterflies. Most of the members of the company fell victims to the Papuan cannibals, but the specimens were rescued.

And one more interesting fact about the gay moths. The great orange red butterflies, with bold black bands and white dots, that come sailing along by the thousands in the summer migrate like birds in the fall. They fly all the way from Canada to Cuba to get into the sunny south for the winter. Most extraordinary of all, however, is the power they show on the wing. Sometimes they have been seen flying at sea as much as 500 miles from the land.

Good Morning!

A doctor, to an English judge, cried:
"Lordship, I'll not tell
The nature of defendant's plaint
Save that she was not well—
E'en though th' refusal puts me in Contempt, sir, of your court.
What ailed the lady at the bar
I never will report."
(That was one time.)
The doctor's son—a doctor, too—
Announced that he would wed
A maiden pure as driven snow.
"She's my ideal," he said.
The doctor father was aghast,
For better far knew he!
He'd been consulted by the maid
Once (confidentially).
Now was he in a quandary sore!
A secret violate?
Or let the apple of his eye
Wed an improper mate?
What think you—did the doctor
Make exception to his rule
And warn his son about the girl
The boy thought such a jew'l?
The answer I could give you, for
Said ans. I know full well;
But ne'er shall you learn from me IF
Doc told—or did NOT tell.
This English movie drags along
Un-in-ter-est-ing-ly.
Direction's ordinary, and
So's the photography.
The much accented dialogue
Is trite and hard to "get."
The acting? Most of you could
Do much better on a bet.
See you tomorrow!

Should Girl Pay for Tickets if Fellow Cannot?

She'd Like to Attend a Dance.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The girl is eager to attend a certain dance affair. The tickets are $2.50 a couple. There is a nice young man, a good dancer, the girl would like to invite as her escort. He has paid her some attention—not much. But he is not tied up with any other girl. Is it correct, she asks, for the girl to pay for the tickets or suggest when she is inviting the young man that they will cost two fifty?

While a good many girls do manage to wangle the young man into paying for the tickets under such circumstances, the proprieties would seem to favor the idea of the girl paying for them—and making no comment whatever about their cost. The man is to be left in doubt about whether they were gift tickets handed the girl by some one, or not.

It doesn't seem quite the right thing to extend an invitation unless you are shouldering the expense. Another way around is to throw out hints that there is to be such a party and await the young man's admission that he would enjoy attending it. In this event, his would be the ticket responsibility.

Of course, times have changed since Mamma was a flapper or its earlier generation equivalent. And since it is often impossible for a youth to stand expenses, and the only way a girl will get to a dance is by buying the tickets—well, who's to censor her? Many girls have this situation solved for them by helpful parents, parents who realize that boys have not the money to spend for their daughter's entertainment. They are perfectly and correctly willing to foot the bills.

At the current moment, with so many young men out of employment or on reduced salaries, the problem of paying for dance entertainment, or other entertainment, for that matter, becomes an acute one. I can't see why the girl who can afford to do so shouldn't, for her own entertainment's sake, handle the financial end. But it is well not to make any point of so doing with the boys.

If it is done, one thing must be remembered. It is that the girl is doing it for her own sake; therefore the boy is not under the obligation usually felt by the girl. That is, when he is in funds again, it must not be implied that automatically he should spend on the girl to wipe out an obligation.

Here is where most of the trouble comes in. The girl who is willing enough to pay so she can get around to amusement places insists on harboring the feeling that she is doing something for the young man which he should be appreciative enough to reciprocate.

Clever Girl Avoids Imitation; Finds Beauty Lies in Herself

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A relative of a certain young woman tells of what a terrible bore the latter is developing into, with her imitation of a much publicized screen star. The situation would be laughable if it hadn't become the living passion of this young woman to look as nearly like her screen crush as coiffure, walk, gesture, eyebrow shaping, and mannerisms can make her. Every photograph ever sent out by the star's publicity bureau the girl owns. She goes time and again to the same picture her idol appears in, just to study and imitate her.

The pathetic part is that the screen person is as different in physique, coloring, personality, everything, as any one woman could differ from another. A bit nutty, what? But screen beauty influence sometimes work that way. And to a certain extent, perhaps, it is all right.

But this particular young lady of the mad apeing has qualities of her own that would sell her much more successfully as a good looker. Usually that is the case. Imitating, unless you are going to make a living out of it on the stage, is not to be recommended. In the process one's own personality suffers extinction.

Another reason for avoiding it is that no girl need imitate today. Each one has such a world of possibilities at her own door she can develop her own manner, her own movements, her own coiffure style, her own type of dress—and be a distinctive figure in her own world if she wants to.

Anyway, it is best to be yourself. There is a charm about being natural that cannot be duplicated. Affectation of any kind is not an attractive asset. Being natural does not mean being commonplace. Every one has tremendous possibilities for developing a reasonably colorful personality of her own. And it is far more fun to be original and interesting than to be a dull little imitation of some one else. Also, it is more pictorial.

It is, after all, with YOUR feelings and YOUR spirit that you develop personality.

Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels Visit Chicago on Way West

Ben Lyon and his wife, Bebe Daniels, both of the films, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania railroad, en route from New York to Hollywood. Commenting on reports of kidnaping threats directed against their baby, they said their home is well protected with iron bars and the child is closely guarded.

Former Valerie French and Husband Visit U. S.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The former Valerie French, granddaughter of the late Field Marshal French, and her husband Lord Brougham and Vaux arrived on the liner Majestic today for a month's visit with friends. She broke off her engagement to Bradley Martin, socially prominent New Yorker, and married Lord Brougham eleven months ago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—The secretary of the treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills were hosts at dinner this evening. Their guests included the secretary of war and Mrs. Hurley, the attorney general and Mrs. Mitchell, the secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Hyde, the secretary of labor and Mrs. Doak, Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Arthur A. Ballantine, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. St. George, sister of Mrs. Mills, and the latter's daughter, Miss Dorothy Fell.

The Norwegian minister and Mme. Bachke entertained at dinner this evening. The party was planned for the secretary of state and Mrs. Stimson, but they have canceled their engagements because of Mr. Stimson's illness. Among tonight's guests were the Italian ambassador and Donna Antoinette de Martino, the Peruvian ambassador, Senor De Freyre; the counselor of the German embassy and Frau Leitner, the counselor of the Austrian legation and Baroness Hauenschild, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Harvey H. Bundy, Miss Mabel Boardman, and the secretary of the Norwegian legation and Mme. Offerdahl, and the attaché, Mr. Mohr.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, H. Townsend Bradley Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dun Douglass are at Pasadena.

Mrs. Childs Frick gave a luncheon yesterday for her daughters, Miss Adelaide and Miss Frances Frick.

Y. W. C. A. Industrial Clubs Will Present Pageant on Health

"The Machine Age," a modernistic health review, will be presented by the Y. W. C. A. industrial girls' clubs from all parts of the city this evening at the west side branch at 101 South Ashland boulevard. By means of tap dances and pantomime the girls, all of whom are workers in Chicago industrial plants, will interpret the machine rhythm of modern industrial life.

Health problems of industrial workers will be shown through a gymnastic demonstration illustrating the bad health habits that may be acquired through routine work at machines and how they may be overcome. The review has been directed by Miss Muriel Kingsley, health education secretary of the industrial department.

Nagel Defends Chicago's Reputation in Talk Here

"Hollywood and Chicago have much in common because both have been maligned without justification," Conrad Nagel, film star, asserted yesterday. Nagel spoke before members of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a luncheon at the Hotel La Salle. "We hear all over the world tales of Chicago's crime just as we hear of unwarranted scandals concerning figures in Hollywood," said Nagel. "I am sure that Chicago is lower in crime actualities than Los Angeles."

New Costume Jewelry Smart and Correct

BY RHEA SEEGER.

IT takes a strong, unchanging mind and a good stiff neck to walk past all the new spring displays of costume jewelry, and keep away. Luckily, few of us even try to resist such colorful temptation . . . most of us start a shopping expedition with a lot of handicaps, such as a list of absolute necessities and a scandalously small sum to spend, but such shopping invariably ends with the listed necessities set aside as luxuries and costume jewelry well at the top of the list as indispensable.

Baubles, gewgaws, or whatever the unimaginative dub them, costume jewelry still is as colorfully correct and complementary for every costume you wear as your carefully chosen hat, hose, and gloves.

There isn't anything in the way of materials that these clever designers have overlooked . . . wood, common grocery string, buttons, hooks and eyes, and one nautical minded person cut up sponges and designed some of the best looking beach "jewelry" that was ever worn on either sea or land. Any fashion-wise shopper will joyfully acknowledge that colorful costume jewelry invariably makes the best ensembles of their wardrobes. Of course the exceedingly modest prices on all, even the most intricate designs, has caused much of the success and increasing popularity.

Design Jewelry for Each Model.

Most of the great French dress designers have in the last few years also designed costume jewelry especially for their own models . . . Patou revives bangled bracelets this spring . . . thin gold bands with paper-thin golden discs . . . and you wear as many of these as you can get on your arm.

You'll probably know by now that this is a year to buy bracelets . . . you can't have too many . . . you can wear them till you clank when you move but don't let the noise stop you, for bracelets are the smartest accessory for spring. One shop has a line of wooden bracelets . . . they are sold in sets of four and the colors are simply gorgeous for contrast . . . for your brown frocks you can use pale citron yellow, jade green, henna, and tobacco brown . . . for the blues you can select orange, red, white, and deep blue, while with black you must have scarlet, green white, and yellow.

Clips Click with Dresses.

And how clips are clicking with the smartest new dresses . . round, square, oblong metal gadgets, that in many cases do double duty as expert fasteners and shining bits of color contrast. Letter clips are used on belts, hats, bags, and necklines with equal telltale smartness. S clips are still with us . . . undoubtedly they were the first letter that best described the powerful possibilities of initialed swank for decoration.

The newest hit on the great white way of costume jewelry is polished ivory, and it's real elephant ivory, at prevailing new low prices that will start a good rush for the counters where it is displayed.

Huge button earrings are smart and new but their wide diameters will startle as well as thrill . . . bobby-ball earrings are, as you surmise, the ball variety that hangs well down below the edges of your bobbed locks. And you're just days ahead of new fashion news when you wear the thirty inch necklaces, because chokers are going out of the picture, due to the new high necklines that leave very little room for these tight chokers . . . the knowing fashion shopper wears the newer length to break the broadened expanse of the blouse.

Woman's Club to Give Minstrel Show Tonight

The Chicago Woman's club will present a minstrel show this evening in the club theater at 72 East 11th street. Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton, chairman of the play committee, will be interlocutrix. One of the features of the program will be a Florodora Sextette number by sons and daughters of club members.

Junior League of Evanston to Give Shows

Two Puppet Performances Announced.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Junior league of Evanston, which always is doing something interesting, is planning two puppet performances for April, the first on Saturday of this week and the other on the 9th. They will be given at the Georgian hotel in the north shore town at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

"Cinderella" will be presented on Saturday and "The Three Bears" and "Little Black Sambo" will be given on the 9th. Mrs. Donald Lowrie will direct "Cinderella" and Mrs. Louis Tilden will direct the other two.

The scenery and puppets for these performances were designed and executed by Mrs. Walter Clyde Jones Jr., and were awarded a prize at the St. Louis regional conference recently. They will be exhibited at a musical and tea the league will give at the Georgian on April 8 at 3 o'clock. These puppet shows are under the management of Miss Elizabeth Bass and can be obtained for children's private parties. Included in the répertoire are "The Three Pigs" and "Peter Rabbit."

Friends of Opera Report Progress.

Mrs. Arthur Meeker presided in the place of Mrs. Charles King Corsant, chairman, at the Friends of Opera guarantee fund committee meeting yesterday at the Casino, and also acted as hostess for Mrs. Corsant, who was at home ill with a cold, at the tea which followed. The workers reported new pledges amounting to $2,500, making the total secured by the committee $45,300. Mrs. Franklin M. Miller will be hostess to the committee for its weekly report next Wednesday afternoon at her residence, 1500 Lake Shore drive.

The current issue of the Vassar Miscellany News, undergraduate publication of Vassar college, announces that Miss Helen Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes of Evanston, has been made senior editor of the paper for next year. Miss Elizabeth Eckhart, daughter of the Percy B. Eckharts of Kenilworth, has been appointed a member of the business board of the paper.

Both girls are at home for their Easter vacation with their respective parents, and will take their new offices after the opening of the spring term next Tuesday. Miss Dawes will be a day late getting back to school because she is staying over for the wedding of her cousin, Frances Bosworth, to Dr. Trevor Stamp on Tuesday afternoon.

Lectures by Prof. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell of 229 Lake Shore drive returned yesterday from Chandler, Ariz., in time to welcome Mrs. Farwell's son, Prof. Elliott Dunlap Smith of Yale, who will arrive tomorrow to give three lectures here. There will be little time during Mr. Smith's stay for any entertaining beyond visits with his family and close friends, for he is to give his lecture on "Progressive Methods in Professional Schools" tomorrow evening before the Chicago Woman's club; on Saturday he will appear at the Francis Parker school, and on Monday night at the Country Day school in Winnetka.

Along with her other duties as publicity chairman of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Howard Fenton has taken on the job of editor in chief of "The W," the organization's new magazine which was introduced to the membership with the March issue. Mrs. Fenton is one of the most active members of the Y, and devotes many hours a week to her work.

Mr. and Mrs. August Magnus of Montecito, formerly of Winnetka, and their guests, the William Sherman Hays of Winnetka, are on a motor trip to Death Valley and Bakersfield to see the wild flowers, so a dispatch from Santa Barbara informs us. Spring in the desert is more beautiful than anywhere else in the world, I think, for to see the desert when every cactus is in bloom and the greasewood and sagebrush are flowering and the whole scene is a riot of color, is so different from the usual aspect of the desert, that it seems almost miraculous.

Mrs. Ralston Holmes Visits Father.

Mrs. Ralston Holmes and her daughter, Miss Sally Holmes, are in town visiting Mrs. Holmes' father, William A. Bond, who has resided at the Webster hotel since his large old residence on Drexel boulevard was torn down. Capt. Holmes, who is on the west coast at present, has been appointed commandant of midshipmen at Annapolis and will take up his new duties there within a month.

Sally Holmes made her debut in Rome two years ago, during her father's term of service there. Mrs. Holmes, you'll recall, was the only Chicagoan present at the marriage of the crown prince of Italy a few years ago.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, with her sons, Stuyvesant Jr. and Patrick, will return next week from a lengthy stay in the west. Stuyvesant and Patrick have been in Phoenix, Ariz., since they left Chicago in the early part of the winter, while their mother, after several weeks with them there, went on to California.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Simpson of 942 Lake Shore drive will depart on April 9 for their residence at Menlo Park, Cal. They will not return until October.

Mrs. Carter H. Fitzhugh of Lake Forest and her daughter, Miss Mildred Fitzhugh, returned on Tuesday from a 10 day stay at the Gulf Hills club in Biloxi, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Storey of 199 Lake Shore drive will return tomorrow morning from their annual winter stay in California. After a month at their Santa Barbara residence the Storeys spent a few days in San Francisco and then stopped at the Ahwahnee in Yosemite for a visit with their grandson, George Roe of Palo Alto. They will return in June

The Woman Hater

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Faire Chapelle is the stepdaughter of "Ma" Chapelle, who owns Flaxen's Casino, a café of ill repute near the waterfront of Port Bai. Faire and Aya, "Ma's" daughter by her first husband of dubious color, assist in Flaxen's. The Chapelles are looked upon as outcasts by respectable island residents. Faire feels their attitude keenly, because her father was of unimpeachable antecedents. He had brought her as a little girl into these unsavory surroundings and left her there at his death. She has kept aloof from all that Flaxen's represents.

Sir Philip Persian is governor and commander in chief of the Tama islands, Bai and St. Rosario. His young secretary and ward, Robert Grand, is involved in an affair with Mira Worcester, a faded beauty. Her husband has become suspicious. Sir Philip is anxious to save the boy from scandal. Malise Bookes, the governor's aide de camp, forces Faire, through threats, to accept Mira's guilt. Sir Philip is furious when he learns what Bookes has done, and sends for Faire to try to make amends. He arranges passage for her to London, where her sister Sheba, now Lady Rosewood, a widow, owns a famous beauty salon. Sheba takes Faire into the business. Malise Bookes, who was a former suitor of Sheba's, is sent home to London. Mira Worcester, who has returned to London, spreads malicious gossip about Faire, which Faire will not deny because of her affection for Sir Philip and her promise to him of secrecy. An estrangement develops between the sisters. Among Sheba's many clients seeking the fount of youth is Mary Chevronne, recently widowed, with whom Sir Philip had had a youthful affair and feels honor bound to marry after his term expires. Sheba leaves town and Faire moves into an attic studio. Mary Chevronne is attracted to Faire and calls her to her home to give her treatments.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

YOUNG CHIVALRY.

"Is there . . . was there . . .?" she broke off, and said huskily: "I ought to be ashamed to ask. But I've suffered agonies of jealousy. You don't know, you young girl! I want to know and I must ask. On the islands . . . were there any women he liked very much?"

"Every one said he was a woman hater."

"A one woman man," said Mary Chevronne tensely, "a one woman man. And that woman—me!"

Faire rose from her knees and turned to the beauty case on the dressing table.

Then it went on, the repair of the ravages of tears which middle aged beauty can so ill risk, and the final nourishing cream before the vanishing cream was worked in finely, the discussion of rouge and the applying thereof, the faint shadows under the eyes and on the upper lids.

Mrs. Chevronne's eyebrows and lashes were already dyed black.

There was the last powdering, very tenderly and carefully applied.

Now Mary Chevronne had really done as required. She had relaxed. Faire, standing by packing up her case, knew that she had brought back to Mary Chevronne's frightened heart this fluttering rag of the old happiness.

Every night she went back to her room exhausted by the fighting of her senses.

"You've been kinder to me than Winfred—or any of the other girls at Sheba's!" And she laughed a laugh that was almost real.

"You've made me look quite wonderful."

"I'm glad," and then with difficulty: "But you are wonderful!"

"Ah, they all say that. Trained to it! Trained to flatter! I don't want flattery. I want truth. Listen! I want you always to treat me. Here. Three times, four times a week. In four months we'll have conquered my double chin? And the lines under my eyes and——"

Her hand clasped hard in her lap.

"It isn't only the chin and the lines," she said, whisperingly again, desperation returning to her. "It's the look of age. It's age itself. I could diet more—though my doctor has forbidden it. I could have my face lifted--only it always shows. It's the—the look of age itself I want to escape from. You think I'm a poor fool, you young girl with your lovely figure and your clear face! I'm a fool, eh?"

"No. O, no! No!"

"How is it that you know, my dear? You have understanding in your eyes. Most girls would laugh."

"I suppose I understand because I——" She nearly cried out: "I too! I too love him!" She stopped and said in a steady voice: "I don't know why I understand. But I think I do."

"Listen!" A further nervous effort at confession and then: "You think I'm 45. I'm over 50. Over 50!"

"You—you don't look it."

"You're all trained to say that!"

"You must try to be happy, Mrs. Chevronne. Happiness makes people beautiful."

"Don't you believe it, my dear. Happiness is one ingredient out of many. But you will help me all you can?"

"Of course."

"I'm dieting all I dare. Dieting can age one if it's too strict. I shall live and work for the time when he comes home."

"Yes."

"We are going to be married."

Faire was silent. She stood still, her fingers rigid round the handle of the case. Mary Chevronne went on:

"We've had to wait a long time, till I was a widow. I might never have been a widow. Fate stepped in and gave me that. I cabled to Philip and he arranged for me to come out and marry him there. Then," she whispered, "I daren't. I'd gone to pieces so. I had to be beautiful again first."

"I understand! I understand! I understand!"

The cry was wrung from her. And then she saw Mary Chevronne rising; she felt the careful light kiss of her reddened lips.

"You sweet thing to guess so much! You'll help me. You'll come and talk to me more about him. There's so much more to ask—the little things, what people out there said and—and—a thousand trifles. But the chief thing I wanted to hear you have told me. My photograph is on his desk. He doesn't forget!"

"Of course not, Mrs. Chevronne."

"You say 'of course not,' you young girl. But you don't know the side of men that a woman of my age has learned. They do forget. They do repent. They may write letters . . ."

She said hurriedly after a pause, her eyes searching Faire: "He writes every week. Every week for nearly five years I've had his letter. For a time I wrote every day. But his letters aren't warm—they—they've frightened me. Philip Persian finds lies difficult to tell or to write. He always did. So I've been afraid. That was why I wanted to ask you the things I have asked, and you've told me just what I wanted to hear!"

"Good-by, Mrs. Chevronne."

"Next time you'll stay for luncheon? Sheba Rosewood's sister! Please, you must."

"You're very, very good."

She escaped, walking erect out of the room into the other smaller room where she had left her hat and gloves. When she reached there she found herself trembling violently. She stood before a mirror, not seeing herself, repeating over and over again: "He is hers! He is hers!" Her senses refused to believe it and cried out against it. And instinct told her deeply and silently that even before he had left London for the Tama islands Philip Persian had ceased to love Mary Chevronne. A young man had been glamoured—a middle aged woman had been in love—there was in store for Persian a fate of his own deciding; the kind of fate from which, ruthlessly, he had saved little Bobb Grand.

"What do you think of her, this Mrs. Chevronne? O, my dear, I wasn't here then, but I was at another establishment where she used to come, and I can tell you all London knew that old story. Sir Philip Something-or-Other, my dear, a very young man, fell in love with her. Or really, my dear, she fell in love with him. She was 47 then. Yes! I am tel'ing you—47! For two years it went on, and it would have ended in the poor young man's escape if the husband had not found out. But the husband, my dear, finds out, and makes a scandal, but will not divorce, and the young man gets an important post abroad, and, it is understood, will marry her if the husband will allow. The husband never allows! Death allows! La! La! Only yesterday a lady in here said she supposes there will be a wedding in the New Year. I find it shocking. How pale you are, my dear. I say again you should have gone with Lady Rosewood to the moors."

The rejuvenation of Mary Chevronne became for Faire not so much a labor of love or of profit, but of sheer young chivalry. Four times a week she—a novice in the art, as Mme. Francois often repeated—went to that pomegranate bedroom, and with a tenderness and skill newborn in her—a tenderness and skill that she had never known in the harder, prouder days at Flaxen's—she worked upon the face that had, as Mary herself painfully expressed it, "the look of age"; upon the neck that had the look of age; and the hands too. She applied herself to learning all there was to be learned at the salons; she read anatomy at night in her big bare studio room under the stars; and she tried never to think definitely of the reason for all this, the end.

But no. It would not be the end. Philip Persian's wife would go on striving to defeat the years. Faire Chapelle would still be confided in. She would be asked to come to the pomegranate room or its successor. . . .

When, one hot night, that thought occurred to her vivid as a lightning flash, she refused it. "No! I couldn't do that! I couldn't . . ."

And on into October it went on; the treatments, the hopes, the despairs, the confidences, the talks sometimes of hurricane fierceness on Mary Chevronne's bad days, or of happy anticipation on her good ones.

Every night Faire Chapelle went back to her high room and dropped to sleep exhausted, not by her work but by the fighting of her senses, with an exhaustion that in the tropic days she had never known.

Very occasionally there were letters from Sheba, still on her round of visits. Cool crisp letters expressing sisterly duty and no more.

In November Sheba came back to town, walking unexpectedly into the salon one day. She met Faire just on her way out to Mrs. Chevronne.

Doris Blake Answers

Depends on Your Age.

"Dear Miss Blake: Should I tell my girl that I love her or not?"

"D. U."

If you're young, don't! If you're an adult, tell her the old, old story.

Obey Your Parents.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 15, but not allowed to go out with boys or girls nights. Is that fair? BROWN EYES."

Don't be impatient. Wait two or three years.

Debate on Dry Law Sets New Film on Way

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 30.—You would have thought it was the Athletics playing the Cardinals when Walter Huston and the Rev. Aimee McPherson-Hutton made their joint appearance in a debate on pros and cons of prohibition in the Angelus temple auditorium the other night.

Upton Sinclair umpired the debate, which both Walter and Aimee admitted that prohibition is a national issue and a moral issue as well, but Walter assailed and Aimee defended the morality of it.

The audience will decide the winner by mail ballots.

A group of movie actresses, actors, directors and executives attended from MGM studio, which by a strange coincidence is now presenting "The Wet Parade" here. [With Huston as featured actor and Sinclair as author.] Other studios also were represented—some out of interest and others seeking local color, but the film folk were engulfed in the tide of humanity which the Rev. Aimee can bring out.

Sid Grauman, theater and movie entrepreneur, nearly lost his voice in amazement and praise of the evangalist's stage management. She opened the stunt with a pageant featuring little girls in red, white and blue, Uncle Sam in striped pants and a good looking blond Columbia.

When Aimee went on during her part of the debate she summoned onto the stage a man who told the audience in sincere words he had been a stew bum and narcotics addict, but had been raised from the gutters by prohibition. During the theatrical stunts Grauman and other visiting producers writhed in the chairs in sheer envy.

Huston unreeled statistics on arrests, crime frequencies and economic unrest to support points he made during his speech. In rebuttal, the Rev. Aimee recited portions of "The Face on the Bar Room Floor."

When Huston compared drunkenness figures for London and Los Angeles to Los Angeles' disadvantage since 1919, Aimee cried, "But they don't arrest drunks in London. They just drag them home."

What came near being comedy relief crept in when David Hutton, the Rev. Aimee's new husband and former choir leader, winced and manifested annoyance every time one of the numerous local politicians and movie officials who occupied the platform as noted guests got up to say a few words and alluded to Mrs. Hutton as "Mrs. McPherson."

Hutton got only one chance to expr. s himself during the two hours of wordy conflict, and that was when he stepped to the temple microphone which broadcast the debate. In a loud voice he then introduced his evangelist wife as "Mrs. David B. Hutton," Seemingly as an afterthought he added "formerly the Rev. Aimee Semple McPherson."

Another Story of New York by Riesenberg

Takes Characters from Many Levels.

THE author of "East Side, West Side" has written another novel of the same genre, a novel that concerns itself with the strength and weakness, the beauty and hideousness, the kindness and cruelty of a great city. Those who know New York will appreciate and enjoy the careful, painstaking description, though they will miss that peculiar vitality that indicates unmistakably that the author has caught the spirit of the city in his fictional transcription.

Felix Riesenberg chooses his characters from many levels of life. At the top of the economic scale are Clamson, the great ruthless head of the Credit Register, and Trauenbeck, connected with the Imperial bank and manager of the largest building in New York. Very near the top are Jenning, the owner of a large department store, Willing, and Zekor Messinger, also a department store owner who fall into the class of the near-rich who, along with the smaller fry, are caught in the net of the great capitalists.

Down and down the scale the author rushes, picking out elevator operators, chauffeurs, clerks, maids, and professors of astrology upon whom he fixes his literary eye. The reader receives the impression of an enormous pyramidal structure, at the top of which stupendously wealthy capitalists look out over the skyscrapers for new worlds to conquer, sublimely unaware that they stand precariously upon an erection that would collapse instantly if the solid base were to start crumbling. At the bottom of this pyramid is the Average Man. This does not imply, however, that the author is anti-capitalistic because later in the novel he shows the madness and the wondrous ridiculousness of the communistic uprisings.

Gives Theme of Story.

The story of "Passing Strangers" rests on this theme: "Many men and even women observed close at hand are so deplorable. What are the causes that bring them down to the gutter? Offhand Mr. Millinger could name many, many standard causes—drink, vicious living, lack of education, lack of moral stamina. But there are many, very many, and they all looked as if they had no friends. They looked like strangers, passing strangers walking along the streets to some place farther on, to some place not far away."

A whole group of people, brought together temporarily by financial or purely chance encounters, live and love and hate and kill one another until another wave of life moves them further on to some other place. There is a great deal of action in this book. The characters suffer reverses and enjoy successes of every sort. There are love affairs, temperamental clashes, deaths, suicides, battles, and each actor in each small drama, whether or not consciously, is a participant in the economic war that is modern civilization.

It is difficult to determine whether or not the characters in a book are authentic. I imagine there are some intimately acquainted with New York who will recognize at least the prototypes of Clamson and Trauenbeck and search in their minds and memories for the living Ella Rayden, a woman author who draws the portraits of the great and the near-great for that clever sophisticated magazine called in this book the Manhattan, and who writes realistic books and reveals, in newspapers, the conditions of the city's poor and downtrodden.

Monologues on Economics.

"Passing Strangers" is primarily a piece of expository writing. There are many long and sometimes excessively boring monologues on all phases of economic life. And there are detailed descriptions of conditions in the various sections of urban life. The great "boom" period, the terrible crash and the ensuing depression are carefully written and carefully, it seems, understood. Were it not for the narrative and the characters this book could very well come under the class of realistic, vital, objective and interesting economic studies.

Though there are portions of "Passing Strangers" that are dramatic and fascinating, on the whole the characters are extremely wooden. The reader is rarely interested in what happens to Launa or Diana, or Axel or Tubby. The author is at his best when laboriously and accurately, if not compellingly, describing the atmosphere of perhaps the most exciting city in the world. The rhythm that is carefully created in the chapters—long paragraphs, short paragraphs, a few sentences standing alone, erratic, frenzied, regular and calm—helps to present to the reader the picture of a city whose spirit is denied vivid expression in the usually monotonous and undistinguished style and the indifferent handling of character and narrative.

Becomes First Bride of Spring

Miss Doering Becomes First Spring Bride

Pretty Setting Marks Church Rites.

Although the weather man denied Virginia Doering the blue skies and sunshine that the first post-Easter bride is entitled to, he couldn't spoil the background for her wedding to Robert Martin McCutcheon Stevenson yesterday afternoon at St. Chrysostom's.

The fashionable church has been dressed more elaborately but never more prettily than it was for her marriage service. Dozens of Easter lilies bloomed in urns on the altar, in tall standards flanking the pews, and in the window boxes. Tall trees of ferns and white tapers in candelabra were the only other decorations.

The bride, who walked to the altar on the arm of her father, Edmund J. Doering, wore a gown of white mirror satin with a square neckline, long sleeves, and a skirt which rippled into fullness below the hipline and fell into an enormous three pointed train. Her tulle cascaded over the train from a simple cap wound tightly about her head and tied in two large bows at the back of the neck. Her corsage of white gardenias was bound with wide white satin ribbon.

Miss Edna and Miss Nancy Doering were their sister's only attendants. Edna wore an orchid moisseline de soie gown with a green sash and a short train, and a pale green hat with a narrow brim. Nancy wore a similarly fashioned dress of green with an orchid sash and hat. Both girls carried large arm bouquets of spring flowers. The bride's mother wore a French blue three piece suit with a black straw hat, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Edward T. Jeffery, was in gray satin. The groom's mother, Mrs. M. M. Stevenson of New York, wore a blue lace gown and matching hat.

Colin James Herrick of Philadelphia was best man for the groom and the ushers were Paul Adams of Germantown, Pa., Grandberry Jackson of Nashville, Tenn.; John Selzer of Philadelphia, Eric Cavendish-Owensmith of New York, Ben D. Hill Jr. of Washington, D. C., and Drew Eberson of New York.

to spend the summer in Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Nelson Tevander of 850 Castlewood terrace and Lake Geneva have sent from Palm Beach the announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Genevieve, to Samuel Taylor Jr., son of Samuel Taylor of Windsor, Canada, on March 20 at Palm Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and his friend, Robert Cooke of Chicago, have left for a honeymoon cruise to Nassau on the Swordfish, on which the young men were making a trip around the world. Probably plans for the trip will be upset by Mr. Taylor's marriage. The Tevanders have just purchased a beautiful tract of land in Palm Beach upon which they will build a villa.

The issues of the primaries and the candidates' records will be discussed.

Dr. Jacob Viner is to speak on "Britain's Economic Future" at a luncheon of the English Speaking union today at 12:15 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

The tea at the Arts club to open the exhibitions of "The Blue Four," Edward Biberman and Roger de la Fresnaye is tomorrow instead of today as announced in yesterday's paper.

The monthly meeting and luncheon of the Ladies of the Consuls will be held on Tuesday at the Illinois Women's Athletic club. Mrs. Berthold Singer, the president, will preside.

Sub-Deb to Visit Sister

Miss Louise Dewey, the attractive sub-deb daughter of the Charles S. Deweys, who has been home for her spring vacation from school at Farmington, will go to Detroit today to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr., before returning to school. Miss Dewey seriously is considering making her debut next season.

Proper Books for Youngster Help Both Child and Parent

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The things we think we're going to do, before our babies come! Some of them romantic, some a little sentimental, and some which take no count of the time required to prepare formulas, do baby washing, wash tons of spinach. And later on, to oversee baths, patch knees and sew on buttons, and get the sunshine to the children or the children to the sunshine.

What made me think of all this was some books I was looking over—good ones, that I want to pass on to you. Having done lots of story telling to children, I was sure that when I had some of my own I'd spend lots of time spinning tales. When the time came I found I didn't—nearly as much as I had thought I would. There were always so many things that we wanted to talk about or do that, although we loved books and read them lots, we didn't spend as much time in telling stories as in living them.

But how especially glad I have always been for books in an emergency—when a small child has gotten too tired and had to be tucked in a couple of hours early, to eat supper from a jolly little tray, while a story was cozily read by a grownup on the foot of the bed.

And how we mothers have all thanked heaven—and Gutenberg, too—for books, when our children of any age have been convalescent and needed to be quiet while the reserves of strength stored themselves up again. How soothing the reading of a familiar favorite can be for a restless, half-well child, or how interesting the reading of a new one for the bored little boy or girl who feels well enough to do things but really isn't—and has been confined to bed for days.

Here's where the advantage of owning books comes in. Any one who can afford it should start a library for her young children—but only of books very carefully chosen. It was to help in doing this that our book list was compiled after about six years of experience. The books for young children suggested in it are books I am absolutely sure of, and if you want to feel certain that the money you spend for books is well spent this list will guide you. Of course it will help, too, in getting books from the library. "The Youngest Bookshelf" will be sent you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Water Color Exhibit Will Open Today

Art Institute Show Is Gay Affair.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The twelfth international exhibition of water colors open this afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. The water color show is always one of the attractive features on the museum's spring schedule. It is a gay and glittering affair this year. The pictures are larger in size and more effective in subject than is the general rule. There is less determined modernism in evidence, and more intelligible painting.

The entrance hall is hung with drawings, some of them excellently done. The first large gallery is the gleaming key to the exhibit, however. Here we get a first impression, which as we walk through the various galleries, deepens. The exhibit is decidely entertaining, fresh, enthusiastic, virile and amusing.

Boris Anisfeld, an instructor of some years' standing in the Art institute school, is given a room to himself. His work is colorful and fantastic, not particularly forceful but vivid and poetic. Another painter, Louis C. Tiffany, is permitted a wall on which to display nine of his water colors. His is more finished work than Anisfeld's, more picture and less illustration, but even his exquisite brushwork in "Alhambra," to mention but one, becomes stilted in the light of the magnificent sweep of action and spirit embodied in John Wharf's sailing boats in a racing sea, "Off Tortagus."

Robert Lee Eskridge, the Chicago painter, shows a graceful painting of tall palms and another more brilliant scene of native life on Tahiti. Rutherford Boyd has one of the finest water colors in the exhibit in "Market on the Bridge—Ronda." "Summer Light" by A. Lassell Ripley is an engaging study of sunshine. "Pantry Shelves" by Katherine Wright is attractive.

The Watson F. Blair purchase prize of $600 was awarded to "Yacht Race" by Maurice Prendergast; the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan medal and $500 for purchase went to William Zorach for "The Cove." The Watson F. Blair purchase prize of $400 was given to "From Brittany" by Heinrich Campendonk. The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan prize of $250 was awarded to "Monumental" by George William Eggers, and the Logan prize of $150 went to "Place du Tertre" by Lucien Genin. The William H. Tuthill purchase prize of $100 was awarded to "Confirmation" by Georges Schreiber.

The exhibit will continue to May 31. It is well worth seeing.

Buenos Aires City Council Votes to Retain Opera Season

BUENOS AIRES, March 30.—(AP)—The city council has decided not to suspend the 1932 opera season at the Colon theater, the principal operatic center in South America, but it is not at all certain Lily Pons or Giacomo Lauri-Volpi will be heard.

The vote of the council despite Socialist opposition, assured at least a symphony and ballet season, but a special commission and the mayor still may veto the action.

The national government's pressure for economies may defeat the project because a large deficit is inevitable.

FLU
and Grippe

1 Avoid as far as possible the places where germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air but avoid drafts or chilling.

3 Get lots of rest. Drink plenty of water. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against germs.

4 Try, particularly to avoid catching colds. Colds lower your resistance to disease germs. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin dissolved in water at the first touch of sore throat, as this relieves the soreness and usually reduces the inflammation.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

We eat, of course, for different reasons: Because we are hungry, to gain weight, to lose weight, because we like the taste of what we are eating, and so on. More than one stern auntie has said to a niece or nephew who turned up his or her nose at a homely, but nourishing dish, "Eat to live, child! Don't live to eat." A sensible enough maxim, but if we ate simply to live there would be no need for such words as mine.

On the long list of things that people just don't like to eat, codfish, I am sorry to say, has a prominent place. And, as is the case with other foods on this same roster, when you get right down to the reason for it, the thing isn't that people actually don't like codfish, but that they don't like it the way it has been served to them.

So this is a dissertation on codfish—cod in particular, because it's our national fish: "—— The land of the bean and the cod," you know. And while the rest of that verse has nothing to do with cooking, the bean and the cod most assuredly have.

In Chicago, we can buy fresh cod fillets, little boneless chunks of meat that are rushed to us from the Atlantic coast on such fast trains that we wouldn't expect any fresher fish in Boston. These may be fried, or, better still, broiled, and served with mustard pickle.

If you are unable to buy fresh codfish, however, there is no need to go without it. There is plenty of salt cod, and also canned codfish balls, ready prepared, and canned codfish.

Codfish balls are made from the flaked fish, potatoes, and an egg to hold the two together. The usual procedure is to fry them in a skillet, but lots of New Englanders drop the mixture from a spoon into deep fat. This gives the balls a crusty brown coat that does seem appetizing. This sounds like Friday dinner to me, but to the true son of Massachusetts it means Sunday breakfast, along with beans from Saturday's baking.

In cooking fish, remember that it does not require the time that meat does. Fish is cooked when it separates easily from the bones, and longer cooking makes it dry. In broiling fish, put plenty of butter or other fat on it, to guard against dryness. A fish cannot get along by itself as can a steak well furnished with streaks of fat. If your fish is the hard frozen kind and you have not had time to thaw it properly in your refrigerator, be sure to turn several times while it is cooking. This allows the heat to penetrate the flesh evenly.

I have seen fish fillets for sale in stores, contained in what appeared to be large glass topped cracked boxes. At first sight these looked as if the fish were not properly refrigerated, but upon inquiring, the dealer set my mind at rest. It seems that these fillets were packed in layers of dry ice. It's strange and wonderful stuff. It will burn your hand dreadfully if you give it a chance, but it will also keep the fish actually colder than ice.

Some of the complaints on codfish come from salt fish that has not been properly prepared. If you want to cream salt cod, buy a package of it [avoiding the shredded, since the pieces are too fine] and run cold water over the contents. Then put the fish in a bowl of cold water to soak for a while. You might start it first, and the time it takes to prepare the rest of the dinner ought to be ample to remove excess salt and soften the texture of the fish.

Drain, slice in strips a quarter of an inch wide, and separate into flakes. Put the flaked fish into a saucepan in a quart of cold water to each pound and bring to a boil. Simmer for a few minutes, till tender, then combine with a medium thick and well seasoned white sauce.

Careful preparation and attractive serving ought to overcome prejudice against this good food. Another thing that will help is the complement of a tart relish, such as tomato pickle, picalilli or chow chow. Fish in general is much better for such an addition, the homely cod as well as the epicurean filet of sole.

SHRIMP WITH RICE.

1 cup boiled rice.
2 tablespoons tomato sauce.
4 tablespoons butter.
1 grated onion.
1 cup canned milk.

Clean the shrimp carefully and cut in pieces [if the shrimp are small they may be left whole]. Melt the butter, cook the onion in it till yellow, add the rice and canned milk and cook till the mixture bubbles. Add the shrimp and tomato. Put in the top of a double boiler and simmer 5 minutes.

Dressmaker Suit Prime Favorite with Style Expert

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Among the leading fashions that the Paris dressmakers are turning out this spring, the dressmaker suit is one of the best liked. The French style experts, looking into the soul of modern women, find that they prefer to appear feminine, and the dressmaker suit is, above all, softly feminine.

The border line between what is feminine and what is fussy is a mighty thin one, and it takes some doing to achieve the former without breaking into the latter. This, however, must be done, to be smart. The way in which the Paris couturiers make the dressmaker suit look trim and feminine is to keep the jacket and skirt of the suit simple and slender, and to add soft details that are the trademark of the feminine.

Young Women Give Excellent Choral Concert

Columbia School Group Pleases.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Some delightful choral music delightfully sung became audible at Kimball hall last night. The Columbia School chorus was the performing body, an organization of women's voices that had the fresh quality of youth, and, under the direction of Louise St. John Westervelt, the exactness of expert training.

The program was varied. There were folk songs of various nations, an operatic excerpt, an occasional vocal transcription of an instrumental number, and, quite as important as any of the rest if not more so, a group of sacred numbers. Of these last, "Flowery Easter" by Padre Donostia in the Kurt Schindler arrangement deserves to become much better known than it is, for it is an utterly charming melody. It fell more pleasantly on the ear than Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," which is saying a good deal, for this chorale is in Bach's finest style.

The chorus was assisted by two soloists, Clifford Blair, tenor, who sang Alexander von Fielitz's cycle, "Elland," and Robert Sheehan, pianist, who played a group by Gluck, Saint-Saëns, Debussy, and Ravel.

Ignace Jan Paderewski will make his only orchestral and final Chicago appearance tonight and tomorrow afternoon by appearing as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. He will play the Schumann Concerto.

Peter Pan Collar Tops Inset Vestee on Child's Dress

CHILD'S DRESS.

The new raglan sleeved dresses are darling on small girls, and these dresses are so easily made. The neckline with its Peter Pan collar topping a little inset vestee with scalloped edge and button trim is chic, and the prettily plaited skirt completes the dress. Broadcloth, gingham, and poplin are among the suitable materials.

The pattern, No. 2730, comes in sizes 2, 4, and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Time Arrives to Start Work on Your Lawn

BY PAUL POTTER.

The arrival of April finds thousands of lawns and gardens in Chicagoland beckoning for immediate attention. The open winter with considerable thawing of the sod has caused an unusual amount of damage to the green sward that will need care in the next few weeks to insure good lawns for the summer.

Gardeners are noting with much satisfaction, however, that an abundant rainfall with the late snowstorms in March will insure plenty of moisture in the ground for the spring spurt of Mother Nature. In some poorly drained parts of the yard the grass may have been injured from soggy or muddy pools during the winter.

Expecting April showers, veteran gardeners are waiting a while before their spring seeding, while others are preparing to roll the sod that has become bumpy. Few lawns or gardens at best will be found to have enough plant food for abundant growth this season, and arrangements should be made for feeding both lawns and flower beds during the month.

There is much to be said in favor of starting lawns early in the fall or early in the spring, to give them every advantage over weeds.

The weed menace is increased by the use of manures or mulches which may bring in weed seed in great quantities. Where the prepared plant foods are used to insure luxurious growth, as is becoming more noticeable in cities, the compost heap or use of sand will aid in keeping the soil porous.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

The world is at present full of economists who are trying to work out a feasible plan for more equal distribution of wealth. If they should ever succeed we will, of course, reach an economic millennium. Perhaps, then, other learned gentlemen will try to reach a millennium for bridge players by figuring some way to control the distribution of the cards. Until that great day arrives, the successful bridge player, like the successful business man, must simply use rules as a guide post and use his wits to get the ultimate from his cards. Look at yesterday's play-a-problem:

NORTH.
♠—K,10,3,2
♥—8,4
♦—A,K,7,3,2

WEST.
♠—7,6,5,4
♥—6,3,2
♦—6,5,4

EAST.
♠—9,8
♥—K,J,10,9,5
♦—J,8
♣—A,J,5,4

SOUTH [dealer].
♠—A,Q,J
♥—A,Q,7
♦—Q,10,9
♣—K,Q,3,2

South dealt and opened with a bid of two no-trumps. West passed. North quite properly took out with three diamonds and East put in a semi-psychic three heart overcall, hoping to make trouble. South bid three no-trumps. West passed. North bid four no-trumps. East passed. South bid six no-trumps and all passed.

All that North and South could figure on a rule basis was that the two hands held a no-trump count of 29. With a little extra thought, however, they could be practically assured of making at least two extra tricks in the diamond suit [in other words, taking five full tricks in diamonds], not accounted for by the high card count. East's bid had also helped South to place the ♥ K and in all probability the ♣ A. If South was right in placing his partner with the ♠ K, which he pretty nearly had to have, he saw only one losing trick and that was the ♣ A.

West opened the ♥ 6, dummy played the 4, East the K, and declarer the A. Declarer then led the ♦ 10, which dummy captured with the ♦ K. At trick three South sees his great possibility. If he leads a club from dummy and East passes it and does not come in with his ace, South can make all of the tricks by the use of the squeeze play. It is certainly worth trying, because he can always make the six odd even if East does come in with the ♣ A at trick 3. South, therefore, leads the ♣ 7 from his dummy, East played the 4, South the K, and West the 8. Declarer now led the ♠ A and ♠ Q and then led the ♠ J, which was overtaken by dummy's ♠ K. On the ♠ K East discarded the ♥ 5. Dummy now led the ♠ 10, on which East played the ♣ 5 and declarer the ♣ 2. Dummy now led the ♦ 2, East played the J and declarer the Q. Declarer then led the ♦ 9, dummy played the A and East must choose between his club or his hearts. East discarded the ♣ J. Dummy then led the ♦ 7, on which East threw the ♥ 9 and followed with the ♦ 3, on which East discarded the ♣ A, declarer discarding the ♥ 7. To the twelfth trick dummy led the ♥ 8, which declarer took with the ♥ Q and then led the ♣ Q for the thirteenth and last trick. North and South making their little slam and an extra trick. Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

NORTH.

Episcopal Clergy Get Instructions on Marriage Rules

Marriage is not a soft and easy contract to be broken at pleasure but is like the soldier's enlistment for the duration of the war. That is the declaration of the Rev. Harold Holt, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park, in a series of official instructions on marriage sent to all Episcopal clergymen from the national council of the Episcopal church.

The issue of these instructions marks the beginning of canonically required instruction for those who wish to be married. This legislation was enacted last September at the Denver general convention. The instructions set forth the whole position of the Episcopal church in relation to matrimony.

The Rev. Mr. Holt, who is widely recognized in the Episcopal church as an authority on social problems and a leading contributor to the church's official instructions on marriage, charges that 90 per cent of all divorces are obtained on silly grounds. He asserts that the Christian idea of marriage is soundly based in age old experience of the human race.

"Religion of various sorts has witnessed and sanctioned every variety of relation of man and woman in marriage," Dr. Holt's instruction says. "It has tried and discarded polygamy, polyandry, buying and selling of wives, easy divorce, and no divorce. Free consent to marriage must be basic to the concept of marriage which we call Christian."

KLEENEX
Disposable Tissues

THE worst job on earth! That's what any woman will tell you about washing handkerchiefs that have been used during colds.

And not only that. It's dangerous. Germs contaminate other clothing during washing. Endanger the person who must dip her hands in that dangerous, germ-filled water.

Why inflict this repulsive job on yourself, or anyone else?

Use Kleenex, as so many other people are doing.

Kleenex is a soft tissue, of rayon-cellulose. It's disposable, just like tissue. And costs so little that you may destroy it after a single use.

No self-infection during colds, as with handkerchiefs that must be used over and over again.

REVEAL WHERE TO PLACE APARTMENT-TO-RENT ADVERTISING!

HERE ARE FACTS
IMPORTANT TO LANDLORDS AND AGENTS
WHO WANT
QUICK, LOW-COST RESULTS!

Among 990 tenants living in 157 apartment buildings located in
37 real estate and management agents

THE TRIBUNE WANT AD SECTION IS PREFERRED TO THAT OF ANY OTHER CHICAGO NEWSPAPER AS A RENTAL GUIDE

3 to 1

The questionnaire

A REPRESENTATIVE group of tenants were asked to which newspaper want ad section they would look when they wanted to rent an apartment. The investigation revealed the Tribune leading the second Chicago paper 3 to 1! Leading the third paper 19 to 1! The fourth paper 25 to 1!

These are the facts in a nutshell. This recently completed study gives the rental agent or landlord concrete evidence upon which he can depend to get the best advertising value for his money.

CONFIRM ADVERTISERS' PREFERENCE

During the survey trained investigators took every precaution to secure accurate, unbiased reports. Tenants of 157 buildings in 19 representative residential neighborhoods in Chicago and two suburbs were interviewed. The buildings selected were taken on an equitable basis from advertisements running currently in the various Chicago newspapers.

Some of the tenants were interviewed by telephone. Questionnaires were mailed to others. When the first returns came in, they indicated an overwhelming preference for the Tribune's apartment-to-rent want ad columns. Later figures confirmed the Tribune's lead. Final tabulation showed the Tribune with a 76% preference by tenants, the second newspaper with 22%, the third with 4%, and the fourth with 3%. (A few persons named more than one newspaper.)

The total preference for the Tribune tripled that for all other newspapers combined!

For years, advertisers have been placing more apartment-to-rent want advertising in the Tribune than in all other Chicago newspapers combined. This new survey explains the reason for the advertisers' preference. Tenants themselves confirm the judgment of landlords and rental agents.

WHAT ADVERTISERS GET

Three persons look to the Tribune for apartment-to-rent want ads to every one that turns to the second newspaper! 19 to every 1 that turns to the third! 25 to every 1 that turns to the fourth!

And making full allowance for differences in advertising rates, your advertising dollar in the Tribune can reach 2.3 times as many prospects as the second newspaper can! 14 times as many as the third! 20 times as many as the fourth!

This amazing Tribune lead was registered in apartment buildings with rents ranging from $25 to $275 a month—the majority being between $40 and $75.

NEW HELP FOR THE RENTAL ADVERTISER

The popularity of the Tribune is not new. The Tribune has long been supreme among Chicago newspapers in circulation and in volume of advertising. More people read it because more people like it. More advertisers use it because it gets best results.

The Tribune's circulation—largest in Chicago and the suburbs—reaches the largest and most satisfactory group of prospects. For this reason it can bring tenants as no other newspaper can.

These facts are impressive. This new story of the preference of tenants is equally so. Not only does the Tribune carry more apartment-to-rent want advertising than all other Chicago newspapers combined, but it is the preferred medium of tenants.

Not only does it have 32% more circulation in metropolitan Chicago than any other newspaper, but in preference as an apartment guide it leads by 242%!

ASK FOR THE FULL REPORT

If you want to get desirable tenants quickly and at low cost, you'll be interested in the full report of this survey. It throws new light on productive apartment advertising. It can help you get the best possible results from every cent you spend to advertise your apartments in 1932. A Tribune man will gladly present it. Write for it, or call Superior 0100.

● HOW THIS IMPORTANT SURVEY WAS MADE

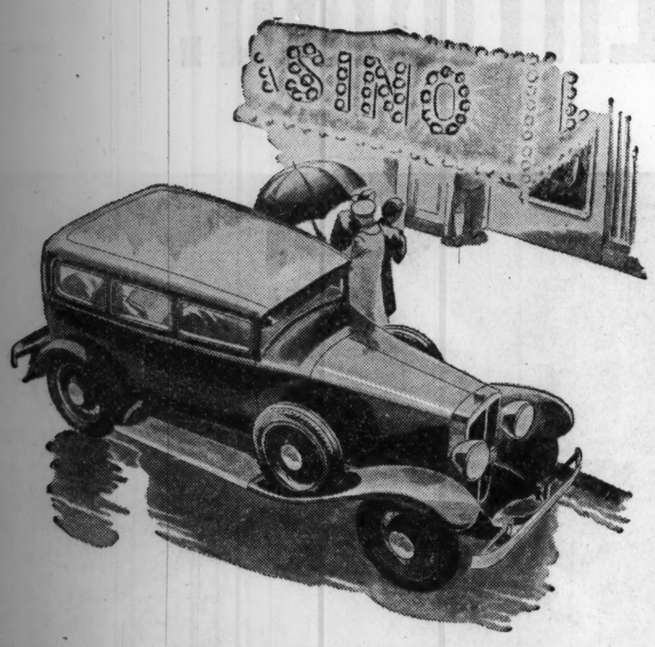
The investigation covered tenants in 157 apartmen buildings advertised by 37 different agents, in various Chicago newspapers. The buildings were selected so as to get a cross sec: on of Metropolitan Chicago. 19 city and 2 suburban neighborhoods were included.

After the representative list of buildings had been made investigators took the names of tenants from mail boxes in these buildings, in order to have specific families to question. Telephone numbers of these families were looked up, and they were called and asked to answer the four questions on the above questionnaire.

Where there were no phones, or where the party in question could not be reached by phone, cards asking the same four questions were mailed.

990 replies came in. Some from low rental districts. Some from high rental districts. And many from intermediate districts. The range hit $25 at the bottom, and $275 at the top. Tenants who replied chalked up a 76% preference for the Chicago Tribune, 22% for the second newspaper, 4% for the third newspaper, 3% for the fourth.

LOW-PRICED, BUT NOT CHEAPENED



Kelly-Springfield has never been stampeded into measures harmful to tire buyers or dealers. We are maintaining Kelly-Springfield quality, safeguarding dealers, selling at bottom prices, and enjoying a fine increase in sales

WORK HARDER, build better tires and price them as low as any tires on the market. That's our program—the same one we've followed through every good and bad period in our 38 years in business.

We are looking years ahead, and we've been careful to make no moves harmful to tire buyers or dealers.

Not trying to run stores

We haven't rushed into the retail business—buying and opening tire stores in the effort to make two profits on our tires. There are thousands of responsible dealers who know more about giving you service for the life of your tires than any absentee-owned store will ever know. We know the value of these dealers to the public and our policy is to safeguard them, not try to take their business. Maintaining proper inflation, rotating tires to equalize wear, correcting wheel wobble, wrongly adjusted brakes and other bad alignments—such service adds at least 25% to the life of tires.

Not willing to cheapen tires

We haven't made off-brands of tires for concerns who deal in that kind of merchandise. We are proud of what the name Kelly-Springfield stands for and we want our name on every tire we sell.

We do everything we can to make our tires better than other tires and we check up constantly to see that we do that. Our fleets of test cars and trucks—on continuous runs under heavy loads—speeding over thousands of miles of rough mountain roads tell us just where tires fail and this merciless competitive grueling teaches us how to keep Kelly-Springfield tires ahead.

What a difference in makes!

Fine tire quality is very important today. "Just any tires" will likely be the weakest parts of your car. During every stretch of fast driving, human safety depends on tires. For comfort, our tires are the finest cushions you could have between you and the road.

We want every car owner to know what Kelly-Springfield stands for, to have faith in Kelly-Springfield tires and to put them on his car. During the year just past, when people looked more carefully into the things they bought, our sales increased enormously. KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRE COMPANY, 1775 Broadway, New York.

● Compare the prices below. No prices are lower than Kelly-Springfield's. But far more important than price is Kelly-Springfield's dealer-service—also tire resilience, safety, long life, fine appearance—every good result of quality tire building.

WISCONSIN NAMES SPEARS HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

$10,000 OFFER LURES VETERAN FROM OREGON

Reports for Practice April 13.

Madison, Wis., March 30.—[Special.]—Dr. Clarence W. Spears, football coach at the University of Oregon, today was appointed to coach the University of Wisconsin eleven. He will be paid $10,000 a year, $2,000 more than Glenn Thistlethwaite, whom he succeeds. It is the highest salary ever paid a Badger coach.

Spears' appointment, as announced by the board of regents, was for only one year, but he is believed certain of at least a three year tenure, because he also will hold the rank of professor of physical education.

Spears, who coached the University of Minnesota football teams from 1925 to 1930, will arrive in Madison April 13 to take charge of spring football practice. Athletic Director Irwin C. Uteritz has made arrangements for issuing equipment to candidates on April 11 and 12, so that not a minute will be lost in starting the Badgers up the Big Ten football ladder.

Mucks Persuades Spears.

Arlie Mucks, professor in the university school of agriculture, and former Wisconsin football and track star, is the man who persuaded Spears to come to Madison. He met Spears in Portland, Ore., last night, serving as representative both of alumni and the board of regents, who demanded a nationally known coach for the Badgers. This morning the doctor wired acceptance of terms.

The position of football coach at Wisconsin has been vacant since the resignation of Thistlethwaite Dec. 29, 1931. The athletic council, headed by Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, tried to obtain a coach, but was unable to come to terms with any one of seven men approached, including Dr. Spears. The board of regents finally took the matter out of the council's hands and reopened negotiations with Spears.

Spears' first bid for football fame came as a player at Knox college, Galesburg, Ill. Later he entered Dartmouth, where he was picked as guard on Walter Camp's all-American team in 1915. He remained as freshman coach at Dartmouth for a time, and then became head coach at West Virginia. He left there to go to Minnesota at the beginning of the 1925 season as successor to Bill Spaulding.

Spears' Big Ten Record Good.

Spears produced strong teams for the Gophers, his five year record in Western Conference competition reading 28 victories, against 9 defeats. Among these victories were four over Wisconsin. In 1928 Minnesota knocked the Badgers out of the Big Ten championship by beating them in the last game of the season, 6 to 0.

Just before the 1930 season the Pacific coast took two leading coaches out of the Big Ten. Jimmy Phelan of Purdue went to Washington and Dr. Spears took over the Oregon job. At Oregon Spears was receiving $11,500 a year, but authorities had ordered a rigid economy program, which called for a cut of several thousand dollars in Spears' salary had he remained there.

Spears is the fifth coach Wisconsin has had in the last ten years. Jack Ryan succeeded John Richards in 1922 and George Little became football coach and athletic director in 1925. In 1927 Little decided to devote all his time to the latter position, and brought in Thistlethwaite from Northwestern to direct the football team.

Appointment Ends Turmoil.

The selection of Spears ended several months of turmoil in the Badger athletic department. After the football season last fall, in which the Badgers finished in the second division, alumni renewed demands for a new coach. The state legislature also took up the cry, and as a result both Little and Thistlethwaite resigned. Little is now director of physical education at Rutgers university.

Guy Sundt, backfield coach for several years, who was considered for the head coaching position, will remain on the staff. Sundt said it would be a pleasure to work with Spears, and this statement was echoed by the other assistants, Fred Swan and Rube Wagner.

GOPHERS ASK MORE TICKETS.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—(AP)—Interest at the University of Minnesota in Dr. Clarence Spears' appointment as head football coach at Wisconsin resulted today in a request by the Gopher athletic department for 8,000 seats at the Badger-Gopher game in Madison next Nov. 12.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—American sports, led by football, baseball and boxing, figure to contribute close to $10,000,000 toward balancing the 1932 national budget, under the provisions of the bill adopted by the house today for a 10 per cent tax on all athletic admissions over 45 cents.

College football, heretofore exempt from taxation, will be the heaviest single contributor. The gridiron sport is expected to collect from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 at the turnstiles and pay an approximate tax of $2,500,000.

In peak seasons, the football receipts at such major universities as Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Southern California, have exceeded $1,000,000 each.

Majors to Contribute Million.

Other college sports, with the exception of basketball and some of the big classics such as the Harvard-Yale and Poughkeepsie regattas and the intercollegiate championship meets, do not collect much in the way of gate receipts.

On the basis of last year's major league baseball receipts, which were close to ten million dollars, and also untaxed, the American and National league clubs would contribute another one million dollars in taxes.

Minor league baseball figures can only be speculated upon, but probably another million would be derived from this source. In comparatively few towns are any admissions scaled at less than a half dollar for baseball. Even for the spring exhibition games they run as high as $1.50 for grand stand seats.

Boxing, curiously enough, figures to benefit from the new tax program, especially so far as the buyer of the high priced tickets and the promoter are concerned. This would result from the general application of a 10 per cent federal tax in place of the present graduated levy of 10 per cent on $3 to $5 tickets and 25 per cent on all tickets costing more than $5.

"The new tax bill will hit the pocketbooks of the boys who sit in the galleries or other cheap seats, while benefiting the ringside patron," said a representative of the Madison Square Garden corporation. "For example, a $10 ticket now calls for a $3 tax, 25 per cent federal and 5 per cent state tax. Under the new law, the total tax would be $1.50, a 50 per cent reduction.

Wrestling, six-day bicycle races, professional football, horse-racing and soccer combined likely would contribute an additional $1,000,000 in taxes.

WHAT'S BECOME OF ALL THOSE FIGHTIN' IRISH?

Italians Rate as Better Boxers Now.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—The management of the Golden Gloves tournament in Madison Square Garden Monday night exploited the dramatic possibilities to what is technically known as the full, introducing each pair of boxers with a roll of drums and a glare of baby spots which reached down from the galleries, somewhere, and picked out the boys, as pious as acolytes, in their little satin vestments, all standing with their heads bowed as their names were brayed into the darkness by the dehumanized voice of the amplifiers.

The light beams picked them out as the finger of fame momentarily honors human ephemerae. The people cheered and laughed, for the mood was happy and sportingly impartial. It was more impartial or less partial, at any rate, than the mood of any other American crowd would have been, and I know because I was sitting at the ringside, "making" the big names round there, and I recognized few who were of New York in the first place, but many who were New Yorkers come from elsewhere.

Oshkosh Boy Is There.

There was a merchant prince of New York who began selling goods behind a counter in Vincennes, Ind., a banker of some importance from Oshkosh, Wis., a radio man of great renown who came out of Denver, a paper manufacturer from Dayton, O., a newspaper executive from Spokane originally, and another one from Indianapolis.

In New York the customers cheer the visiting team in the world series because in their hearts so many of the people have home town attachments which are not of New York.

Many of the fighters, almost a majority, were introduced as Italians. A few were described as Polish—those from Chicago where the Poles went to work in the stockyards years ago—and there were some Irish and Germans and one Belgian, a little squat lightweight who lost to a country boy from the suburbs of New York, named Hogan, because he couldn't jump high enough to reach him.

Negro Boys Win Five of Six.

The Negro boys, without exception, were introduced as Americans and all six of them probably had more generations of Americans behind them than their respective opponents. Five of them won their fights and all six behaved very well. But the politicians of the prize fight commissions decided more than ten years ago that it would be a bad idea for America to permit a Negro prize fighter to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. The baseball proprietors long before that came to a similar decision. No Negro could be permitted to play in the upper class of that which they call the national game unless he disavowed his race and called himself, anyway, an Indian.

One Negro fighter lost. It was related afterward that his opponent was the first fighter to forget the more beautiful notions of sportsmanship and descend to personalities. He came into a clinch where he could lay his voice close and quiet against his opponent's ear and call him infuriating names. The colored boy lost his temper and the fight. This is not as outrageous as it sounds, according to the accepted standards being not uncommon is the sport business. It is fairly common even in the intercollegiate football business.

The Italians seem likely to dominate the operations department of the prize fight business for years to come. Fifteen years ago Giuseppe Carrora, an Italian fighting as Johnny Dundee, a name bestowed by his manager, a Scotsman named Monteith, was one of the Italian pioneers of the industry and a drawing card not only because of his sprightly style and ability but also because of his rarity. He was an Italian star of the ring, almost as strange on the billing as a Chinese would have been.

Nowadays, among the amateurs as

WITH THE LOSERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—[Special.]—Traveling with a losing boxing squad is not as disheartening as traveling with a losing baseball team during a pennant race because boxers take it on the chin only once while a losing baseball nine not only takes it but must endure much more of the same.

Chicagoland's Golden Gloves boxers, under the stimulus of sightseeing and waived diet restrictions, are recovering from their disappointment of Monday night.

Heavyweight Adam Smith of Rockford and Capt. Leo Rodak, featherweight, come the nearest to being exceptions. The Rockford baker boy whose roly poly appearance within the roped inclosure is not apparent in street clothes, bemoans what he and most others regard as a decision contrary to what actually took place. Rodak bemoans the chance blow rather than carelessness which sent him to the mat when he elected to swap punches in a mêlée with the hard hitting New Yorker, Johnny De Foe. Momentarily confused, Rodak's

C. W. Murphy, One Time Cub Owner, Leaves $2,500,000

Property of the late Charles Webb Murphy, former owner of the Chicago Cubs baseball team, aggregated more than $2,500,000, it was learned yesterday when the inventory of his estate was approved by N. J. Bonnelli, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. Murphy died Oct. 16, at the age of 63 years.

The largest item in the estate was the Baker bowl at Philadelphia, home of the Phillies. The bowl is estimated at $1,500,000 in value and under the terms of Murphy's will was bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Marie Louise Murphy, 6157 Sheridan road, who receives half interest, and to four nephews who share equally. A theater at Wilmington, O., was left to two brothers, Frank and James, of that city.

Murphy possessed $40,000 in cash which was left in three accounts. The remainder of the estate consisted of bonds valued at $500,000, and stocks among which the following shares were included: 625 of American Telephone and Telegraph, 125 Commonwealth Edison, 2,000 General Motors, 408 International Harvester, 2,200 Standard Oil of Indiana, 300 of Standard Oil of New Jersey, and 525 of United States Steel corporation.

A two day dog exhibition will open tomorrow afternoon on the seventh floor of the Boston store.

Both these decision, more particularly that against Smith, may have effect on future Golden Gloves tourneys. Smith and Rodak were veterans of these competitions. If they stay in boxing, it is natural for them to consider the professional arena. Adam wished to make a good showing with the prestige of Golden Gloves victory as a possible means of attractive bouts. Now he is undecided whether to continue his amateur status for another season.

The Wake asked Adam whether he wished to stay in the boxing game, as it were, to which he replied: "It may seem strange to many persons, but I actually enjoy boxing, although it means receiving blows as well as giving. Otherwise a fellow would not stay in the amateur ranks when money might be received for boxing professionally.

"I never have been seriously hurt, never knocked out, although, of course, sent off my feet. I have no disfigured ears and only this flattening of the nose," which one would hardly notice. "At the same time, amateur boxing takes one away from work and is a luxury in that respect. I have thought if I were good enough I might become a pro. Now I am somewhat undecided. Of course I thought I won, but I'm not as much of a card as if I were Golden Gloves champion."

The Wake advised the Rockford boy against a professional career. Whether that advice was prompted by lack of respect for the profession or by the opinion that Adam had not the wares to advance far enough to make the preliminary and preparatory buffetings worth the effort is for readers to judge. Anyway, the advice was sincere.

Capt. Rodak, on the other hand, is more inclined to remain an amateur. He finds plenty of opportunity to engage in his favorite sport, more opportunity than if his efforts were confined to pro shows. As an amateur he finds few his equals. In the pro ranks he would make a good showing. He would meet, of course, tougher opposition. Which naturally all leads back to the old question, why is an amateur?

Retired Champion Gene Tunney visited our team in its quarters after the bout. Tunney naturally was interested in the heavies, since he was title holder in that class before he decided he had earned enough to quit before he became what is known as punch drunk. He called Gene Klopack, who stopped his New York opponent in the second round, a promising aspirant. Gene cited particularly Klopack's change of pace and his variation of attack from body to jaw and back again, something rather rare among amateurs in short bouts, as sound strategy. That naturally put Klopack's head buzzing with professional ideas. His decision is not yet made, however.

The Illinois Athletic club won the 34th annual Central A. A. U. indoor track and field championships last night at the 124th field artillery armory, scoring 39 points.

Unattached performers piled up 30 points and Northwestern university's team took third place with 14. South parks was third with 13, and University of Illinois, Armour institute, Loyola, and Avondale playground tied for fourth.

Letts Wins Two Races.

Dale Letts, former University of Chicago track star, in leading the Illinois Athletic club to victory, captured the 600 yard run in an eight yard margin. Letts plunged into the lead at the start and easily defeated Charles Niblock, a teammate.

Letts also won the 1,000 yard run, defeating Joseph Sivak, a team mate, who took second place from T. O'Neill, of Loyola university.

The relay race for high schools was won by Maine Township in one of the most exciting races of the evening. Carl Schurz was second, losing the lead a few yards from the finish. Austin High took third.

Western Electric Wins.

An innovation, the girl's basketball shuttle relay race, was won by the Western Electric company. Pauline Tomich starred for the winners. The Illinois Women's Athletic club was second and the Barrett Athletic club was third.

SHREVEPORT RAIN CHEATS SOX OUT OF 10TH TRIUMPH

Water and Red Mud May Interfere Today, Too.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shreveport, La., March 30.—A good old fashioned Shreveport rain, with red clay trimmings, today deprived the Chicago White Sox of the opportunity to increase their spring victory chain to ten straight games. Today's scheduled contest was called off early in the morning and as the downpour continued there was much doubt as to the possibility of playing the final here tomorrow.

Even if the Shreveport Sports cannot be met tomorrow, the Sox still will have five games scheduled before their first test against a class AA team. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday they will play the Little Rock Travelers, who finished second last year in the Southern association.

After Memphis, Nashville.

On Monday they will meet the Memphis team, which finished third in the same league, and after these trials will ease up on Tuesday by contending with Nashville, tailenders of the Southern association.

On April 6 and 7 the Sox will meet a team in a league only one bracket under the majors. They will fight things out with the Louisville Colonels, who in 1931 plunked to seventh place in the American association after having won the pennant in 1930.

They'll Rest Against Tats.

After the series in Louisville the boys will get a much needed rest. They will play Terre Haute, which finished seventh in the Three Eye league.

The exhibition season will be wound up against Indianapolis on April 8 and 9. Indianapolis finished third in the American association last year.

CHICAGO C. Y. O. TEAM DEFEATS NEW YORK, 23-19

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—The Mary Queen of Heaven baketball team, Catholic Youths' organization of Chicago, senior champion, defeated the St. Nicholas of Tolentine seniors of the Fordham Juvenile league, 23 to 19, in an intercity game at the 102d engineers armory tonight. A crowd of 1,500, including several public officials and church dignitaries, saw the game.

Machek, who led the winners in scoring, gave the Chicago team a commanding lead early in the final period, scoring four points on a field goal and two fouls. Two foul goals by Zarobsky boosted the visitors' lead to seven points. Drury scored three points for the Tolentine five before the final whistle.

DULUTH BEATS PLA-MORS, 3 TO 0; TIES UP SERIES

Duluth, Minn., March 30.—(AP)—Led by the forward line of Merrill, Forslund and Leswick, the Duluth Hornets scored a 3 to 0 victory over Kansas City tonight in the third game of the semi-final round in the American Hockey league playoff series. It was Duluth's first victory. The final game will be played here Friday night with the two teams even on goals scored for the three games. Each team has four.

After a scoreless first period, Duluth got its first goal early in the middle session, Forslund and Leswick teaming to beat Levine. A half minute later Leswick again made a neat pass to Merrill, who scored.

The final score came midway in the final period with Merrill's rifle shot eluding Levine. The Pla-Mors took their defense men from the game six minutes before the close, but they could not get in for close shots on Turner.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—As just compensation for what happened yesterday, the Cubs turned on Detroit's Tigers and made 'em like it today. The American leaguers started off by making gay with Charley Root, but Root suddenly brought out some of his real foolers and the rest was easy. Root's powerful finish was linked with some equally powerful hitting by his mates, so the Cubs won, 9 to 5.

Three of Detroit's regular pitchers tried their luck against the Chicagoans and only one was a success. That was Tommy Bridges, who held the Cubs to one hit in three innings and wisely decided to retire while his record was good.

Earl Whitehill was selected as successor, and just to prove they were glad to see him the Cubs tore off five runs in the fourth and fifth. The southpaw partially atoned for this assault by fanning three men in the sixth, and then retired to let old George Uhle have a fling. Uhle got his in the seventh, when Bill Jurges sewed up the game with a homer while two mates were on base.

Starts Game with a Bang.

Smiley Hack drew the spotlight in the first inning by driving a homer into the right field bleachers. Hits such as this, however, must be regarded with suspicion. The Coast league ball is being used in these battles and it's an extremely lively article. Hack's homer kept the Cubs in front only until the second. Grimm knocked down a drive by Alexander and threw to Root, who covered the bag, but dropped the ball. A single by Rogell, a sacrifice by Lawrence and Richardson's fly to right scored Alexander.

Johnson's excessive speed was the cause of bringing on the three run rebellion against Root in the third. He beat out a grounder to Herman and went to third on Rhiel's single to center. Walker flied to Stephenson, who has no throwing arm, and Johnson loped home after the catch. Alexander struck out, but Rogell knocked a home run into the seats.

Cubs Pound Whitehill.

As soon as Whitehill appeared the Cubs began to make a little progress. He walked Barton and Stephenson with two out in the fourth and Barton scored on a single by Jurges, who is operating at short pending recovery of English, who has a torn finger nail. Then Whitehill had real trouble in the fifth. Hemsley led off with a double and the next two batters went out. Herman walked, whereupon Cuyler, Barton, Stephenson and Jurges turned loose successive singles for a total of four runs.

Root began to look like the real Root after the third and his troubles were limited. The Tigers were quite sure a run was going to blossom in the fifth when Rhiel opened with a three base drive to left, but Root didn't let the next three fellows hit the ball beyond the infield. The Detroit seventh was just a bit different. Johnson smacked a homer into the bleachers, reducing the Cubs' lead to one run.

Jurges' Turn to Hit One.

That one run difference was changed a lot as soon as the Cubs could adjust themselves to the offerings of Uhle in the seventh. With one out Cuyler scratched an infield hit, went to second on a wild pitch, and to third on Barton's fly to center. Stephenson walked and reached second on another wild pitch. Then Jurges took his turn at driving the ball into the seats for a homer, three scoring.

The Pirates will be back in town tomorrow for the first of a four game series which will close the California visit for both clubs. Phil K. Wrigley, now at Catalina island, will be on hand for the opener.

Shaw Sets New Record for Four Cylinder Cars

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Wilbur Shaw, Los Angeles automobile driver, set a new record for four cylinder racing cars today on Muroc dry lake. Shaw was timed at 137.25 miles an hour. The former mark was 136.98, made by Kaye Don of England.

DUBLINSKY TO POSTPONE BOUT WITH CANZONERI

May Meet Massey April 18 at Philadelphia.

Harry Dublinsky, Chicago junior welterweight, said yesterday that he will postpone his 10 round nontitle bout with Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, at Philadelphia April 18 to meet Lew Massey there on that date. Massey was awarded a questionable decision over the Chicago boxer at Philadelphia last Monday when the referee, Bryan Hayes, stopped the bout in the fourth round. Dublinsky's manager, Jack Eile, said Harry was winning and was unhurt when the bout was halted. Harry was an 8 to 5 favorite to win before the contest.

HARRY DUBLINSKY.

Phil Heinz, north side suburban featherweight champion, and Joey Rozina of Kewanee, Ill., will headline the amateur show tonight at the Belle Plaine Athletic club, 3943 Lincoln avenue. Nestor Bruggman will seek his 22d straight victory against Ray Leiss of Elmwood Park in the semi-final bout. Six other matches are carded.

Johnny Baima, Chicago middleweight, will have an advantage of six or seven pounds over Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., when they fight the 10 round windup bout at White City next Monday night. Baima will weigh about 156 pounds and Stuhley 149. Stuhley has won eight matches in a row in Chicago and was compelled to set the weight for this match at 156 pounds. Baima has fought middleweights ever since he turned professional three years ago and the required weight may weaken him. Johnny's best accomplishments are a draw with Ray Tramblie and a ten round decision over Chuck Heffner.

Gene Higgins, Catholic Youth organization lightweight champion, and Leo Ranieri will meet in the main event of the amateur card at the Kenwood Athletic club, 47th street and Lake Park avenue, tonight. Phil Morris and Joey Kalkowskie battle in the semi-windup bout.

Ray Tramblie, local 160 pound boxer, has left for Rockford, where he will take a vacation for the next two weeks. Bud Saltis, north side boxer, leaves Monday for Milwaukee to prepare for his 10 round match with Gorilla Jones, middleweight champion, at Green Bay, Wis., next Thursday.

Nick Cahler, chairman of the Minneapolis amateur boxing committee, last night entered a team of eight boxers to represent Minneapolis in the Olympic tryouts and Central A. A. U. championships at Loyola university gymnasium next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights. Jack Gibbons, son of Mike Gibbons, former St. Paul middleweight contender, is the 160 pound member of the team. Earle Sather, National A. A. U. heavyweight champion, is another member. The team follows: Earle Sather, heavyweight; Frank Andross, 175 pounds; Jack Gibbons, 160 pounds; John Rowell, 147 pounds; John J. Walsh, 135 pounds; Jerry Chapman, 126 pounds; Jerry Dugan, 118 pounds, and Walter Nolan, 112 pounds.

Jack Kilbourne, middleweight champion of Australia, will start training this afternoon at the Arcade gymnasium for pending bouts. Jack Hurley, manager of Billy Petrolle and Charley Retzlaff, is under observation at Rochester, N. Y., for a series of operations next week. Prince Saunders, south side lightweight, will battle Mickey Genaro at Eau Claire, Wis., next Friday.

Italians Put Fightin' Irish in the Shade

well as the professionals, the Italians outnumber the Irish many names to one, and last week one of the greatest fights of the decade was a contest of courage and not much else between two Italians, Billy Petrolle and Bat Battalino. They were quarreling for a chance to meet the champion of their class, another Italian, Tony Canzoneri, and very appropriately for the prize fight business the loser won. Battalino gets the match with Canzoneri and Petrolle must wait, because of the two Petrolle is the one who is certain to beat Canzoneri.

The Garden firm, which rented the hall to the amateurs for one of those evenings which serve to discredit the professional prize fight business, the Garden's principal industry, obtaining a big rent for an otherwise routine night, was not very gracious to the patrons of amateur sport. The patients were hardly seated before they began to shrink their feet up under them away from the freezing temperature of the floor, where the ice plant was already in action chilling the surface to make ice for the next day's hockey show. When Tex Rickard was building the plant, many a day he poked around in the mortar and pipes of the rising structure and bragged of how little time it would take to convert a common floor into a sheet of ice fit for hockey. Four or five hours would do it. There were so and so many hundreds of miles of brine pipes in that floor. It could be chilled and frozen over for tomorrow's show.

But Monday night with more than 20,000 patrons in the place watching the amateurs, who are the spiritual competitors and, perhaps, the commercial opponents of the professionals nowadays, the Garden put on the chill, so to speak, for the boys who fight for watch fobs at three dollar tops.

Senn Bids for Relay Laurels at Oak Park

Oak Park High school, which has produced one of the outstanding track teams in the state, with a record of seven consecutive victories in indoor meets this season, will find keen competition in the second annual Oak Park relays, which have attracted 40 squads, Saturday at the Oak Park fieldhouse.

Oak Park's closest rival will be Senn, winner of the Chicago Public High School league senior an djunior track championships two weeks ago. Senn's star performer is Freddie Pollard, Negro hurdler, who scored 17 of his team's 29 1-3 points in winning the senior league title.

Pollard Sets Hurdle Record.

In the Chicago league meet, Pollard won the 50 yard low hurdles, 50 yard high hurdles, and pole vault events. His time in the high hurdles was :06.5, a new record. Pollard also competed in the shot put and took third place.

Oak Park's star in the hurdles will be Phil Burling, who led the team to several triumphs this season. Pollard won the high hurdles event in the Oak Park meet last year and also won second place in the pole vault.

Senn's other performers who will seek to lead the team to the championship include Guenther, fleet sprinter; Weinberger, who took third place in the high jump event of the Chicago league's meet, and Delaney, who won the 50 yard dash.

Many Downstate Teams Enter.

Several other Chicago squads have entered the meet. Downstate teams include Peoria Central, Galesburg, Pontiac, and Rockford. Teams from La Grange, Joliet, and practically every school in the West Suburban, South Suburban, and Suburban leagues will participate.

Preliminaries will be held in the afternoon with the finals starting at 7:30 o'clock at night. Glenn Holmes, Oak Park athletic director, announced yesterday that several teams from central Illinois are expected to enter the meet today.

Despite the chilly weather yesterday, the Chicago Public High School league baseball teams continued preparations for the opening of the season on April 13. Several games will be played today.

Although there will be no competition again this season in the Catholic league, several schools will have baseball teams. Among them is St. Rita, which won the last Catholic league championship in 1930. St. Rita engaged several City league teams in practice games last season.

Several veterans have returned to the Lane Tech squad, which captured the league title last season for the seventh time. Among them is Johnny Hari, star pitcher. Johnny has been practicing with the squad daily in Lincoln park.

What college Andy Pilney, Harrison Tech football star, will attend is still a question. Notre Dame, Purdue, and Northwestern have been mentioned as the institutions Andy is considering. Andy, who will be graduated in June, still refuses to state definitely where he will matriculate.

In the west side there still is talk of St. Patrick's victory in the National Catholic High school basketball tournament over St. Mel, its neighbor. St. Patrick's triumph in the finals of the meet avenged three defeats at the hands of St. Mel during the Catholic league season. Brother Sylvester, St. Patrick athletic director, and president of the league, still is receiving congratulations.

"Our four Chicago teams in the tournament all reached the second round, and two went through to the finals. That's a real showing," Brother Sylvester said yesterday.

MRS. MOODY MAY PLAY IN ENGLISH, FRENCH TOURNEYS

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—[Special.]—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, national women's singles tennis champion, may compete in French and English tournaments this summer, probably participating in the Wightman cup matches and the Wimbledon classic in England.

"I am not certain yet," said Mrs. Moody. "My schedule is complete for the trip, however, if I decide to play in the French tournaments."

Joan K. Wins at St. Johns on Good Ride

Bayard, Fla., March 30.—[Special.]—J. V. Pons' filly, Joan K., surprised the patrons at St. Johns Park race track today by carrying off the featured fourth race under good handling by Jockey Buck. Hypoluxo was second and Vladimir third.

Joan K. was overlooked in the betting, paying $22.50. A succession of delays at the barrier caused the races to fall far behind. Joan K., slow to get in motion, was taken to the outside and closed fast to win by a neck. The time was 1:14 4-5 for six furlongs.

Harry Hieover Comes Home.

Mrs. L. V. Bellew's Harry Hieover, with L. Leyland up, scored in the third race by a half length. Bokie B. was second, and Reservation, third. Gan Lee, heavily backed and the early pacemaker, weakened in the stretch. The winner paid $7.20. The time was 1:09 3-5.

R. Warren's River Lee won the second race. The favorites again were far out of it. Jockey Quackenbush shook up River Lee, a field horse, entering the stretch and he landed the purse by a head over Guffle, another outsider. A length away Wild Cress was third. The time was 1:09 4-5 for 5½ furlongs. The winner paid $17.40. Talky set the early pace.

Jesting Wins Opener.

P. S. P. Randolph's filly, Jesting, was too good for her company in the first race for 2 year olds, winning by a neck. Social Bee was second, and High Explosive, third. The money was down on Dark War and Colonel Cloister, but both disappointed. The winner, D. Meade up, paid $16.20, and ran the half mile in 0:50⅕.

CALUMET TEAMS PLAY.

The fifth annual Calumet region basketball tournament, sponsored and held at the South Chicago Y. M. C. A., will open Sunday.

Circus May Drive Hockey Finals Out of New York

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The final series in the playoffs for the Stanley cup, emblem of the world championship in professional hockey, may be forced out of New York for all except one game because of the circus.

The circus comes into Madison Square Garden, home ice of the New York Rangers, at midnight April 5. Yet that date is believed the earliest on which the Rangers, who won a place in the finals by taking the deciding game from the Canadiens last night, can start the closing five game series with the winner of the Montreal Maroons-Toronto Maple Leafs two game semi-final.

The Leafs and Maroons finish their home and home series in Toronto Saturday night. It is considered unlikely that the winner would agree to open the series here Monday night with only two days of rest, and that devoted almost entirely to travel.

SOCIAL CLIMBERS THESE FISH; HOW THEY LIKE CAVIAR

BY BOB BECKER.

Trout fisherman, always interested in the question of what a trout eats, especially the kinds of insects preferred by the brooks, rainbows, and browns, will find much information in the investigations conducted in Michigan. Dr. Jan Metzelaar and Dr. Carl L. Hubbs have gone into this question of feeding habits of the trout and reveal fascinating sidelights on these game fish.

After examining 649 trout stomachs and measuring and classifying the contents they found that the trout foods came under seven headings—land insects, water insects, fish, crustacea, vegetation, mollusks, and trash.

A Change of Diet.

The first conclusion reached in the investigation was this: When they are young, trout feed heavily on insects, but as they increased in size they turn to fish and crustacea for food. This feature is most pronounced in rainbows and browns probably because these two species grow larger than brook trout.

Brown trout up to nine inches in length appear to be harmless insect feeders [ration 84 per cent], but as they grow larger they distinctly turn to a crab and fish diet and end their career as predacious fish, living almost entirely on a fish diet.

Therefore this conclusion cannot be ignored: Small trout are great insect feeders. This holds true for all three species in our waters. But as they attain a larger size they want more substantial food and thus are less inclined to look at the fisherman's artificial fly.

When Fish Eat Caviar.

Another interesting bit of information concerns the rainbow. Medium sized rainbows follow the larger rainbows and eat their eggs during the spawning season. The brown and brook trouts were absolved of such nefarious practices, as neither of these species were found to take part in a "spring rush" to the rainbow spawning beds.

Still another fact revealed by the Michigan investigation puts the brown trout in a bad light. In contrast with the brook trout the browns feed on young trout to a considerable degree; 44.4 per cent according to the stomach examinations tabulated. The rainbow percentage was 6.3, while the brook trout's consumption of other trout was zero.

BURY DESIGNER OF FIRST BALL GLOVE TODAY

Waterford, N. Y., March 30.—(AP)—Alexander C. Smith, said by his friends to have designed the first baseball glove, will be buried here tomorrow. He died yesterday at the age of 76.

Does Your Automobile Insurance Policy Say What You Think It Does?

If your car should be burned or stolen, will your insurance company pay you the amount stated in the policy? The amount named in the policy is a valuation used to determine the cost of the insurance, the rate for fire and theft insurance being a certain price per hundred dollars of valuation.

The policy says that in the event of a total loss you will receive an amount not to exceed the actual loss sustained, the settlement to be agreed upon by you and the adjuster for the insurance company. This is the policy known as the "non valued" form.

Then there is the "valued form" policy. Under the terms of this policy you are paid the face value of the policy, the amount on which you have paid premium.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club issues a VALUED FORM POLICY, which covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

Insurance is one of the services of the club. Other services are free emergency road service, bail bond, home district, touring service, safety work in the schools and on streets and highways, and work in behalf of more roads and wider roads. It costs only $15 to join. Mail the coupon for further information.

CARDS LOSE LAST FLORIDA GAME TO BRAVES, 11-9

Both Teams Enjoy Hitting Sprees.

Bradenton, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—The Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals went on hitting sprees today and the Braves came out on the long end of a 11 to 9 score in the Cardinals' final Florida exhibition.

The Braves got eight hits apiece off Derringer and Stout. The Cardinals got 11 hits off the Boston pitchers. Score:

Boston	200	001	206	11	16	1
St. Louis	011	300	013	9	11	3

WERBER BEATS BROWNS, 3-1.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—George Werber, the boy who stole a game from the Browns yesterday, came through with a home run in the ninth inning today to break a 1 to 1 tie and win for the Buffalo Bisons, 3 to 1. Score:

Buffalo	000	001	002	3	8	0
St. Louis	000	001	000	1	8	1

Batteries—Wilson and Hargrave; Gray, Coffman and Young.

REDS NIP MACKS, 10-9.

Orlando, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Despite two home runs by Jimmy Foxx and the fact they held the lead twice, the Philadelphia Athletics lost to the Cincinnati Reds today, 10 to 9.

Foxx slammed out his first circuit drive in the first inning with two on bases. His second came in the ninth and gave the A's a two run advantage.

However, Heath, first baseman of the Reds, duplicated the trick in Cincinnati's half of the ninth with two men on and won the game. Score:

Cincinnati	310	030	003	10	16	1

Batteries—Krause, Rowman and Heving; Eckhart, Rixey, Frey and Lombardi, Manion.

YANKEES WIN, 2-0.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—With Johnny Murphy, former Fordham university star, pitching three hit ball, the New York Yankees defeated the House of David, 2 to 0, today. It was the Yankees' final game of the season in Florida and their 11th victory in 16 starts.

In addition to holding the House of David nine to three hits, Murphy made one of the Yanks' six hits off Swaney and scored one run. Swaney once pitched for Reading of the International league.

New York	000	000	11*	2	6	2

Batteries—Swaney and Barrett; Murphy and Jorgens.

RED SOX SHUT OUT BEARS.

Savannah, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox's slugging streak continued today and the American leaguers shut out the Newark Bears, 10 to 0. Even Wilcy Moore was able to hit the International league twirling. He pitched the last four innings and not only got a single but scored a run. Score:

Newark [I.L.]	000	000	000	0	6	4

Batteries—MacFadyen, Moore and Connolly; Miner, Mamaux and Hargreaves.

PIRATES LOSE TO ANGELS.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—(AP)—After what happened today the Pittsburgh Pirates have reason to believe the Los Angeles Angels are wrongly named.

They went through an 11 inning game, saw Larry French hammered all over the lot, juggled four fielding chances, and ended up on the short end of a 6 to 5 count. Score:

Pittsburgh	000	001	040	00	5	8
Los Angeles	201	002	000	01	6	15

PHILS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT.

Atlanta, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—The Phillies humbled Red Barron's Crackers again today, winning their third straight victory by a 7 to 5 count.

Capt. Pinkey Whitney returned to third base after an attack of ptomaine poisoning and demonstrated the extent of his recovery by lining out a homer and a single in four trips to the plate. The homer came in the second inning with two on base and was the hit that won the game.

Roy Hansen, tall left hander, gave the Crackers three runs at the outset but kept them well in hand for the next five innings. In addition, he laid down a safe bunt and connected for a double and a triple.

Atlanta [S. A.]	300	000	020	5	10	2

GIANTS WIN, 5 TO 4.

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—(AP)—Timely hitting in a first inning rally and a two run flurry in the third gave the New York Giants a 5 to 4 victory over the San Francisco Missions here today.

Len Koenecke, recruit outfielder, started the scoring festivities when his three bagger sent Critz over the plate in the first inning. All five runs were scored off Herman Pillette.

Walker pitched the full game for the Giants. Score:

New York [N. L.]	302	000	000	5	9	4
Missions [P. C. L.]	002	020	000	4	11	3

PARSONS, PORTER TO LEAD 1933 CHICAGO QUINTET

Keith Parsons, center, and Jim Porter, guard, yesterday were elected co-captains of the 1933 University of Chicago basketball team. Both players are juniors this year. Parsons' home town is Davenport, Ia., and Porter's is Topeka, Kas. Parsons, who came to the university as an honor scholarship holder, also is center on the football team.

Major letters were awarded to nine members of the squad—Capt. Harry Ashley, Frankfort, Ind.; Paul Stephenson, Elkhart, Ind.; Kenneth Fraider, Bernard Wien, Louis Schilke, Scott Rexinger, and Byron Evans of Chicago, and Parsons and Porter. Ashley, Stephenson, Parsons, Rexinger, and Fraider previously had won letters in basketball. Harold Wegner, Laporte, Ind., was awarded an old English C.

HOOSIERS RAINED OUT.

LOTT LOSES TO KAMRATH IN NET PLAY AT HOUSTON

Houston, Tex., March 30.—(AP)—George Lott of Chicago, seeded No. 2, was eliminated early tonight from the second annual Houston invitation tennis tournament by Karl Kamrath of Texas university, 6-4, 7-5.

Wilmer Allison of Texas, seeded No. 3; Gilbert Hall of New York, seeded No. 4, and Junior Coen of Kansas City, seeded No. 5, remained in the tournament. Allison advanced to the quarter finals by winning two matches during the afternoon from David Peden of Texas university, 6-0, 6-1, and from Doc Barr of Dallas, 6-1, 6-2. Hall had to go three sets to enter the third round, defeating Sterling Williams, Texas university, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Coen did not play in singles today having advanced to the third round yesterday.

Stagg to Referee Annual Kansas Relay Carnival

Lawrence, Kas., March 30.—[Special.]—Officials of the tenth annual Kansas relays today announced that Amos Alonzo Stagg, University of Chicago director of athletics, will act as referee in the meet which will be held in Memorial stadium here April 23.

K. of C. Quintets End 1st Round Play Tonight

Concluding games in the first round of the Knights of Columbus basketball league championship series will be played tonight at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Four games will be played, with the winners advancing into the quarter-finals Sunday afternoon. The opening game will bring together Santa Maria, south end division champion, and O'Connell of the north division, runner-up for league title last year. Madonna, central section titleholder, meets San Salvador, also of the south end division. Madonna has an all-star lineup headed by Austie Ayers and Johnny Ivers, two of the foremost players in the league.

Loyola-Hyde Park, south division champ, tackles Hildebrand of the west division in the third game. Loyola was a semi-finalist last year, losing a one point game to O'Connell. Hildebrand, led by Freddie Dillon, won ten straight games before losing its first west division game.

St. Cyr, with big Bob Gruenig in its lineup, is paired against Quigley of the central division in the fourth game. St. Cyr won the north division title with 15 victories in 16 games. Quigley, with a lineup composed mainly of former Tilden players, has won its last eight games.

Damen, league champion, drew a bye in the first round and will play its first game Sunday against the winner of the St. Cyr-Quigley contest. Members of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, in annual meeting here, will be guests at tonight's games. The schedule:

St. Cyr, north division, vs. Quigley, central.

DECIDE WESTERN ELECTRIC TITLES TOMORROW NIGHT

Ten boxing and six wrestling titles will be decided tomorrow night by Western Electric company athletes in their annual championship tournament in the Chicago Stadium.

The windup of the show brings together Pete Smagatz, Golden Gloves alternate of 1931, city Y. M. C. A. champion and Western Electric 175 pound champion three years, and Ray Hynds, who has scored five knockouts and won two decisions in his last eight fights.

James Kucaba vs. William Dundy, 112 pounds.
Frank Trunek vs. Bernard Abrahamson, 122 pounds.
H. Connolly vs. Laurence Nelson, 128 pounds.
Louis Valchar vs. Clint Endsley, 135 pounds.

Peter Gorman vs. Michael Karbens, 160 pounds.
Ray Hynds vs. Pete Smagatz, 175 pounds.
Joseph Speedwills vs. H. W. Dietrich, 175 pounds.

Kynard McCormick vs. Robert Vranek, 118 pounds.
Pete Vorres vs. Ray Nowicki, 135 pounds.
Frank Zid vs. Edgar Robertson, 145 pounds.
Val Vosen vs. Paul Volpe, 155 pounds.

ABC Entrants Face Test in Closing Days

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—(AP)—It will now take a team count of 2,888; doubles, 1,259; singles, 676, and all-events, 1,883, to place among the big ten leaders in the 32d annual American Bowling congress tournament. Changes among the pacemakers are becoming less frequent with the meet entering its final days of competition. It will be concluded April 11, and the scores already are exceptionally high.

Only one change occurred among the top-notchers today. Dr. Casimir Czarnecki, Toledo, counted 1,883 for tenth place in the all-events. After shooting 653 in the team competition last night, Czarnecki followed with 582 and 648, respectively, in the doubles and singles events.

Joe Young, Bradford, Pa., had an excellent start in the singles division. He opened with 258 and 222, but could not stand the pace. Three splits in the final game gave him a 180 score and a 660 total, high of the day in the event. Leaders:

PREP WRESTLERS IN MAROON TITLE MEET TONIGHT

More than 200 wrestlers, representing twelve city and suburban high schools, will compete in the seventh interscholastic wrestling championship at the University of Chicago tonight. Teams entered are: Bloom, Bowen, Calumet, Crane, Harrison, Lane, Lindblom, Morgan Park, Morton, Senn, Tilden, and Tuley.

Tilden won last year with 47 points, far outdistancing Lane, which was second with 10 points. Tilden recently won the Chicago league championship by defeating Crane. Morton is regarded as the strongest of the suburban entries.

Only three of last year's individual champions will defend their titles, McEvoy, 125 pounds, and Finwald, 135 pounds, of Tilden, and Silverstein of Crane, 175 pound champion.

41st Stagg Team Begins Drill on Midway Gridiron

The advance guard of Coach A. A. Stagg's forty-first University of Chicago football team yesterday opened a six weeks' spring practice program on the Midway.

A. A. STAGG.

Forty-three men, all but a few of them freshmen, have signed up for the practice, and Stagg, cheerful and vigorous, sent thirty-five of them through a forward passing drill as the first exercise.

Chicago will be counting on its sophomores next fall, and if all goes well Coach Stagg is willing to admit he will have "a strong team."

"We can count on a nucleus of veterans," he said. "We had a group of substitutes who were coming along fast last year. And the freshman squad was a good one."

CRABBE BREAKS U. S. 1,500 METER SWIM RECORD

New Haven, Conn., March 30.—[Special.]—Clarence [Buster] Crabbe, Los Angeles Athletic club swimming star, today established a new American record in the 1,500 meter swim when he won the first event of the National A. A. U. swimming championship meet in the Yale pool.

Crabbe's time in the event was 19 minutes 45 3-5 seconds, breaking his own record of 20:06½, made in Honolulu in 1930.

James Cristy of the University of Michigan was second. Cristy's time, 19:04 2-5, also broke the former record. Maiola Kalili of the Los Angeles Athletic club was third and Ray Ruddy, New York Athletic club, placed fourth.

In the early stages of the race Cristy led by several yards, but the coast swimmer took the lead shortly after more than half of the distance had been covered. Crabbe's time was 45 seconds short of the world's record held by Arnia Borg.

Because of the Olympics this year the 1,500 meter race was included in the program by the A. A. U.

Heller, the Man Who Beat Canadiens, Is Only a Boy

New York, March 30.—(AP)—A big shy blond youngster named Ehrhardt Heller wandered into the New York Ranger hockey fold from its Springfield farm in January and promptly started his big league hockey career all wrong.

The first National league game in which he played was against the Boston Bruins. He immediately incurred a major penalty, was banished, and during his absence the Bruins sewed up the match, 4 to 1.

Mates Kid Him Little.

He was out practicing with the rest of the Ranger crew today having a big time whirling up and down the Madison Square Garden rink. On the same ice last night he skated alone twice through the Canadiens' defense to score two goals and clinch the last game the Rangers needed to enter the finals. Single handed he won the third game of the series with the same kind of a dash for the only goal of the game.

"He's a great kid," he said, "a nice boy. He's ambitious and he minds his own business, has no bad habits, and he listens well. Old Ching Johnston has taught him a lot.

"Of course he's still in the rookie stage, but he's a great prospect and exceptionally fast. He scores those goals alone because right now he goes best straight ahead. Next year he'll learn a lot of inside hockey, and after that he'll be a great player."

He "Visits" Hainsworth.

There's a load of natural color in the youngster. He was born in Kitchener, Ont., a few houses from Babe Siebert, the other rookie defense star of the Rangers, and the two have played their brief minor league and Rangers' careers together.

To them the Stanley cup playoff with the Canadiens was a very personal affair. Back home in Kitchener the hockey idol always has been George Hainsworth, the veteran goal tender of the Canadiens. It was against Hainsworth that Heller scored his winning goals.

"George used to teach us to play when we were kids," Heller explained. "We idolized him. It was great to play against him.

"He kidded me a little the first night. The second game he asked, 'When are you coming down to see me?'

"I said, 'I'll be down.'

"When I got that first big goal I couldn't help turning back to him and saying, 'and I'll be back again some time.'"

BASKET COACHES BEGIN ANNUAL SESSIONS TODAY

Directors Will Meet to Outline Program.

A meeting of the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches at the Shoreland hotel today will inaugurate the annual convention of the association which is to continue tomorrow and Saturday.

Members of the board who will convene at 3 o'clock today to outline the program for the remainder of the convention are A. A. Scharinger, Creighton university, president; H. G. Olsen, Ohio State university, first vice president; Bob Mundorff, Georgia Tech, second vice president; H. B. Ortner, Cornell university, third vice president; A. C. Lenborg, Northwestern university, secretary treasurer; H. C. Beresford, University of Colorado; Dr. F. C. Allen, University of Kansas; H. C. Carlson, University of Pittsburgh, and L. P. Andreas, Syracuse university.

200 Coaches Expected.

Two hundred coaches from all over the United States are expected to attend the three day meeting. High school coaches are eligible for allied membership in the association and have been invited to attend the sessions.

Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the western conference, will open the meeting tomorrow morning with a talk on "Present Trends of Inter-collegiate Athletics." In the afternoon E. C. Quigley, National league umpire and football and basketball official of the Missouri Valley conference, will talk on "Basketball from the Officials' Viewpoint."

John Schommer, Big Ten football and basketball official, will speak tomorrow night at the annual banquet of the association. The Saturday morning session will be devoted to a discussion and recommendation of rule changes.

Seek to Speed Up Game.

The debate on rule changes is expected to result in a number of changes being recommended to the rules committee which will meet at a later date. Most of the proposed legislation centers around the speeding up of the game by eliminating stalling as much as possible.

Among the suggested changes which will come up for discussion is one which would call "held" ball when a player holds the ball for five seconds in the back court even though he is not closely guarded.

ALFRED T. WARD, WITH TRIBUNE 43 YEARS, DIES

Became Confidential Aid to Joseph Medill.

Word reached Chicago yesterday of the death Tuesday night at his winter home in Hollywood, Cal., of Alfred T. Ward, former assistant secretary and treasurer of The Tribune company, and for 43 years an employé of the newspaper. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Ward was born in Essex, England. In 1885 he brought his wife to the United States. They landed in New York at the time of the historic railroad rate war, and their fare to Chicago was a dollar apiece. Mr. Ward had a letter of introduction to a wholesale grocer, for whom he went to work. But he was not satisfied with the job, and went to the office of The Tribune to insert a "situation wanted" ad. He found a job waiting for him there.

Operated Elevator.

He was hired as the operator of the one elevator in the building, an old fashioned contrivance which the operator controlled with a rope. That was on Nov. 1, 1885. Joseph Medill, founder of The Tribune, became interested in his elevator operator and assigned him clerical duties, to be performed while his elevator was not in use, which familiarized him with the financial operations of the newspaper.

Presently Mr. Ward became clerk to Mr. Medill. His duties in this capacity increased as The Tribune grew, and for a number of years before Mr. Medill's death he was the publisher's confidential assistant in financial matters.

It was in those days that Mr. Ward first met Col. Robert R. McCormick, present publisher of The Tribune, and Capt Joseph M. Patterson, publisher of the New York News. As little boys, they frequently came to visit their grandfather, Mr. Medill, in his office. On those occasions Alfred Ward was delegated to escort the boys to the circus, or to see that the money given them by their grandfather to buy candy was properly spent.

Became Cashier in 1902.

In 1902, when The Tribune moved into a new home at Madison and Dearborn streets, Mr. Ward became cashier of the company, a post which he held for 22 years. In those years he become the confidant of scores of employés of the newspaper. They not only sought his advice on their financial affairs and investments, but went to him for counsel on their personal problems.

Mr. Ward became assistant secretary-treasurer of The Tribune company in 1924, and held that position until he retired on Dec. 31, 1928. Following his retirement he was appointed one of the trustees of the estate of Joseph Medill, and held that post at the time of his death.

Burial Services Here.

Mr. Ward's Chicago home was at 1237 Farwell avenue. His widow, Mrs. Lola Day Ward, and three children, Mrs. D. C. Frisby of Chicago, Alfred Jr., of New York and Frank Ward of Los Angeles, survive.

The body will be brought back to Chicago for burial. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last night.

Stuart A. Allen, B. & O. Traffic Official, Dies

Stuart Ashley Allen, 64 years old, who until a year ago was freight traffic manager of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in Chicago, died yesterday at his home, 1120 Lake Shore drive. Mr. Allen relinquished his position, which he had held for ten years, because of ill health last year. He was then appointed assistant to the general freight traffic manager, the post which he held at the time of his death. His widow, Mrs. Helen Allen, survives. Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the chapel at 1820 South Michigan avenue. The body will be taken to Cochran, Va., near Mr. Allen's birthplace, for burial.

Chided by Mother-in-Law, Salesman Quaffs Poison

During a quarrel over his mother-in-law James Janota, 31 years old, a salesman, swallowed a small quantity of mercurochrome in his home at 3133 South Crawford avenue last night. At the county hospital it was said he would recover. Janota told police his mother-in-law had reproved him for not aiding his wife in her housework. When he complained to his wife, he said, she sided with her mother.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Through an error in The Tribune yesterday, Mrs. Gertrude H. Campbell, 5143 Harper avenue, a candidate for Republican nomination in the primary for state representative from the Fifth district, was quoted as describing prohibition conditions in Washington, Kan. She alluded to conditions in Hanover, Kas., in 1899.

H. H. Heins, First National Official, to Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Herman H. Heins, a vice president of the First National bank, will be held at 2:30 o'clock today in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Mr. Heins, who was 59 years old, died Tuesday in his home at 1530 Touhy avenue after a long illness. He has been connected with the bank for more than forty years, and became an official in 1909. His widow, Mrs. Gussie Huber Heins, survives.

REVEALS LEGACY OF $1,000,000 TO JOHN A. FARWELL

Estranged Wife Asks More Alimony.

John Arthur Farwell, wealthy sportsman and son of a pioneer Chicago merchant family, recently fell heir to the $1,000,000 estate of his late mother, Mrs. Ava W. Farwell, it was disclosed yesterday when his wife, Mrs. Loretta B. Farwell of the Knickerbocker hotel, 163 East Walton place, filed a petition for an increase in alimony won under a separate maintenance decree granted twelve years ago.

At the same time Mrs. Farwell made public the terms of the trust agreement which controls her husband's fortune and revealed that if he dies without issue Chicago charities will receive bequests totaling $700,000. Mr. Farwell, who now is 58 years old, has no children.

Reopens Old Battle.

The petition, filed before Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, reopens a litigation begun sixteen years ago. The separate maintenance order granted Mrs. Farwell alimony of $150 a month. She now asks that this be immediately increased to $800 a month and that it be raised to $1,200 a month at the end of two years. The petition was introduced by Attorney O. John Rogge.

Mrs. Farwell said her mother-in-law had created the trust of which her husband now is beneficiary in May, 1918. Under the trust he received nothing until his mother's death, which occurred last December in her home at Beverly Hills, Cal., where Farwell now is living. At that time, the petition charged, he began to receive $15,000 annually from the estate and will continue to receive this sum until he is 60 years old. From that day he will receive the total income from the trust, which attorneys estimate at $50,000 a year.

Provides Gifts to Charity.

The trust, according to the petition, was drawn so that it would terminate on the twenty-first birthday of any of Farwell's children.

If, however, he died without any children, the trust provided that the following bequests be made at his death: One hundred thousand dollars each to the Old People's home at 4724 Vincennes avenue, the United Charities, the Eleanor association, the Home for Destitute Crippled Children of Chicago, and the Chicago Home for the Friendless. Bequests of $50,000 each were designated for the Musical Education fund, the Presbyterian Hospital fund, the Christian Science Benevolent association trust, and the Fallen Women of Chicago, a charitable organization.

The petition for additional alimony, Attorney Rogge explained last evening, was based upon the increased property at Farwell's disposal. The original alimony order, he said, was granted after extended hearings during which Farwell insisted that he was unable to earn his own living because of ill health and was forced to depend upon his mother's benevolence.

Sets Hearing for May 8.

Judge Trude yesterday allowed the attorney to file the petition and set May 8 as the date for its hearing. Attorneys for Farwell will appear to contest the petition, it was stated.

The younger Mrs. Farwell's separate maintenance suit filed in 1918 was the first of three suits that attracted public attention. A $100,000 damage suit by Mrs. Loretta Farwell against her mother-in-law, charging alienation of her husband's affections, had been filed in 1916 but the case was not heard until 1921. The jury decided against the estranged wife after a bitter contest, and the verdict was upheld by the Appellate court. The third action was the effort of the elder Mrs. Farwell to break the trust which she had created. Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan held that the agreement was irrevocable, in a decision given on Feb. 21, 1926.

VIENNA, March 30.—(AP)—Jan Kubelik, celebrated violinist, brought his financial difficulties into bankruptcy court today, placing his liabilities at $125,000 and offering to pay his creditors 35 per cent. He blamed heavy losses in American securities for his predicament.

STATE WORKERS IN TENNESSEE TO GO PAYLESS

Nashville, Tenn., March 30.—[Special.]—Beginning with Gov. Henry Horton, employés of the state of Tennessee will go unpaid for four months after their March salaries have been received, Roy C. Wallace, state controller, announced today.

"Unless money comes from some unexpected source," he declared, "I have serious doubts that we will be able to meet the pay roll again for four months. The only funds left are earmarked for distribution otherwise."

Mr. Wallace's announcement came after he had issued $250,000 in pay checks and mailed checks for one month's operating expense to the state normals and the University of Tennessee.

"We are forced to lay aside $850,000 to meet payment of interest on state debts due July 1," Wallace said. "That will absorb practically all the revenue we have coming in.

"Fortunately confederate pensioners will be paid, but I have scant hope of paying teachers at all this year."

ATLANTIC RATES CUT BY U. S. AND GERMAN LINES

Others Debate Action in Brussels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—[Special.]—The trans-Atlantic liners are going to be as well filled as the short vacation cruise steamers this spring if cut rates can lure voyagers aboard.

Drastic reductions for all classes of passage, amounting in some classes to almost 40 per cent, were announced today by the United States Lines, to become effective immediately.

At the same time the North German Lloyd Line here announced a new schedule to become effective April 4 which calls for reductions up to 50 per cent.

Others Consider Action.

Meanwhile executives of virtually every major trans-Atlantic steamship line were meeting this afternoon behind closed doors in Brussels to discuss new rates for the Atlantic trip. The German, the Cunard, the Canadian Pacific, French, Danish and Swedish lines and the Italian group were said to be opposing drastic reductions.

The rates announced by the United States Lines are the lowest since 1914. They apply to the flagship Leviathan, the President Roosevelt and the President Harding.

There will be a 40 per cent saving for voyagers in the next few months as the old practice of jacking up the rates for summer trips has been definitely abandoned.

First Class Rate Low.

Under the new scale the lowest first class rate for the Leviathan is $192, as compared with the former $265 summer rate.

Today one can purchase a double room on "D" deck for as little as $385 or a de luxe suite for two persons for $520. The one way rate on the President Roosevelt and President Harding has been cut to $118 to any British port, $123 to Cherbourg, and $128 to Hamburg. There is a further reduction of approximately 7½ per cent for round trips.

The United States lines had hardly made their announcement when the North German Lloyd line followed with its new scale. S. Schroeder, traffic manager for the German line, said the reductions offered by his line were the result of a decreased business last year and a prospective dull season this summer. Cabins and bath on "A" deck on the German boats will be reduced from $582 to $290. The new rates are the cheapest, Mr. Schroeder said, since 1912 on his line.

Many Operate at Loss.

Trans-Atlantic travel has been hard hit for several years, many of the palatial liners making the round trips at a big loss more than half the time. According to the most recent statistics, only 624,050 passengers made the trip between American and European ports last year, against a total of 1,228,630 in 1930.

F. A. BRANAGAN, FIRST TREASURER OF ISLANDS, DEAD

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—(AP)—Frank A. Branagan, 74, first American treasurer in the Philippine islands and a veteran in government service, is dead. He fell a victim to pneumonia yesterday.

He returned to this country last year after 31 years of service in the orient. Mr. Branagan was born in Steubenville, O.

In 1900, when William Howard Taft was appointed governor of the islands, Mr. Branagan was selected to accompany the party and to assume the duties of the first American treasurer to the Philippine islands. He organized an insular bank in connection with the treasury department.

He became secretary of commerce of the islands in 1908. This position he held until he went to Shanghai to join the Hongkong-Shanghai Banking corporation.

PUBLIC SERVICE NET EARNINGS EXCEEDING 1931

Insull Gives Third of Utility Reports.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has been earning more thus far this year than it did during the first quarter of 1931. Moreover, earnings for all of last year were the largest in the company's history. These facts were set forth yesterday by Samuel Insull, chairman, in the third of a series of analyses dealing with the three large operating companies of the Insull group of public utilities. Earlier this week Mr. Insull analyzed the financial situation of the Commonwealth Edison and Peoples Gas Light and Coke companies.

In addition to a general survey Mr. Insull explains plans for refinancing maturing obligations this year, which aggregate more than $27,000,000. He also gives details concerning investments totaling $38,755,504 held by the Public Service Subsidiary corporation, whose capital stock is held by Public Service of Northern Illinois. The latter company's investment in its subsidiary was $32,598,700 at the end of 1931. The parent company has $15,000,000 of 4 per cent notes maturing on July 30 next, and $10,000,000 of debentures maturing Aug. 1. Its subsidiaries have obligations totaling $2,292,000 maturing during this year.

Net Shows Increase.

"So far this year, the operating revenues of the company are approximately the same as for the same period in 1931 and the net income shows an increase," Mr. Insull says. "Therefore, even if there is no pick-up in general business for the remainder of the year, the management feels we will make a very satisfactory showing for the full year.

"The investing public is naturally interested in our financing plans for this year. Any growing and expanding company, any utility company which keeps its service and equipment up to date, naturally has to do financing from year to year. This year, our company has an issue of one year notes coming due and two other issues of maturing securities that will have to be taken care of. This is a happening in the regular course of our business and I have no reason to doubt that we will be able to take care of these maturities, partly out of our own resources and partly by the issuance of additional securities.

Have No Bank Loans.

"Like the Commonwealth Edison and Peoples Gas Light and Coke companies, neither the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois nor the Public Service Subsidiary corporation has any bank loans. We had in excess of $7,000,000 in cash in the banks last Wednesday.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding of the function of Public Service Subsidiary corporation. The corporation showed on its books on Dec. 31, 1931, an ownership of $38,755,504 in properties which, in the main, are regarded as necessary to the protection and development of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. This ownership has been acquired over many years in accordance with our general plan for the com-

Canadian National Railways Taking Taxpayers for Ride

BY SCRUTATOR.

The Canadian people, in attempting to solve their transportation problem, have created a Frankenstein monster which threatens not only private capital but the financial and political stability of the nation as well.

That is the essence of the argument presented by John T. Hackett, K. C., Conservative member of the house of commons at Ottawa, in an address before the Canadian club of Toronto.

Mr. Hackett warned his audience that a continuation of the present policies can lead to nothing but a state monopoly of railways and the setting up within the government of a political and economic organization bigger than the government itself.

Even now, he pointed out, more than two-thirds of the people who look to the Canadian government for their pay checks are employés of the public owned railroads.

State Within State.

"Double this number," says Mr. Hackett, "and I believe you will have created a state within a state, in which the ostensible power will be in the Dominion government, but the real power will be in the railway organization. The economic and financial question will unalterably and inevitably have become a political question."

How far Canada has already wandered from balanced books toward ballot box economy may be seen by examining some of the figures presented by Mr. Hackett.

From April 1, 1919, to Dec. 31, 1931, the Canadian government advanced in cash and credit to the Canadian National railways $1,422,978,169, and it is not through yet, for every year the system shows a bigger deficit than ever and the siphon has to be kept in the national treasury. All this in a nation with one-tenth the population of the United States.

1923	$51,697,000
1924	54,860,000
1925	41,444,000
1926	20,894,000
1927	37,636,000
1928	33,350,000
1929	40,033,000

"And for 1931," he adds, "we know the deficit was greater than in any of the years mentioned."

Exceeds Income Tax Receipts.

The annual interest charge on the funded debt of the government owned railways, Mr. Hackett explains, is greater than the Dominion's total revenues from income tax. For the eight years from 1923 to 1930 the railway system's earnings, before interest, averaged $28,612,500 per year. This represents a five per cent return on a capital investment of only $572,250,000, which is just about equal to the new capital and expenditures made during that period.

Mr. Hackett declares that "public ownership of railways in Canada has never given satisfaction," and suggests that the government sell its railroads back into private ownership.

To Canada, with its spare population and vast distances, separating producers and markets, cheap transportation is a necessity. The Dominion is now discovering that when you furnish transportation cheaply at a loss and make up the deficit out of tax money from the treasury cheapness is more apparent than real.

Must Compete Unfairly.

"The state owned roads," says Mr. Hackett, "can only hope to get enough business to live on if they take it away from the Canadian Pacific railway. To do this they offer a service which no privately owned road could supply. Their road, their equipment, their service generally has been brought to the highest point of perfection at the expense of the public.

"The Canadian Pacific, in an attempt to hold its business, has endeavored to follow the Canadian National in betterment and lavishness of its service. In this it has failed. The state owned roads get more and more business away from the Canadian Pacific and go further and further into debt.

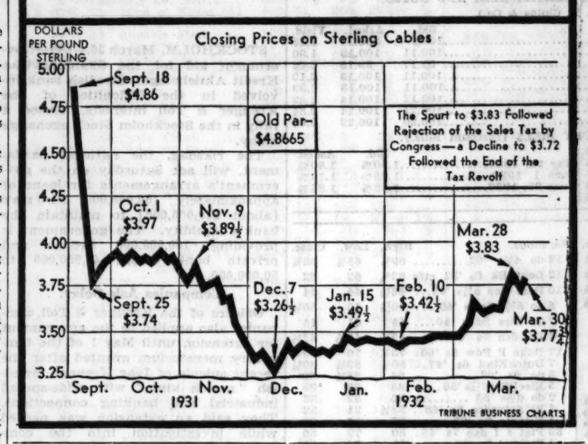
"The Canadian Pacific has mortgaged its properties, cut its dividend and the wages of its employés. Its bankruptcy and absorption by the state is an inevitable result of the present so-called competition, which is really not competition but a race toward destruction."

Yankees Large Shareholders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 30.—Americans own more stock of the Canadian Pacic railway, leading corporation of the dominion, than do Canadians, it was revealed here today. Common shares owned in the United States total 29.03 per cent, against 20.04 per cent owned in Canada. Combined common and preferred shares owned in the United States total 20.78 per cent, against 14.30 per cent in Canada. The United Kingdom is major holder, with 44.80 per cent of the common and 59.97 per cent of both common and preferred combined.

Sterling Since England Went Off the Gold Standard



FOREIGN MONEY PROVES ERRATIC IN DAY'S MARKET

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Foreign currencies made irregular changes today and closed with a mixture of moderate gains and losses.

Sterling cables, after dropping about 5 cents, finished half a cent net higher at $3.78. It was reported early in the day that the Bank of England was selling to keep down the quotation, but if this was the case such offerings eventually proved ineffectual.

Advices from London spoke of the favorable reception there to news that congress was proceeding to balance the budget.

French francs again reacted and at the closing rate of 3.92 15-16 cents were comfortably below the gold export point. Several other continental rates, however, developed late firmness. Nominal advances appeared in the belga, the Dutch guilder and the reichsmark. Scandinavians were erratic. Canadian dollars rose to a new high for the year above 90 cents.

Agreement Gives Cuba '32 Sugar Crop 2,700,000 Tons

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, March 30.—(AP)—The international sugar council today issued a statement officially disclosing the terms of the agreement reached at Paris on March 26 by the principal sugar producing nations. That arrangement, the statement said, gave Cuba a 1932 crop of 2,700,000 long tons. European and Peruvian producers agreed to reduction of the export quotas provided in the Chadbourne plan by the amount which Java's exports may exceed 1,500,000 metric tons in the year beginning April 1, 1932, and ending March 31, 1933. The European producers also agreed to corresponding reductions in this year's sowings.

Change in Wheat Rules Approved by Farmers

Recent action of the Chicago Board of Trade in reinstating No. 1 and No. 2 yellow hard wheat as deliverable on contracts was approved by a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Farmers Grain Dealers association at Morris, Ill., Tuesday evening. R. I. Mansfield, a director of the Federation of American Business and a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, was a speaker at the meeting.

BANK RESCUE GROUP TO PAY 2D DIVIDEND

The National Credit corporation, which was organized last October by banks throughout the country as an emergency to make loans to needy banks, is ready to make a second repayment to subscribing banks.

It will amount to 10 per cent, or about $13,500,000, and will follow an initial refund of 15 per cent, or $20,250,000, made a few days ago.

Subscribing banks originally advanced about $135,000,000 to the corporation. This sum and $50,000,000 additional advanced by individual banks was used in helping 1,200 banks.

U. S. Parleys with Greece on Sales of Some Wheat

ATHENS, March 30.—(AP)—Negotiations which are under way at Washington for the purchase of American wheat for Greece remained without definite result today, it was announced. The government also has been negotiating with Canada and Argentina for wheat purchases, but the Argentine negotiations have broken down. Canada has no commercial treaty with Greece, so any wheat from there would be subject to a 10 per cent import duty.

Koppers Gas, Coke Shows $2,458,188 Net Income, '31

Net income of the Koppers Gas and Coke company and subsidiaries for 1931 was $2,458,188 after depreciation and depletion, interest and federal taxes, equal to $12.29 a share on 200,000 shares of 6 per cent preferred. This compares with net income of $3,140,113, or $15.70 a share on the preferred earned in 1930. All the common stock of the Koppers Coal company was acquired during 1931 and a depletion charge, it is believed, was the result of such acquisition.

I. C. C. COMMITTEE IN SENATE TOLD TO CURB BUSES

Washington, D. C., March 30.—(AP)—Representatives of railroad labor and owners appeared before the senate interstate commerce committee today to ask for federal regulation of motor traffic.

Fred N. Oliver, representing the National Association of Owners of Railroad and Public Utility Securities, asked that the same regulations applied to railroads to be placed over truck and bus operations. He said motor carriers are receiving a subsidy from the government in the form of free or practically free roadway.

John T. Corbett of Beloit, Wis., representing the Wisconsin Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, talked on unemployment among railroad workers, asserting that since 1920 there has been a reduction in the number of railroad employés of 888,000.

Westinghouse Electric Pays 25c Dividend

New York, March 30.—With Wall street prepared for complete omission of dividends on the common stock of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, the announcement made after the meeting today that directors had ordered a dividend of 25 cents a share on the junior stock was received with some measure of surprise.

The regular quarterly disbursement of 87½ cents a share on the cumulative participating preferred stock was approved, both payable April 30 to stockholders of record April 11.

The latest declaration on the common stock represents a further cut in rate. In each of the two previous quarters dividends of 62½ cents a share were paid, prior to which the company distributed two quarterly dividends of $1 each.

Deficit Is Expeced.

The belief that dividend payments on the common would be omitted at today's meeting was based on current indications that the company would show a deficit of between $1,250,000 and $1,300,000 after preferred dividends. This would approximate 50 cents a share on the common.

However, if actual figures are within this range, results would be considerably better than in the initial quarter of 1931, when net loss of $2,885,945, or $1.14 a share, on the common was reported.

Another factor which was expected to influence the board in passing the dividend at this time is the report that electrical equipment manufacturers are preparing for keen competition. In that event liquid assets and the maintenance of a strong financing position would prove of benefit to companies engaged in that field.

Goodyear Fails to Act.

Directors of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company met last week and failed to take action on the common dividend due at that time, it was learned today. On Feb. 1 the company paid a common dividend of 25 cents a share, placing the junior issue on a $1 a share annual basis. Prior to that a $3 annual rate had been in effect since the fore part of 1931.

Earnings of the company suffered severely during the last year as the result of the highly competitive conditions in the domestic market, and profits were also adversely affected by the violent fluctuations in foreign exchange which hampered the company's raw material purchases and retarded sales.

Sales declined $44,863,000 last year to a total of $159,200,000, while net income before special reserves for fluctuation in foreign exchange decreased 45 per cent from the 1930 results.

Payment of dividends on both the common and preferred shares of Valvoline Oil company, due at this time, has been deferred until May, according to announcement today. Distributions of $1.50 quarterly on the common and $2 on the preferred are due.

Directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph company at the May meeting of the board are expected to declare the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share on the capital stock, it is learned from reliable sources today, notwithstanding that first quarter net income will not cover requirements for the period.

The directors of the Hercules Powder company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the company's preferred stock, payable May 14 to stockholders of record May 3.

EXCHANGE RULE ON STOCK LOANS BOOSTS SHARES

Fears of "Squeeze" Bring Covering.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 30.—Fears of a "squeeze" when the stock exchange's new ban on promiscuous stock loans goes into effect Friday morning brought enough covering into the market today to tilt prices irregularly upward. Gains were narrow for the most part, and some rather sharp losses showed up here and there in the finals.

Steel operations were reported down again to approximately the low levels of last December, at a time when they ordinarily reach the year's peak, and the electric output figures were anything but inspiring, reflecting, as they did, a drop of 1.5 per cent from the previous week and one of 10.3 per cent from the corresponding week of last year.

Adverse Dividend News.

Unfavorable dividend actions by the boards of Goodyear Tire and Rubber and Westinghouse Electric militated against the rubber and utility groups, and the news that New York City administration would continue to oppose an increased fare was a midriff blow to the traction issues, which have been on something of a boom on prospects of higher rates.

Considering the many obstacles it had to encounter and the lack of any decidedly stimulating influence, the market, therefore, may be said to have acquitted itself rather heroically.

Business Is Small.

Business was again only moderately active, the total falling short of a million shares. Some fairly large sized blocks changed hands in issues here and there during the course of the day, however.

Railroad shares did somewhat better. Better carloading figures counted in their favor, and gains of from a fraction to more than 2 points were scored by Atchison, Norfolk and Western, New York Central, New Haven, Union Pacific, and others.

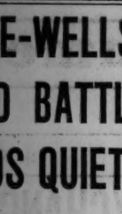
MONROE-WELLS BOND BATTLE ENDS QUIETLY

Independent Committee Disbands.

If you have a defaulted real estate bond and haven't been able to get the desired information regarding it from the bondholders' protective committee or from other sources, The Tribune may be of assistance to you. Write to "The Tribune Real Estate Bond Service, Chicago Tribune." Don't ask for information regarding more than one issued at a time. Give name of underwriter and full title of the bond. Inquiries must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

By AL CHASE.

An armistice between the rival committees, each representing certain bondholders of the Monroe and Wells Building corporation, has been agreed upon, it was announced last night by Edgar N. Greenebaum, vice president of the Greenebaum Sons Investment company. The results of these peace negotiations, according to Mr. Greenebaum, will be the withdrawal from the firing line of the independent committee and the exclusive handling of the reorganization of the property by the regular committee headed by Abel Davis, chairman of the Chicago Title and Trust company.



EDGAR N. GREENEBAUM. [Wallinger Photo.]

In a letter signed by M. Marvin Meyer, chairman, and David S. Cohn, secretary, of the Monroe Wells Building bondholders' committee, and just mailed to the bondholders, the statement is made that the independent committee, after a thorough investigation of the situation, came to the conclusion that the interests of the bondholders will be best served by having one committee and only one committee to represent them.

Unable to Reorganize.

"We have not been able to effect a reorganization which would satisfactorily protect the interests of the bondholders and it is our judgment that the pending foreclosure proceedings must be continued," Mr. Meyer states.

"We have conferred with the representatives of the bondholders' committees, consisting of Abel Davis, B. M. Winston, Murray Wolbach, Howard A. Loeb, Joseph E. Otis, John P. Oleson and M. E. Greenebaum, and are satisfied that the committee is composed of reputable business men who are working conscientiously for the interests of the bondholders.

Committee Is Disbanding.

"We feel that to have the bondholders represented by an additional committee would only cause unnecessary expense and are therefore notifying you that this committee, in the belief that it is for the best interests of all bondholders, is disbanding."

Mr. Meyer advises all bondholders to coöperate with the regular committee and to deposit their bonds with the Chicago Title and Trust company, depositary of that committee.

The property against which the original $350,000 6 per cent Greenebaum bond issue was issued is at the southwest corner of Wells and Monroe. It is a seven story structure owned by the Monroe and Wells Building corporation, the principal stockholders of which are Samuel, William J. and Morris A. Pancoe.

REALTY NOTES

A. J. Berger has purchased from Helen Valerius and Paul K. Valerius the two story residence, 50x150, at 4246 North Hermitage avenue, through the E. E. Stults Realty company.

Harry Peaker has leased the 25x140 store at 9121 Commercial avenue from Mrs. Clara W. Greenwald for five years at a reported term rental of $20,200. It will be used for a meat market. Nicholas Yakitch of Johnson & Turnquist was the only broker.

Last month Henry E. Green, a partner of Paul H. Davis & Co., La Salle street broker, purchased the residence at 156 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, from Bruce Williams. Yesterday the house was sold by Mr. Green to Allan D. and Katherine E. Cunningham for a. indicated $75,000, subject to an incumbrance of $23,125. Mr. Cunningham is treasurer of the John T. Cunningham Ice Cream company. A. F. S. Siebel was attorney.

"The value of these holdings to Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has little relation to market prices and their real value to the operating company will be enhanced year by year without regard to whether market prices are high or low.

Here Are Holdings.

"The holdings of the Public Service Subsidiary corporation as of Dec. 31, 1931, were as follows:

"UTILITY COMPANY INVESTMENTS, $15,298,610, or 39.5 per cent of the total. This includes ownership in companies with which, or with subsidiaries of which, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has electricity or gas supply relations, and are permanent investments which tend to insure the general plan of power and gas supply over the area served. These companies are Western United corporation, Midland United company, North American Light and Power company, McHenry County Light and Power company, and Calumet City Public Service company.

"COAL INTERESTS, $271,632, or seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the total. The Public Service company has protected its fuel supply for years to come through ownership of the subsidiary in the Peabody Coal company.

Real Estate.

"REAL ESTATE, $3,881,818, or 10 per cent of the total. This includes the interests of the subsidiary in the north half of the block of Chicago loop property bounded by Dearborn and Clark streets, east and west, and Monroe street on the north, on which stand the Chicago Trust, Westminster and other buildings; properties in Waukegan, Ill., necessary for future expansion and other real estate held for the benefit of the Public Service company.

"TRANSPORTATION, $4,967,594, or 12.8 per cent of the total. This represents in the main investment in the two electric transportation companies, Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad company and Chicago, Aurora and Elgin corporation, which have aided in developing the industrial and residential areas in the Public Service company's territory to the north and west of Chicago.

"PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY STOCK, $5,029,285, or 13 per cent of the total.

More Investments.

"STEAM ELECTRIC GENERATING COMPANY INVESTMENTS, $5,494,020, or 14.2 per cent of the total. This includes a 30 per cent ownership and a 25 per cent ownership, respectively, in two companies having large, efficient and favorably located generating stations with which Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has contracts with supply contracts and which feed power into the great pool of power in northern Illinois. These companies are: Chicago District Electric Generating company, with a station on Lake Michigan at the Illinois-Indiana state line, and Super-Power Company of Illinois, with a station on the Illinois river near Pekin.

"WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT, $925,000, or 2.4 per cent of the total. This represents investment in the Illinois Light and power company, which has for some time been developing water power rights on the Kankakee river.

"MISCELLANEOUS INVESTMENTS, $2,887,542, or 7.4 per cent of the total. This represents numerous investments undertaken for the benefit of Public Service company, including investments in Utility Securities company, which handles the sale of Public Service company capital stock on the customer ownership plan."

RECEIVERSHIP ASKED FOR INSULL UTILITY INVESTMENTS, INC.

Appointment of a receiver for Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the dissolution of the trust is asked in a bill filed yesterday in the Circuit court in behalf of Mrs. Helen Samuels, 7539 Phillips avenue, an owner of four of the firm's $1,000 debenture notes. The bill, alleging insolvency, was filed by Attorneys Edmund P. Kelly and Leo S. Samuels. The latter has the same address as Mrs. Samuels.

The company is an investment trust organized in 1929 by the Insull interests to hold stocks in the various utility properties controlled by the group. Samuel Insull, chairman of the board, was out of the city yesterday. Other officials of the firm stated that they had not been notified of the suit.

The bill alleges that the decline in the company's assets, which consist almost entirely of listed securities, since the end of 1931 has brought the value of the holdings down to $27,000,000. The company lacks funds, the bill says, to pay off obligations of $121,000,000 consisting of bank loans, bonds and other liabilities. All of the assets and holdings of the trust were purchased at the peak of the market at a cost of $232,000,000, it is alleged. The report of the company for 1931, the bill continues, shows that the holdings had declined to $120,000,000 and since that time have depreciated another $90,000,000.

"All of the stocks held as assets," the bill states, "were issued by corporations owned or controlled in whole or in part by officers, officials or stockholders of the defendant corporation. Purchase of the stock was dictated in whole or in part by the officers of the affiliated corporations with the intent and design to manipulate the sale and distribution of the capital stocks of the affiliated corporations."

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 17,000; sheep, 14,000.

The hog market yesterday was another lifeless affair which drifted along on a mostly 10@15c lower price basis all day. Pigs and also extremely heavy hogs in some instances were purchased at a 20c decline late. The fresh price cuts brought the general market to within 25c of the 32½ year low established Feb. 8. Both the extreme top and average price at $4.35 and $4.00, respectively, were only 25c away from the low marks on that day. Unfavorable reports from the wholesale trade added to the weakness.

The attitude of outside buyers reflects conditions at eastern points. Shippers had orders for only five carloads, the smallest shipments on record, barring Saturdays. Some smaller houses were more aggressive on the strength of a report that a cold wave is due, but others remained practically out of the market, pending developments in the wholesale trade which seems unable to recover from the effects of the Lenten season.

Larger houses followed the market along, but limited their purchases to less than 5,000 head. About 7,000 were still in the pens at the close. Five of the western markets report only 46,000 head in sight for today, against 60,100 last Thursday, with the decrease at Chicago and St. Louis. Points farther west show increases.

Hog Futures Decline.

Hog futures attracted little attention yesterday and most offers and bids were weak to lower. May mediums were offered 15c lower at $5.00. Buyers and sellers were far apart in their views. September contracts were bid $5.00 and offered at $6.00. May light were offered at $5.25 and bid $4.50.

Demand for cattle improved yesterday when only 8,000 head arrived, against 12,584 the previous Wednesday and the market perked up a little. Slight gains were registered in best grades of shipping cattle on early rounds, and better action on local account late kept the trade from losing the early strength.

Best Steers Bring $8.00.

Houses with eastern orders followed several loads of the best steers up to $8.00. Forty-three long yearlings averaging 1,105 lbs went to Swift for shipment at $8.10. Prime 1,403 lb averages to the same buyer reached $8.00. Only a small share of total receipts are of the class selling at top quotations. The bulk changed hands at $5.25@7.25.

Fewer cattle had to sell below $5.00, although occasional lots of ill bred steers with a small "kill" sold at $3.50@4.00. Butcher stock was slow and weak most of the day. Not many cows were good enough to sell above $4.00, with the bulk at $3.00@3.75. Although a load of outstanding heifers averaging 1,188 lbs reached $6.00, most sales were made at $4.25@5.00. Best yearlings were quoted at $6.50@6.75. Most calves were sold steady.

Lambs Lose Gains.

Lambs lost ground yesterday when wholesale prices came down 50c and supplies of live lambs increased. Losses of 25@40c were recorded during the day. Only a scattering of top kinds to smaller interests were disposed of at steady prices at the start. The trade on the bulk of offerings remained in a deadlock until near the close, when practically all good grades went over the scale around $7.00. Sales on eastern account were reported at $7.15@7.25, against a peak of $7.40 the previous day. Scattered sales of spring lambs were made at steady prices, the best going at $8.50. Aged sheep and yearlings remained unchanged.

Chase National Extends Denver & Rio Grande Loan

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The Chase National bank of New York, it was learned today, has renewed its $1,500,000 loan to the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad to Oct. 1 from April 1, the maturity date. The loan was made in connection with the road's purchase of Denver and Salt Lake railway stock.

A total of $2,550,000 short term bank loans of the Erie railroad, which fell due Feb. 29, have been extended to May 29, while a total of $2,050,000 in short-term loans to the road, which fell due March 29, are understood to have been extended to May 29.

Commonwealth Customers—Pay LESS-for-LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signatures of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

NO FEES. You get full amount of the loan and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.
